RANSOM PAID, BREWERY HEAD STILL MISSING

Contact With Kidnapers Fails to Get Release of William Hamm.

St. Paul, Minn., June 18 (A.P.).—The ransom demanded for the release of William Hamm, jr., millionaire president of the Theodore Hamm Brewing Co., was reported paid, but Hamm was still missing tonight, supposedly in the hands of his kidnapers.

Each waning hour gave rise to apprehension and dispelled the confidence manifest by friends and relatives that he would be freed speedily. Apparently the abductors were waiting for the coast to be cleared entirely of police.

The amount reported paid was not disclosed, although H. J. Charles, attorney for the company, said:

"I believe the entire amount agreed upon has been paid, but not the $100,000."

Ransom Scaled Down.

The figure he named was the ransom originally asked. It was understood that during negotiations the kidnapers scaled down their demands.

Charles refused to elaborate his statement, but from authentic sources it was learned that a brewing truck, driven by one man, made a secret trip last night to turn the money over to the abductors.

An underworld whisper was that the money was paid at or near Anoka, Minn., about 30 miles from here, after a decoy truck had lured would-be followers off the trail.

Next Move Awaited.

Charles announced no further conferences would be held by the negotiators. He indicated there was nothing left to do but await the next move of the kidnapers who seized Hamm last Thursday noon as he walked toward his nearby home for lunch, then dispatched two notes and communicated with Charles and W. W. Dunn, an official of the brewery, several times by telephone before the ransom agreed upon was paid.

The first note, typewritten, was addressed to Dunn and delivered to him by a taxicab driver who later identified a picture of Verne Sankey, wanted for questioning in connection with the Denver kidnaping of Charles Boettcher 2d, and Haskell Bohn, here, both members of wealthy families, as the man who gave him $2 to deliver the missive.

Note Threatened Death.

The note threatened death for Hamm unless $100,000 was paid, and advised Dunn to await final instructions in his office Friday.

A terse two lines, also typewritten, at the bottom of the page, authorized payment of the amount stipulated and ordered the instructions to be carried out. Under those lines was the signature of Hamm.

Another note was left with a St Paul druggist Friday night but its contents have been carefully kept secret. Then followed several telephone calls to Charles and Dunn Saturday, culminating in direct contact being established with the kidnapers by the unidentified truck driver carrying the ransom money.

Most of the near kin of Hamm, jr., who shared in the $4,000,000 estate upon his father's death, were gathered today at the home, awaiting word from the missing man.

Police remained in the background at the family's request.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Walter F. George (Democrat), Georgia, yesterday was taken to the Naval Hospital here under doctor's orders for a complete rest because of what was diagnosed as a rundown physical condition brought about by the severe strain of the closing weeks of Congress. Mrs. George was notified and was expected to reach Washington soon from their home in Georgia.

The senator's physician, Dr. Sterling Ruffin, told Mrs. Gladstone Williams, Mr. George's secretary, that the patient's condition was not serious but was sufficiently critical to require that he have complete rest.

Mr. George is resting at the Naval Hospital under the care of his physician, who did not say how long it might be necessary for him to remain there.

4 Foreign Legionnaires Held in Tribesmen Plot

Casablanca, Morocco, June 18 (U.P.). Four members of the French Foreign Legion, two of them German and two French, and three native troopers were arrested today, charged with supplying munitions to dissident tribesmen.

"Skipper" Roosevelt Outrides Storm

President Directs Boat in Atlantic Squall to Safe Harbor.

Edgartown, Mass., June 18 (A.P.).—President Roosevelt beat out a glowering Atlantic storm today, and raced into the shelter of the harbor here for his first night at sea. A lashing northwest wind of 25 miles an hour accompanied by rain and signs of a real squall caused "Skipper" Roosevelt to seek this quiet haven on the Island of Martha's Vineyard, late in the afternoon after a rough trip from Woods Hole, Mass., his stop at noon.

The Amberjack, II, his 45-foot schooner, tossed like a floating cork in snarling waters off the Massachusetts coast. The President and his crew of five intimates donned oilskins over their white outing clothes as the rain beat down. But it was all in a day's work for America's sailor President. He was tired but smiling tonight in this sheltered cove after the two-hour battle with the elements.

Outside this quiet village beyond the reefs lay two watchful naval destroyers that trailed Mr. Roosevelt through the storm to this island with vigilant care. They were ever close behind him.

Tonight, the President flew a white flag atop the mainmast, which was encircled with wreaths of smoke from the fire that cooked some bass for the Presidential supper.

Veteran seamen who commanded the ships that trailed Mr. Roosevelt testified he used good judgment in beating out the storm. The mainsail was hauled down on account of the driving wind. The President came in under full foresail and forestaysail.

The first day of vacation brought every element of weather and freedom. Starting out in the morning at 8:40 o'clock, daylight time, Mr. Roosevelt guided the trim Amberjack II sharply across the choppy waters of Buzzards Bay to Woods Hole, where he remained in harbor for a couple of hours and received W. Cameron Forbes, former Governor General of the Philippines.

Shortly after the departure from Woods Hole into Vineyard Sound the rain began, and soon there was every sign of trouble. The waters were churned into white-crested waves. The Amberjack every now and then looked as if she would turn over, so far did she lean to one side under the lashing winds.

Plans for going to Nantucket Island, just off the elbow of Cape Cod, were abandoned in the face of the storm.

KANSAS CITY KILLERS HUNTED IN 6 STATES

Hundreds of Officers After Machine Gun Slayers of Five Men.

Kansas City, June 18 (A.P.).—A relentless search for the machine gun killers of four peace officers and an escaped convict here yesterday spread to a half dozen States tonight, although Federal and local officers had but meager clews on which to work.

The trail left by the slayers from the scene of the killing, the Union Station Plaza, was soon lost, and even the path taken by them has remained a subject of dispute. However, agents of the United States Bureau of Investigation and hundreds of other officers were piecing bits of evidence together in hopes of bringing about their arrest.

Dropped by the machine gun fire were Raymond J. Caffrey, special agent of the Bureau of Investigation; Otto Reed, McAlester, Okla., chief of police; Frank Hermanson and W. J. Grooms, Kansas City detectives, and Frank Nash, notorious Oklahoma train robber and killer.

Nash was being returned to the Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kans., from which he escaped three years ago.

Officers were divided in theories as to whether the killing was staged in an effort to free Nash or "rub him out."

However, Thomas J. Higgins, chief of Kansas City detectives, said today

Teased by Family, Boy Kills Himself

Greenfield, Ohio, June 18 (A.P.).—Teased by his brothers and sisters, 13-year-old Charles Arnott, killed himself at his home here today.

Members of the family told authorities that the boy, one of a family of thirteen children of Mr. and Mrs. John Arnott, had taken some money from his mother's purse to spend at a street fair. She ordered him to return it and the other children taunted him.

The boy, they said, went upstairs to his room. Then they heard a shot and found Charles lying there, a 22-caliber rifle beside him. A coroner's inquest was being arranged tonight.

Indiana Bank Holdup Blamed on Black Cat

Logansport, Ind., June 18 (U.P.).—Police officers who captured Ira Seabold at Kokomo today and brought him here said he told them he helped hold up the Yeoman State Bank, June 7, because a black cat ran in front of him, June 6, and he figured he "might as well have a thrill" since he was "going to have some bad luck anyway."

Officers also arrested Carl Phillips, 17, and August Hensley, 19, both also accused of participating in the bank robbery. The Yeoman bank, near here, was robbed of $680, in the holdup.

British Plan Expedition To Measure Polar Ice

London, June 18 (U.P.).—An arctic expedition organized by Oxford and Cambridge Universities, is scheduled to depart June 27, to determine the depths of polar ice, it was announced today.

Changes in the world's climate greatly depend on the polar ice, the scientists said. The expedition will precede only by a few days the departure of the Lincoln Ellsworth expedition to the Antarctic.

9 ADDED IDLE DAYS ORDERED IN POSTOFFICE

Plan to Save $9,500,000 in 3 Months Excludes Department Here.

(Associated Press.)

The imposition of nine-day payless furloughs upon postal service employes, a move designed to save $9,500,000, was announced yesterday by the Postoffice Department. The furloughs will fall within the next three months.

An order by Postmaster General Farley to that effect was signed by President Roosevelt Friday.

Every postoffice employe, the department said, would be called upon to share in the cut in one form or another. Rural carriers who can not be furloughed are to have their equipment maintenance allowance reduced instead for the three-month period from 4 to 1.176 cents per mile a day. The period will be from July 1 to September 30.

Mr. Farley said the cuts were necessary to balance the department's budget for the fiscal year 1934.

Business Now Improving.

"Whether the furloughs and the reduced allowances for rural carriers will be continued beyond September 30," he said, "will depend very largely upon the future trend of postoffice business. Mail volume is now picking up.

"The postal revenues are increasing and it is the department's hope that by the end of September business conditions throughout the country will have so improved as again to require a full complement of postal employes to handle the work, and, of course, eliminate the necessity for a continuation of the furloughs. If conditions do not justify abandoning the furlough altogether, we certainly expect that we can at least reduce it somewhat after the September quarter."

Departmental employes in Washington were not included in the order but the Secretary said they would be covered in a later regulation after the President had obtained a uniform plan of action for all the Executive Departments.

Dismissals Are Eliminated.

"We lose about 5,000 employes a year in the postal service by normal separations," Mr. Farley said. "Our policy in the postoffice will be, as far as we possibly can, to retain all efficient employes on the pay roll until our surplus personnel has been eliminated by these normal separations, or until volume picks up, meantime, making the saving de-

Theater Stampede Hurts 6 Children

New York, June 18 (A.P.).—Six children were trampled and slightly injured today in a frantic attempt by nearly 1,000 persons to leave a Brooklyn motion picture theater after someone cried fire.

The rush for exits followed upon the blowing out of a fuse, with a puff of smoke. Attendants and police assured the audience there was no fire, but the jam at the doors could not be broken.

The children were treated by ambulance surgeons and taken to their homes.

National Woman's Party Will Stage Rally Here

2 KIDNAP SUSPECTS NABBED IN VIRGINIA

McGee Allegedly Admits Part in Abducting Kansas City Chief's Daughter.

Roanoke, Va., June 18 (A.P.).—George McGee, 21, alias George L. Jackson, who police said admitted he was wanted by Kansas City authorities as a participant in the kidnaping of Miss Mary McElroy, daughter of the city manager of that city, was in custody here today.

Meanwhile, Lynchburg police held Howard Elmer Wilson, 22, of Meriden, Kans., for questioning in the same case.

Roanoke police arrested McGee yesterday on charges of drunkenness and carrying a concealed weapon. He said then his name was Jackson, but later, police said, admitted his identity, which they said had been established through a circular received from Kansas City authorities.

Lynchburg police said McGee and Wilson came to Lynchburg about two weeks ago, but McGee left for Roanoke yesterday, leaving Wilson behind. When arrested, police said, Wilson had two submachine guns, five pistols and two bullet-proof vests in his possession.

Although Wilson had not been connected with the McElroy kidnaping, police said they were told Kansas City authorities would seek his extradition.

McGee, when arrested, had in his possession an automobile bearing Kansas license plates. Police took from him $130 in travelers' checks, a $100 bill and three notes of smaller denominations. They said they were attempting to learn if the larger bill

Spanish Heir Sets Wedding in 2 Days

Lausanne, Switzerland, June 18 (A.P.).—The former Prince of Asturias, who renounced his rights as heir to the Spanish throne, and the Cuban beauty, Edelmira Sampedro, will be married in a civil ceremony tomorrow or Tuesday and the church wedding will take place Wednesday in Ouchy, Switzerland.

Until these plans were completed today the marriage had been tentatively set for Friday in Lausanne.

Both the civil and church ceremonies will be public. High Spanish society will attend, but not the royal family, it seems, since the former prince received a letter from the queen detailing complications and expressing disapproval of his marriage to a commoner. This was contrary to previous reports which said the queen was happy about it all despite the opposition of the exiled King Alfonso.

Autoist Dies Warding Off Hitchhiker's Theft Effort

Indianian Killed, Wife and Her Sister Hurt as He Loses Control of Car and Hits Pole; Young Gunman Hunted.

Indianapolis, June 18 (A.P.).—George O. Hughes, 45, Lafayette, Ind., bakery employe, died in a hospital here today a few hours after his automobile struck a utility pole while he fought off a hitchhiker attempting to rob him.

The hitchhiker, leaving his coat and revolver in the car, fled through a field. Hughes' wife, Elizabeth, 35, and his sister-in-law, Miss Anna Steill, 35, also of Lafayette, who were in the machine, were cut and bruised. Whether the gunman was injured was not determined.

Police sought the youth, using a description given them by Hughes before he died. The hitchhiker had asked Hughes to permit him to ride as far as Lebanon, where he said he had obtained a job.

Huges moved to Lafayette twelve years ago from Lima, Ohio.

CIVIL SERVICE PLANS REVIEW OF REMOVALS

Investigations of Unjust Dismissals to Protect Federal Workers.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

Civil Service employes unjustly removed from their jobs have the right to a full investigation of the facts by the Civil Service Commission, and a statement, if cleared, certifying them as eligible for reinstatement.

A decision to this effect has been rendered by the Civil Service Commission and will be placed into immediate operation, it was learned last night.

While not assuring immediate reemployment of those unfairly dealt with, the new policy will arm employes wrongfully discriminated against with a clear record, and a letter certifying eligibility that could be accepted in any department operating under Civil Service.

Similar to Sirovich Plan.

Worked out under the administration of Harry B. Mitchell, who succeeded Thomas E. Campbell as president of the commission, the new policy marks a distinct change from the old method of dealing with a similar situation.

In effect, it offers unjustly dismissed employes something of the same measure of protection afforded by the Sirovich Federal liaison officer and board of appeal plan, which passed the Senate during the special session, although members of the commission make no such claim for it.

The Attorney General has ruled that the Civil Service Commission has no power to review departmental cases, and it will be pointed out that the new procedure is in no sense a review of departmental action.

Inquiry Plan Changed.

The commission merely will look into the facts at an employe's request, then give him a letter stating whether or not in their opinion he is eligible for reinstatement. The employe in requesting such an inquiry must show proof that he has been unjustly dealt with or is being unjustly dealt with.

In the past there have been numerous cases where an employe was relieved from duty under conditions not quite fair to him.

When such an employe went to the commission under the old policy, he

Sweetheart Gets Prisoner Pardon

Salt Lake City, June 18 (A.P.).—Doors of the State prison were opened to Harold P. Grover today when the State Board of Pardons heeded a plea of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Emma Grover, of Oregon City, Oreg., that he be released so that he could marry her.

"I want to marry him," she told the board, "you will give me my happiness back for he can take his brother's place."

She explained that since Grover had been imprisoned 2½ years ago for burglary, his brother had died. Grover and his sweetheart plan to wed immediately.

Gang Vengeance Is Seen In Racket SuspectKilling

Akron, Ohio, June 18 (A.P.).—Harry Matteson, 50, characterized by police as a "society bootlegger" and a "policy racket operator," was shot and killed tonight in the front yard of his home in fashionable Fairlawn Heights.

He was the victim, authorities said, of "gang vengeance." No witnesses to the slaying were found, but detectives searched for a small sedan from which they believed the shotgun charges which took Matteson's lift were fired. Four men were seen in the car, neighbors told police.

Stabilization Accord Near; Rising Prices Will Be Safeguarded

U. S. Delegates' Scope Limited to Protect Upward Trend.

Outcome in Hands of Roosevelt, Who Is Receptive.

(Associated Press.)

Any agreement for temporary control of currency fluctuations which America's spokesmen at London now have in mind will, in the opinion of informed circles here, rigorously avoid any commitments which would tend to paralyze the present upward trend in domestic commodity prices.

In approaching the delicate subject of stabilization, the delegates to the world economic conference now are acting under definite instructions from Washington, described authoritatively last night as explicitly limiting the scope of their activities in this direction.

In the light of a statement made only Saturday by the Treasury that no immediate agreement was to be expected, London dispatches declaring that such an accord might be looked for within a week or so came as a surprise to Washington.

Would Safeguard Prices.

The advance in prices has a place at the very center of Mr. Roosevelt's domestic recovery program. With the indices advancing almost daily, administration advisors believe the program is off to an auspicious start and will permit nothing to interrupt it.

It is for the purpose of permitting prices to reach a higher level, understood to be the 1926 average, that Mr. Roosevelt until now has consistently declined to enter into any agreement for stabilization of currencies, either on a temporary or a permanent basis.

Nevertheless, he is convinced that currencies must be stabilized and when the surrounding circumstances are considered suitable, America is ready to join in an agreement to bring that accomplishment about.

Rejection Wrongly Interpreted.

In any event, the delegation at London is under rigid instructions to agree to no stabilization proposal whether of a temporary or permanent nature without consulting President Roosevelt and his advisors here. The ultimate decision will be made here.

President Roosevelt's rejection of a proposal for international action to control foreign exchange fluctuations during the course of the present delicate negotiations was said, however, to have been wrongly interpreted in some quarters abroad as barring hope of an eventual American-European monetary agreement.

To make the matter clear, it was explained that two factors in par-

Pittman Denies Internal Dissent Over Tariff Cuts

London, June 18 (A.P.).—The apparent rift within the American delegation to the world economic conference over the proposal for a general 10 per cent reduction on all tariffs yesterday was described as "a tempest in a teapot."

Senator Key Pittman issued a statement explaining that the suggestion was merely part of a list of topics drawn up by American experts to aid in making up the economic commission agenda and did not in any way represent an official delegation proposal as headlines in the London press seemed to indicate.

Agreement Is Seen by French as Matter of Few Days.

Sprague Also Hopeful; Harrison Sails for U. S.

London, June 18 (A.P.).—An agreement for controlled stabilization of principal currencies, satisfactory to the Washington Government, in less than a week was expected tonight in important world economic conference quarters.

The Franco-American rift on this point appeared closing as French experts, who had seemed ruffled yesterday over President Roosevelt's disapproval of the first tentative plan, said late today they felt differences could be composed.

Finance Minister Georges Bonnet, of France, said "negotiations by no means are broken off."

Harrison Sails for Home.

He disclosed that his delegation is drawing up new stabilization proposals. The French were inclined to expect an agreement within three or four days.

Oliver M. W. Sprague, executive assistant to Secretary of the Treasury Woodin, said in response to a query that prospects remained hopeful. Asked if currency control could be made effective in a week's time, he replied it was likely in "less than that."

Gov. George Harrison, of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, slipped away on the steamship Bremen for New York today after a week's talks with Montague Norman, governor of the Bank of England, and Clement Moret, governor of the Bank of France.

Gruelling Work Starts Today.

American delegation quarters understood that technical arrangements between the central banks have been completed to start control at such a time as an agreement is reached by the governments. It was pointed out that Mr. Harrison had no official connection with the American group at the economic parley.

Many statesmen and experts went to the country for the week-end for a rest before the conference plunges into gruelling committee work tomorrow.

Robbers Get Furs Valued at $7,000

Chicago, June 18 (A.P.).—Two youthful robbers today forced Perry Rose, the manager of the A. H. Bieber fur store, into a storage vault and there made him extend his arms to a rack, where they handcuffed him. For nearly an hour Rose stood handcuffed, his toes just touching the floor and the weight of his body practically dangling by his wrists.

David Bieber, brother of the owner, locked in the basement, smashed a window and called police after the pair fled. Detectives had to use a hacksaw to free Rose. Furs, valued at $7,000, were stolen.

Wealthy Grocer's Son Found Beaten to Death

San Antonio, Tex., June 18 (A.P.). Wong Poy, 25, son of a wealthy grocer, was found beaten to death in a blood-spattered company delivery truck about eight miles from the city today. The body was found by L. M. Dunbar. Deputy sheriffs who investigated worked on the theory robbery was the motive of the slaying.

A receipt for a premium on a $10,000 insurance policy and a check on the Chase National Bank of Hongkong for $100 were found in the victim's pockets.

Forest Fire Endangers Many Villas on Riviera

Nice, France, June 18 (U.P.).—Scores of American and British-owned villas along the fashionable Riviera were endangered tonight by a forest fire raging on Mount Gros, 3 miles northeast of Nice.

Firemen sought to prevent the fire from spreading to Mount Boron, nearby, a densely populated section of the Riviera. The blaze tonight was visible for 20 miles.

DATE OF DEBT TALKS TO BE SET THIS WEEK

Only Countries Which Met Last Two Payments to Be Admitted.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

A tentative schedule of debt conversations between the United States and the nations qualified to participate, through payment of their war debt obligations to this country, will be drawn up this week by Assistant Secretary of State Moley and Acting Secretary Phillips. Only those countries will be admitted to the debt revision talks who in part or in full, met their December 15 and June 15 obligations to the United States.

Finland, which was the sole country to meet its entire debt, will have the privilege of opening the bilateral conversations looking to a revision of the Finnish-American debt at the convenience of that government.

The fact that the payments made by the six countries last Thursday totaled a little more than 7 per cent of the total due probably will be made the basis of discussion by the foreign countries in their conversations. The British government debt payment was slightly in excess of 10 per cent and the Italian considerably less than 10 per cent.

The order of precedence will be determined by the State Department officials and by the diplomatic representatives of the six governments here. Finland probably will be the first to be received and then Great Britain, Italy, Roumania, Czecho-

One Dies, 25 Hurt As Plane Crashes

Nancy, France, June 18 (A.P.).—A falling airplane, landing in a crowd and spilling burning gasoline after hitting the roof of a hangar, killed one person and injured 25 others today at a military aviation fete here.

The pilot, named Poiret, was killed. The accident was attributed to his inability to take the plane out of a spin at a low altitude.

Four persons were critically burned, including a small girl.

25 Kentuckians Injured When Truck Turns Over

Corbin, Ky., June 18 (A.P.).—Twenty-five persons were injured, 3 seriously, when a truck carrying 30 men, women and children overturned today at Cumberland Falls, near here.

The seriously injured were Jim Bledsoe, of Laurel County, who suffered internal injuries; Fred Gordon Yaden, internal injuries, and Beulah Bledsoe, 15, daughter of Jim Bledsoe. The other 22 injured received first-aid treatment at a hospital here. Cecil Yaden, driver of the truck, and four passengers escaped injury.

One of Dolly Sisters Near Dath in France

Paris, June 18 (U.P.).—Jenny Dolly, of the famous Dolly Sisters stage team, was near death today, following a serious operation. Attending surgeons said the crisis was expected tonight or tomorrow.

The operation was decided upon following recurrent internal pains, due to injuries suffered in a motor car accident two months ago.

French Peasants Riot In Protest to Tax Sale

Amiens, France, June 18 (A.P.).—Rioting peasants, protesting the sale for taxes of goods belonging to a farmer named Salvaudon at Bonfrey, fought today with gendarmes.

Two civilians and two gendarmes suffered cracked heads.

Chinese Official, Cornell Man, Slain in Shanghai

Shanghai, June 18 (U.P.).—Gunmen today assassinated Yang Chien, secretary of a local research institute and long associated with Mme. Sun Yat-Sen, widow of the first President of China, in the Chinese League of Civil Rights.

He was shot down in front of the research institute's building, on the outskirts of Shanghai. Yang was a graduate of Cornell's engineering college and Harvard University. The League of Civil Rights, headed by Mme. Sun, provides counsel to persons, chiefly those accused of radical activities.

Sailing to See President, Davis Says HeWon't Quit

London, June 18 (A.P.).—Norman H. Davis, who left today for Southampton to sail on the steamship Bremen for the United States, denied emphatically reports that he intended to resign as President Roosevelt's special envoy abroad.

"You can take it from me definitely that I am not resigning," he said. "I am now going back to see the President at Washington or wherever he may be, but that is not the subject we shall talk about."

M'BRIDE FORECASTS BLOCKING OF REPEAL

Head of Antisaloon League Says Drys Can Carry Enough States.

(Associated Press.)

As three additional States prepare to vote on repeal of the eighteenth amendment this week, a formal statement was issued yesterday by F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, forecasting that "the drys can, and should, hold more than the number of States necessary to prevent repeal."

McBride's assertion came almost on the eve of balloting tomorrow in Connecticut, Iowa and New Hampshire following action by 11 States aligning themselves in favor of removing prohibition from the Constitution.

"The small wet vote compared to the total number of voters in States where elections have been held, in spite of the tremendous campaign of the liquor forces," McBride said, "shows chiefly that there is no great change in sentiment in prohibition.

Repeal Defeat Seen.

"Repeal is supported chiefly by the interests that wish to make money out of a legalized liquor traffic, and by wet politicians attempting to 'Tammanyize' the entire country with liquor politics.

"These facts indicate that repeal will be roundly repulsed, if the drys make the best fight possible under the circumstances to get the facts to the people and the dry vote into the ballot box."

Twenty-four hours earlier Jouett Shouse, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, had contended in a statement that there was a possibility of prohibition repeal elections being held during the year in 41 States, and added that if such a situation developed "I confidently predict repeal before the end of 1933."

Analyzes States' Stands.

Yesterday McBride pointed out that of the 11 States that have voted wet, 7—Wisconsin, New Jersey, Rhode Island, New York, Delaware, Illinois and Massachusetts—were wet when national prohibition was adopted.

"Michigan voted wet last November," he added. "Nevada in 1926, and Wyoming in 1932, voted wet in advisory wet referenda on the eighteenth amendment. Indiana was dry by legislation action and had never gone dry in a State-wide vote.

"Accordingly, only one of the 11 States that have voted to date could have been considered dry, while 29 of the 37 States still to vote were under State-wide prohibition when the eighteenth amendment was adopted.

Points to Dry South.

"Up to date, not one of the dry Southern States has voted on the question of repeal. Three States, Georgia, Kansas and North Dakota, have definitely refused to provide for elections. Four States, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi and Virginia, with no legislation sessions until 1934, have failed to take action providing for a vote, and in two States, Colorado and Oklahoma, convention bills have been vetoed by the governor.

"This makes nine States in which the wets have made no definite progress toward repeal, while in two more, South Dakota and Nebraska, elections will not come until November, 1934. So there are 11 States in which there is no chance for a repeal vote this year.

"Therefore, even if the drys should hold only two States in 1933, the contest is certain to go over into 1934. And if, as now seems probable, a vote this year in Ohio is prevented by the filing of a huge referendum petition with more than 300,000 signatures, the drys could lose every election except one and still push the contest to prevent repeal into 1934, when they can win."

Better Preparation Seen.

McBride said the prohibition forces would be better organized in 1934 than "was possible in the short time preceding the elections already held."

The standing of the repeal situation at this time follows:

States which have voted:

Michigan—Ratified repeal April 10—99 to 1—popular vote, 850,546 to 287,931.

Wisconsin—Ratified repeal April 25—15 to 0—popular vote, 643,081 to 141,518.

Rhode Island—Ratified repeal May 8—31 to 0—popular vote, 150,244 to 20,874.

Wyoming—Ratified repeal May 25—64 to 0—delegates chosen at precinct mass meetings and county conventions.

New Jersey—Ratified repeal June 1—202 to 2—popular vote, 578,582 to 90,733.

New York for Repeal.

New York—Elected 150 repeal, 0 antirepeal delegates May 23, to convention June 27; popular vote (unofficial), 1,900,000 to 230,000.

Owner of Beauty Shop Faces Kidnaping Count

Chicago, June 18 (A.P.)—Mrs. Ruth Hartley, 33, beauty shop owner, tomorrow will face charges on a fugitive warrant accusing her of kidnaping her 11-year-old daughter, Mary Catherine, from New Albany, Ind.

Mrs. Hartley was arrested last night. Police said she was divorced from Earl Wiseman, Indianapolis, Ind., and that their two children had been given into the father's custody.

Drys Hold Meetings in 25 Iowa Points as Vote Nears

Connecticut Confident Repeal Will Win; Wets in New Hampshire Inactive as Prohibitionists Make Pleas.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 18 (A.P.)—Prohibitionists climaxed their campaign to keep Iowa in the dry column in Tuesday's repeal election by conducting rallies today at 25 points in the State.

In addition, pastors of many churches urged their congregations to oppose repeal at the polls.

Repealists were inactive with no meetings or addresses scheduled. The final campaign move by the wet groups is planned for tomorrow night when Arthur Wallace, Des Moines attorney, speaks.

Both dry and wet leaders were confident as the campaign neared termination. An estimated vote of 500,000 has been predicted, although the late agricultural season is expected to cut down the farmers' ballots.

Gov. Clyde L. Herring predicted that repeal will carry by a good margin. He has pledged his administration to effective liquor control and advocated adoption of the Quebec plan.

Iowa will select either 99 wet or 99 dry delegates to a convention here July 20. The slates of candidates for delegates will be voted for as a unit.

New Haven, Conn., June 18 (A.P.). Expressing confidence that Connecticut will cling to its tradition of being a "wet" State, repealists bent their efforts today toward rolling up a big vote on Tuesday for the delegates they hope to send to the convention which will record formally the State's attitude on National prohibition repeal.

The citizens against ratification, through the Rev. Fletcher Parker, of Hartford, State chairman, admitted their forces did not expect to win the special election.

Prohibitionists did not abandon their fight entirely, however. From the pulpits of churches went final appeals for new support for the eighteenth amendment, which Connecticut never ratified.

Gov. Wilbur L. Cross, outspoken foe of prohibition, is expected to set the date for the convention soon after Tuesday's election. This gathering will be pledged either for or against ratification of the Twenty-first amendment, which provides for National repeal.

The electorate will choose 15 delegates at large and a delegate from each of the 35 State senatorial districts.

Concord, N. H., June 18 (A.P.)—Last-minute appeals by the friends of prohibition were made today as New Hampshire's voters marked time for Tuesday's election to determine the State's attitude toward the eighteenth amendment. Repealists were inactive.

While no statements were issued by either side regarding the outcome, political observers pointed to the attitude of the leaders as an indication of their feelings in the matter.

New Hampshire, until a year or two ago, had been regarded as a "dry" State. This year, however, the present Legislature has leaned toward repeal. The lawmakers have legalized the sale of 3.2 beer and have passed a bill which would permit the sale of 6 per cent beer and wines in the event the eighteenth amendment is repealed.

The method of election will have ten delegates pledged for repeal and ten pledges against repeal. The delegates elected will be called to the Statehouse by Gov. Winant at a later date to ratify the will of the voters.

STORM DAMAGE BIG AT SAN SEBASTIAN

Hundreds Idle in Area and Millions of Dollars Are Suffered in Loss.

San Sebastian, Spain, June 18 (A.P.)—Stormy weather ceased in this area today leaving in its wake landslides, washouts of bridges and sections of railroad, and damage to a number of towns aggregating at least several million dollars.

Several hundred workers were made idle through damage to machinery in several plants, such as chocolate and soap factories. Crops were greatly damaged throughout the province.

A bank here opened a benefit subscription fund and the employers' and employes' associations were taking measures for assistance to victims. All workers were giving one day's pay to a relief fund.

Tracks on main lines, such as the Northern Railway carrying Paris trains, have been repaired.

PRICE PROTECTION IS ROOSEVELT AIM

ticular stand behind the administration's instructions to American representatives at London that they say no to the proposal.

First, the form in which the plan was presented was unacceptable to the United States, which disagreed upon the methods of control which were contemplated. The voluminous proposal did not suggest that currencies be pegged at any given ratio.

Agrees in Principle.

Mr. Roosevelt's second objection was prompted by a belief that no stabilization action should be taken at this time. He holds that a more extensive knowledge of the relationship of a nation's currency to its domestic price level, involving the question of inflation, should be available before action is taken.

The President is anxious that his domestic recovery program, aimed primarily at an extensive increase in commodity prices, be permitted to function before any effort is made to fix the value of the dollar in terms of the money of other lands.

Stabilization now, he feels, might halt or retard the price increases of recent months.

Nevertheless, Mr. Roosevelt is in hearty agreement with the general principle of action to eliminate the business uncertainties caused by wide fluctuations in foreign exchange quotations, and it was reiterated that when the circumstances are right American agreement upon a plan for accomplishing this can be expected. It was considered probable that the American delegation would advance a plan of its own when Mr. Roosevelt considers that the right time has arrived.

"Imaginary Coin" Favored.

Many methods of stabilization have been suggested, but which of these is favored by the administration has not been divulged. It is known, however, that Mr. Roosevelt has given attention to a proposal that an "imaginary, unminted coin" representing a fixed weight of gold of a definite fineness be made the basis of action.

Under this proposal, the dollar would be stabilized, not in terms of pounds or francs but in terms of the unminted coin. The value of the latter would be constant, proponents of the plan say, and would thus leave only one variable factor to be contended with.

As things now stand an American business man making a contract with a British citizen involving payment at some later date has no means of knowing just how much money the obligation will involve when it falls due. His only protection is to hedge by short sales in the foreign exchange market, an involved process for which the necessary capital in these days is frequently unavailable.

Report Shows Robbers Got $50 in Apartment

John D. Buchanan, of 3635 Sixteenth street northwest, last night reported to the police that some one forced entrance to his apartment and escaped with $50 in cash, after ransacking the place.

FIRST LADY FINDS CAMP TOO STRICT

Mrs. Roosevelt Disappointed Because Only 30 Girls Visit Lake Tiorati.

Bear Mountain, N. Y., June 18 (A.P.)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt took luncheon with 30 unemployed girls at the State relief camp on Lake Tiorati today, and spent about four hours inspecting the place.

Expressing disappointment at finding only 30 girls at the camp, which has accommodations for 200, Mrs. Roosevelt remarked:

"I like this place very much, but I think the requirements are too strict."

She did not elaborate, but authorities have said they planned to recruit girls for the camp in small groups.

The luncheon, served in the main dining pavilion, consisted of roast lamb, beets, peas, potatoes, strawberry cake, tea and coffee.

Mrs. Roosevelt drove to the camp from her home at Hyde Park with a friend, Miss Nancy Cook. She was shown about the place by Maj. William A. Welch, chief engineer and general manager of the Palisades interstate park system. Later she returned to Hyde Park.

No Compromise Is Stand Of Quezon in Liberty Bill

Manila, P. I., June 18 (A.P.)—Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate and opponent of the Hawes-Cutting independence measure, passed at the last session of Congress, said in a speech here today that he would accept no compromise on the measure. The Hawes-Cutting act contains several provisions deemed objectionable by some Filipinos.

Senor Quezon said a convention and not the insular Legislature should have the final vote on acceptance or rejection of the American offer of independence, although he asserted a majority in both houses was for rejection.

Robinson Planning Indiana Campaign

Indianapolis, June 18 (A.P.)—Returning to his home State, Senator Arthur R. Robinson, the only Republican representing Indiana, has mapped out a campaign for renomination and reelection to the Senate in the 1934 election.

The Senator said he will continue, in speeches throughout the State his attacks on parts of the Roosevelt administration program approved by Congress.

The economy act, giving the President power to reduce veterans' compensation, Robinson termed "cruel, unfair and utterly indefensible." He said he regarded it as a plot of international bankers and the rich to "balance the budget with the nickels of the poor."

Premier Authorizes Spanish Airmen's Tour

Madrid, June 18 (A.P.)—The newspaper ABC said today Premier Manuel Azana has authorized a flight from Mexico City to Chicago by the Spanish transatlantic fliers, Capt. Mariano Barberan and Lieut. Joaquin Collar.

The aviators are expected to hop off from Havana early this week for Mexico City to complete the Spain-Cuba-Mexico air journey, financed by the Spanish government. The Chicago Tribune offered to defray the expenses for a continuation of the flight to the Chicago world's fair.

Police Warn Bicyclists To Guard Against Theft

Oklahoma City, June 18 (A.P.)—Fearing an epidemic of bicycle thievery will follow the pedaling rage, police issued a warning to cyclists, old and young, to be careful about parking their vehicles.

Something like the motor car thief who switches licenses, the bike snatcher exchanges parts of his loot to avoid detection, said Police Sergt. Earl F. Cunnyngham.

COMMITTEES AIM TO REOPEN BANKS

Plan Resumption at Once in Effort to Get Government to Pay Deposits.

New York, June 18 (A.P.)—Joint action by the committee for the Nation and the National Depositors Committee for a countrywide extension of efforts to reopen closed banks was announced today.

Vincent Bendix will represent the committee for the Nation and Frank H. Schrenk, Philadelphia banker, the National Depositors Committee.

"It should be emphasized that neither of the two organizations is in favor of opening unsound banks," said Bendix and Schrenk in a statement. "But both recognize that bank deposits constitute the Nation's important medium of exchange, and that restoration of prosperity is dependent largely upon releasing the purchasing power which remains paralyzed in some 5,000 closed banks with deposits approximating five billion dollars. * * *

Five Billions Frozen

"Five billions in deposits, spread among approximately twenty million depositors, if released and expanded by normal operation of credit, will represent a tremendous addition to the purchasing power of the Nation.

"One immediate effect of this will be a rebuilding of the assets now frozen which are back of the deposits. For that reason, it is the contention of both the committee for the Nation and the National Depositors Committee that we must have a reversal of the policy heretofore followed by the R. F. C., the Federal Reserve and the United States Treasury, which has been to treat these assets on the basis of their current market value."

The depositors' committee, the statement said, has drawn up an 11-point program to be presented to President Roosevelt by a committee headed by A. Mitchell Palmer, former Attorney General, asking for a 100 per cent reopening of banks operating under restrictions and for payment of a substantial amount—estimated at 60 per cent—to depositors in banks closed before the holiday.

Government Aid Sought.

"The method proposed," the statement continued, "is for the Government, through any one of several agencies now qualified, to take over all the assets of the closed banks, and to make immediate payment to the depositors of the amount determined. Any assets remaining in any bank may then be disposed of to another banking institution, if a satisfactory bid can be obtained, or liquidated over a period of years by the Government agency. * * *

"The program of the National Depositors Committee calls for the formation of member committees in each of the 12 Federal Reserve Districts. Organization of these committees is already well under way. Mass meetings are being held and planned throughout the country in order that depositors may present a united front and a concrete program when their case is laid before the President."

manded by the general economy program by furloughs and not by outright dismissals."

Those to whom the order applies are:

Postmasters of the first, second, and third classes; Assistant postmasters, supervisory employes, clerks, messengers, watchmen, laborers, and classified janitors and cleaners, at offices of the first and second classes; letter carriers in the city and village delivery services; employes in the motor vehicle service; officers and employes in the Railway Mail Service, excepting that the furlough of railway postal clerks shall be 7½ working days; inspectors and clerks in the Postoffice Inspection Service; sea post clerks, field employes in the air mail service, and employes in the Government-operated star-route service.

CIVIL SERVICE PLAN TO SAVE WORKERS

was told the Civil Service Commission was not in a position to state whether or not it would authorize his reinstatement.

Only on the request of a department interested in retaining the employe, was an investigation made of his dismissal, and departmental requests for reinstatement were rare.

May Clear Records.

When a worker with a cloud over his record went to another department in quest of a Civil Service job, a phone call to the bureau in which he formerly served usually was sufficient to deny him the job. As the plan worked out, a bureau executive usually was chary of requesting the Civil Service Commission for an investigation where a question was involved.

Even though the new policy does not guarantee an unfairly discharged worker that he will get another Government place, it nevertheless clears the path to a job by removing whatever suspicion attached to him because of his previous dismissal.

A distinct concession to the Government worker, whose path has not been a bowered one in recent years, the new policy shows a liberal tendency on the part of the new Civil Service administration gratifying to the mass of classified workers.

Plan Finally Adopted.

For years the commission has recommended the establishment by Congress of a board of appeals within the Civil Service Commission to deal with the employes' grievances.

Congress has just as consistently refused to sanction it. The plan came nearer to realization than at any time during the session just ended, when Representative William I. Sirovich (Democrat), New York, and Senator Burton K. Wheeler (Democrat), Montana, advanced it to Senate passage. Without explanation, the proposal was stricken out of the recovery act while in conference with the House.

While the new policy is a far cry from the Sirovich plan, it probably goes as far as the Civil Service Commission has a right to under the law in adjusting a legitimate complaint of unfair dismissal.

Watermelon

All That Was Taken, Bursts at Policemen's Feet as Thief Drops Loot.

Watermelon season must be here.

When four police cars last night answered a burglar alarm at a Sanitary Grocery store, 2329 Pennsylvania avenue southeast, they caught a hurried glimpse of a fleeing figure. As they started in pursuit, a huge watermelon, hurled by the escaping man, burst at their feet.

Fearing that perhaps other melons in the store might meet a similar fate, the policemen summoned Homer L. Donovan, manager, who opened his establishment for inspection. Sure enough, the melon stock was all that had been touched by the intruder, who made a getaway.

SECOND VICTIM DEAD AFTER GUN BATTLE

Patrolman Dies of Wounds Received When Suspects Fired on Police.

Lafayette, Ind., June 18 (A.P.)—Patrolman J. Wesley Wilson, 42, died in a hospital today, second victim of a spectacular gun battle between police and two suspected robbers Friday.

James Richardson, 33, formerly of Nashville, Tenn., one of the two suspects shot down by a bystander who grabbed Wilson's submachine gun after the policeman was wounded, died Saturday.

Paul Klinker, 30, patrolman with bullet wounds in the lung and pelvis, remained in critical condition today.

A third patrolman, James McDonald, and Richardson's companion, Frank Byrd, 29, were reported to be recovering from their wounds.

The gun battle started when police sought to question Byrd and Richardson in a downtown office building. It ended when Harry Huston, sanitarium employe shot the suspects with Wilson's gun.

Relatives of James Richardson were reported to be en route to Lafayette today from Nashville to claim his body. In the meantime police received telegrams from several cities seeking to link the men with hold-ups and robberies.

Wilson had been a member of the Lafayette police force since 1929.

He came here from New Albany, where he had been a member of the fire department.

was one of those included in the $30,000 ransom paid for Miss McElroy's release.

McGee's arrest came when Patrolman J. E. Robertson found him having difficulty with his automobile. As the officer approached, McGee was said to have pulled a pistol from his pocket, but he was disarmed by the officer.

The policeman said McGee offered him $100 for his release.

Kansas City, June 18 (A.P.)—E. C. Reppert, director of police, announced today that George McGee, charged in the kidnaping of Miss Mary McElroy, 25-year-old daughter of the city manager of Kansas City, is under arrest at Roanoke, Va.

Director Reppert said he had been informed by Roanoke authorities that McGee admitted his identity, admitted participation in the kidnaping and would waive extradition.

George McGee was indicted in connection with the kidnaping of Miss McElroy May 27 under two Federal statutes. In a confession attributed to his brother, Walter, George McGee was named as a principal in the plot.

Walter McGee and Clarence Click are held without bond under Federal indictment and also face kidnap charges drawn under a Missouri statute which provides a death penalty for the offense. Walter McGee was arrested in Amarillo, Tex., together with Mr. and Mrs. Windell Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Gilbert, brought to Kansas City, but later released.

Click was arrested in Kansas City. Police attribute to him a confession of the kidnaping.

Miss McElroy was forced to leave her bath and accompany two captors, identified by police as Walter McGee and Click, to a squalid basement prison in a Shawnee, Kans., cottage, where she remained manacled to a wall for 29 hours while her captors negotiated for and received $30,000, more than half of which has been recovered.

Bacchus Puts

Big Number in Cells as 500 Are Jailed in City Over Week-End.

Disciples of Bacchus and traffic violaters kept Washington police moving fast over the week-end, a survey of records showed last night. From 8 o'clock Saturday morning until midnight last night 500 lawbreakers were booked in the eleven precincts of the city.

The Second Precinct, one of the largest, led the list with a total of 155, most of them charged with drunkenness. The majority of these prisoners had to be transferred to outlying stations, where business was not so great.

The First Precinct came second with 103 arrests. Most of these prisoners also were transferred owing to lack of cell space. This condition exists in all of the crowded districts over a week-end or holiday.

At the Fourth Precinct 73 arrests were made; Third Precinct, 44; Sixth, 35; Seventh, 32; Tenth, 19; Ninth, 18; Eleventh, 14; Fifth, 6, and Eighth, 1.

$27,400,000 IS LENT TO COTTON GROWERS

Association Gets Money as Step in Wallace's Option Pool Aid Plan.

(Associated Press.)

The Farm Credit Administration made known yesterday that it has given an advance of $27,400,000 to the American Cotton Cooperative Association as a step in the operation of the cotton option pool, to be employed by Secretary Wallace in his cotton program.

The Agriculture Secretary will announce his program calling for maximum processing taxes of about 4 cents a pound today at 11 a. m. (Eastern standard time).

It will provide for paying farmers rentals for retiring a large portion of the growing crop and will offer them options on about 2,500,000 bales which Mr. Wallace will acquire under the farm adjustment act.

Liquidated Primary Liens.

The Credit Administration said the cooperative used the money to pay off primary liens on the organization's 1930 seasonal pool cotton. The cooperative served as a vehicle for cotton stabilization efforts of the Federal Farm Board, recently absorbed by the Credit Administration.

The administration said that in making the loan it was "paving the way to take such action and to make such settlements as are necessary in order to acquire full legal title to the association's cotton, which is later to be sold to the Secretary of Agriculture."

Most of the details of this transfer have been completed. Mr. Wallace also is authorized to use cotton acquired by the Crop Production Loan Service, which has foreclosed on more than 300,000 out of nearly 900,000 bales, which had been put up as security for seed loans.

In all, $98,827,506 has now been advanced to the cotton cooperative.

$29,509,487 to Others.

The credit administration during May advanced to other cooperatives a total of $29,509,487, while repayments of $4,862,167 were made, leaving a total outstanding indebtedness to the Farm Board's successor of $181,017,629 as of May 31.

During May $821,908 was advanced to the National Wool Marketing Corporation, Boston, bringing its debt to $16,087,364. Other loans made during the month included:

Agricultural and Mechanical College Cooperative Creamery, Starkville, Miss., $15,000; Council Bluffs Grape Growers Association, Council Bluffs, Iowa, $5,000; Eastern Shore of Virginia Tobacco Exchange, Olney, Va., $114,727; Fruitland Fruit Association, Fruitland, Idaho, $8,500; Gem Fruit Union, Inc., Emmett, Idaho, $12,000; Mushroom Cooperative Canning Association, Kennett Square, Pa., $5,000; Sequoia Walnut Growers Association, Vasalia, Calif., $30,000; Western Dark Fired Tobacco Growers Association, Murray, Ky., $75,000.

One Home Run Deserves Another, Convict Decides

Chicago, June 18 (U.P.)—A home run from the county jail became just that today for Charles Miller, 18, who was serving a year for larceny.

Miller, a trusty, was watching a ball game in the prison yard when one of the players hit a homer over the juniors' quarters in the jail. Miller volunteered to get the ball. After he tossed the ball back, he jumped from the wall to the street and escaped.

DATE FOR WAR DEBT TALKS TO BE DECIDED THIS WEEK

slovakia and Latvia will complete the list. The British government intends to send a representative delegation, headed by Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, to discuss the revision of debt payments with the President. The conversations in every instance will be handled by the President alone. He will naturally be assisted by his usual advisers, but the final decision in every case will rest with him.

It is believed that the most that the United States can get out of the final arrangement will be some form of payment that is not far from the percentage offered and accepted by this Government in satisfaction of their June 15 indebtedness. In the case of the Italian government, however, the final debt figure probably will be at a higher level than the $1,000,000 payment made on account of the $14,000,000 due.

The debt conversations here in all probability will begin upon the President's return to Washington early in July. In the meanwhile efforts will be made on both sides to hasten a break in the French and American debt impasse. The position of the French government probably will be known following the cabinet meeting next Tuesday, but no active move is expected to follow Premier Daladier's presentation of the problem to his colleagues. The best that can be hoped for is the healing influence of time, as on both sides there has developed a very definite determination to maintain the present position.

Congress Approval Needed.

On the outcome of the Washington conversations will depend the success or failure of the entire debt policy of the President. These are to be the talks to end forever the disputed problem of the war debts and the approval of Congress naturally will have to seal the agreement.

Any kind of agreement that is made by the President must have the double virtue of satisfying the debtor nation and Congress in January, 1934. The economic position of most of the countries to be heard here is at a lower state than it was when the debt funding agreements were made with them original. Some of them in addition will be bound by the pact made recently in Bucharest when the agrarian nations there represented repudiated the "capacity to pay" basis for settling international basis and demanded an out-and-out annulment. Such a policy is out of the question, so far as the Washington conversations are concerned, as the President, it is believed, will decline to sit in on negotiations predicated on such an extreme principle.

However, the nations that will participate in the White House talks here with the President and his advisors will have as their shining light the Lausanne agreements. They will in all probability insist upon the same ratio of reduction for their own debts as they granted Germany at Lausanne when the German reparations payments were reduced by approximately 90 per cent.

Policy Shocks France.

Paris, June 18 (A.P.).—France was slightly shocked today by the Roosevelt administration's pointed suggestion to pay first and talk debt revision afterward.

Officials warily intimated that since France is willing to pay something a way will be found for the United States to take it rather than get nothing.

Disappointment was expressed because the latest American note failed to mention the statement in the French note of June 15, when the last payment was due, that the debts were not being repudiated.

Deferment View Held.

Premier Edouard Daladier will present the problem to the cabinet probably Tuesday, but chamber of deputy circles do not expect any immediate action. It was commented in these circles that "time is a great physician," and that the quick-moving events at the World Economic Conference and in connection with the British debt settlements should clear the atmosphere.

The French position was that its failure to pay the June and last December installments, totaling about $60,000,000, was merely a deferment pending a move by the United States for a review of the funding agreement.

10 Planes Hunt Missing Aviator

Roseburg, Oreg., June 18 (A.P.)—The timbered, mountainous country of southern Oregon still held today the secret of the whereabouts of William B. Young, Portland aviator, missing since shortly before midnight Friday.

Ten fellow pilots flew over the area where they believed Young had run into difficulty in fog. The search yielded few clews. Reports from Mill City, north of here, that a plane was heard circling there about 2 a. m. Saturday, led the fliers to concentrate their search about that town.

Young landed a passenger at Medford, Oreg., at 11:20 p. m. Friday, and half an hour later took off for Portland. He has not been heard from since.

Snake Invasion Empties Village.

Istanbul, Turkey, June 18 (A.P.) An invasion of thousands of poisonous snakes today caused inhabitants of the village of Kouzou-Djouvu near Mersine, to flee their homes, reports reaching here said. Men of the village planned a huge snake hunt.

PUERTO RICANS HERE FOR HARBOR HEARING

Prominent Islanders to Tell Army Engineers Need for Arecibo Breakwater.

A group of Puerto Rican citizens arrived Saturday for a public hearing tomorrow before the Board of Army Engineers for Rivers and Harbors.

The commission, designated by the Insular government, the municipality of Arecibo, the Chamber of Commerce and commercial, industrial and agricultural interests, consists of Dr. R. Rivera Aulet, mayor of Arecibo; Lorenzo Oliver, president of the Puerto Rico Distilling Company and vice president of the Cambalache Sugar Corporation; Enrique Ortega, chief engineer Insular Department of the Interior; A. Esteva Vidal and Rafael Rios, representing industrial and agricultural interests of the island. The commission will be officially presented to the board by Santiago Iglesias, resident commissioner for Puerto Rico.

The Board of Engineers will be urged to sanction the construction of a breakwater which will afford protection to the harbor of Arecibo. Under present conditions rough weather does not permit safe anchorage and economical loading and unloading of ships. Arecibo, an important outlet and inlet for trade with the United States, is one of the richest agricultural and industrial districts of the island. It is also one of the largest sugar and fruit centers, as well as a large consumer of American products.

Under present conditions, it is necessary to ship exports and to receive imports through the port of San Juan, a distance of 56 miles. The proposed breakwater and terminal, the latter to be constructed at the expense of local interests, will not only expedite shipments, but will also materially reduce the cost thereof.

Arecibo, located on the north coast of the island, is the nearest direct route to the United States. The commission will urge its strategical value as a base of supplies and harbor, in the event of emergencies. No harbor is available for such purpose on the north coast.

The proposed improvement, according to Mr. Oliver, a member of the commission, will increase export and import trade through the port of Arecibo over 100 per cent, a benefit that, approximated in monetary terms, will aggregate $200,000 annually.

BEER GARDEN RAID FATAL TO PATRON

Robbers Shoot Man Who Fails to Move Quickly When They Give Order.

New York, June 18 (A.P.).—The Times Square section was thrown into an uproar early today by three men who raided a West Sixty-fourth street beer garden, stripped twoscore patrons of all valuables and then killed one patron because he offered a low-voiced objection.

Police, responding to an alarm, found the street thronged with excited people and the garden itself in disorder.

The resort, known as "The Gaiety," is only 50 feet off Broadway.

Thomas Heaney, 28, was the man killed. He was shot when he failed to respond quickly to an order by one of the robbers as they herded the startled patrons into a rear room.

One man covered the patrons, while the other two passed down the line feeling for pocketbooks and snatching watches, rings and other jewelry. The loss was estimated by police at only a few hundred dollars.

The robbers escaped.

Joseph Reviello, 34-year-old proprietor of a beer garden on First avenue, was killed about the same time by an unidentified man who approached him as he sat drinking at his bar with a customer.

Police said robbery was not the motive. His assailant escaped.

Vienna Is Silent On Empire Plan

Vienna, June 18 (A.P.).—The reported proposal by Foreign Minister Edouard Benes of Czechoslovakia to restore the Austro-Hungairan Empire in an economic sense brought no comment today in newspapers here and the foreign office also was silent.

Circles close to Chancellor Engelbert Dollfus were skeptical. It was recalled that M. Benes in 1915 wrote a booklet entitled "Destroy Hungary!" and worked hard to convince allied statesmen that Austria not only must be defeated, but must be dismembered.

A Prague (Czechoslovakia) newspaper printed an interview yesterday in which Foreign Minister Benes, who is in London, was quoted as advocating a restoration of the Austro-Hungarian Empire in an economic sense as "Austria's best way out of her present difficulties."

BUCKS SHAPE TRIAL PLAN IN CONFERENCE

Brothers Charged in McMath Kidnaping Are Urged to "Stick Together."

Barnstable, Mass., June 18 (A.P.).—The Buck brothers, charged with the kidnaping of Margaret (Peggy) McMath, held a round table conference with their attorneys in the Barnstable County jail today formulating plans for their defense at the resumption of their trial tomorrow.

A heavy rain beat against the window panes as the brothers, Kenneth and Cyril, talked in the office of Sheriff Lauchlan Crocker. Mrs. Bertha Buck, mother of the defendants; Mrs. Cyril Buck and other relatives waited in the receiving room of the jail. Kenneth was seen to pace around the room, turning now and then to emphasize some point to the attorneys.

The brothers, reconciled yesterday after days in which hard feeling had existed betwen them, were instructed by their attorneys to "stick together." Elias Burwick, counsel for Kenneth, said yesterday that Kenneth would exonerate his brother of criminal implication in the crime when he takes the stand.

The 10-year-old child was taken from the Harwich Center grammar school May 2, to be returned three days later, after the payment of $60,000 ransom. The ransom money was recovered in the home of Kenneth.

District Attorney William C. Crossley said he intended to send Mr. and Mrs. McMath and possibly Peggy to the stand tomorrow. Mrs. McMath is expected to be the first to tell her story. The mother of the defendants, who has been in the courtroom every day since the trial started last Monday, probably will be present to hear it. Mrs. McMath has said she "dreaded" to testify and wished the "whole thing was over."

Drys in Oklahoma Helped by Cannon

Oklahoma City, June 18 (A.P.).—Bishop James Cannon, jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, began his campaign to prevent legalization of 3.2 per cent beer in Oklahoma with speeches at three churches here today.

"We have obligations to society to fulfill," he said. "An incoming ship is quarantined if there is disease aboard, and there are many other examples of rigid disciplinary measures when it is best for the people as a whole."

"Being in a prohibition fight is nothing new for me," he added. "I've been at it 40 years and during that time have been slandered, abused and villified by the wets, but it's like water running off a duck's back. The liquor question is not one of personalities, but one of a body and soul destroying traffic."

Bishop Cannon will continue his drive until the election July 11.

Broun to Present 'Jobless Diplomas'

New York, June 18 (U.P.).—A mock commencement ceremony will be held tomorrow by members of the Association of Unemployed College Alumni—all collegians who stepped from classrooms into breadlines.

The "graduates" will wear academic caps and gowns and will receive the degree of "bachelor of unemployment" from Heywood Broun, newspaper writer, who styles himself as chancellor of the "university of unemployment."

Broun will present traveling fellowships to those students who have become hoboes since leaving college.

ROOSEVELT WINNER IN ATLANTIC STORM

which all the skippers in the Roosevelt armada agreed, forecast plenty of trouble. There were sighs of relief when this port was entered, particularly aboard the storm-tossed Comanche, which carried some of the newspapermen, who did not have to tell any one they were landlubbers.

But over in the small bunk on the port side aft of the Amberjack a carefree, joking President sat down to talk it over and joke with his crew about the battle. He told Stephen T. Early, his secretary, who came aboard for a moment from the destroyer Ellis, he was having "the time of my life."

Mr. Roosevelt is still counting on rounding Cape Cod tomorrow and making Provincetown by night.

TINKHAM OFFICIALLY ASKS DAVIS' RECALL

Republican, Conferring With Phillips, Cites Charges Against Envoy.

(Associated Press.)

Representative Tinkham (Republican), Massachusetts, said yesterday in a formal statement he had "officially demanded" the recall of Norman H. Davis as envoy to the world economic and disarmament conferences during a conference Saturday with Acting Secretary of State Phillips.

Tinkham said he told Phillips that unless Davis were recalled he would press for action at the next session of Congress on his resolution directing the President to recall him. The resolution was the last introduced at the special session.

Davis prepared to sail for the United States yesterday from London, asserting emphatically that he had not resigned and did not intend to.

"I pointed out to Mr. Phillips," said Tinkham in his statement, "the high impropriety in his (Davis') appointment by President Hoover and by President Roosevelt as representative of the United States abroad, particularly in such negotiations as the ones upon which he is now engaged, and I officially demanded his recall."

The Massachusetts Republican, who denounced Davis on the floor of the House twice during the last session, said he presented to Phillips various charges he had voiced previously against Davis.

"In my opinion," he said, "this record disqualified Mr. Davis for appointment or commission as representative of the United States in any capacity, particularly in his present capacity as chairman of the American delegation to the general disarmament conference with the personal rank of ambassador, and as a member of the organizing committee of the economic conference, at Geneva and at London, where he is proposing the surrender of American sovereignty, American independence and American freedom of the seas, and the supervision of American defense by Europe."

Tinkham said he reminded Phillips that Davis appeared several times on "favorable" lists of J. P. Morgan & Co. in the recent investigatoin by the Senate Banking Committee, that Davis for several years had a partly unliquidated loan with the Morgan firm, and that in an opinion of the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia in the case of Las Ovas Co., Inc., vs. Davis, the court found Davis had not acted in good faith and had violated a fiduciary relationship in the taking of certain profits.

MACHINE GUN KILLERS HUNTED IN SIX STATES

he was confident the purpose was to liberate the 49-year-old college bred convict who walked away from the Leavenworth prison as a trusty in October, 1930.

"They would have only one purpose in going into action with a machine gun," Higgins said. "That would be to liberate Nash. It was possible they killed him by mistake."

F. J. Lackey, special agent at Oklahoma City of the United States Bureau of Investigation, who was critically wounded by the slayers, still was clinging to life today at Research Hospital. R. E. Vetterli, agent in charge of the Bureau of Investigation here, was slightly wounded.

Frank Smith, another Federal operative, escaped unscathed.

The search for the gunmen, whose number was variably estimated at from two to four, spread to Hot Springs, Ark., where Nash was arrested, to Oklahoma, where he was a member of the Al Spencer gang, through Missouri and Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa, and even to Chicago, where Nash had told police he had "connections."

Statements of 20 or more witnesses of the killing are in conflict as to the number of men involved. Sight of the motor car in which the gunmen fled was lost three blocks from the station.

Federal agents were rushed here from a wide area to assist in the search. Their instructions were to "get their men." Every resource of the Department of Justice was brought into action.

The name of Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd, another Oklahoma killer, was brought into the case, as he has been in Missouri, and only a few hours before the killing had released a kidnaped sheriff 20 miles east of here. Higgins said he doubted that Floyd was involved in the case.

The chief, however, expressed belief that the attack may have been a plot engineered by Harvey Bailey, a leader of the recent prison break at the Kansas penitentiary, to release Nash. Bailey and Nash were friends.

E. C. Reppert, director of police, announced, after a conference with City Manager H. F. McElroy, that it had been definitely established that "no Kansas City gangsters had anything to do with the killing."

Meanwhile, Prosecuting Attorney T. A. J. Mastin announced that, beginning tomorrow, the clamps would close down on "gun toters." He said he would ask Sheriff Thomas B. Nash and Director Reppert to cooperate with him, and agreed to prosecute vigorously all persons arrested.

No Word Heard From Agents Trailing Slayers

(Associated Press.)

Headquarters of the Department of Justice's Bureau of Investigation last night awaited, apparently in vain, for word from any one of its scores of operatives that the trial of the Kansas City killers had been picked up.

More than 36 hours after machine gunners had slain a Department of Justice agent, wounded another and killed four other men, including Frank Nash, train robber, the Department headquarters reported that "we haven't heard anything yet."

Throughout the day and night, the office of J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Bureau of Investigation, stood by to draw together the net which it spread Saturday when word of the slayings and escape of the gangsters was flashed from Kansas City.

The net was spread at the order of Attorney General Cummings and the order issued within a few days of declarations by both President Roosevelt and himself against racketeering.

The extensive operators of the Bureau of Investigation, it was pointed out, materially increased beyond the activities of city or State authorities the chance that the gunmen would run into the web that had been stretched out across the Nation.

Lung Device

Fails to Save Plucky Boy's Life After Year; Battle Cheered by President.

Philadelphia, June 18 (A.P.).—After lying for 306 days and nights in a hospital's "mechanical lung," 15-year-old Earl Potter died today. Apparently recovering from the effects of infantile paralysis, he was seized with convulsions and died within a few minutes.

Steadfast cheerfulness in the long fight for health won for him the encouragement of national figures. President Roosevelt sent a note expressing good wishes and the hope that he would be well soon. Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, and star baseball players frequently visited him.

Earl's mother and father, an unemployed painter, survive.

PATRICK T. NILAND RITES TOMORROW

Life-Long Resident of Capital Was Active in Affairs of St. Stephen's.

Funeral services for Patrick T. Niland, a lifelong resident of Washington who died Saturday at his home, 2138 N street northwest, will be held at 8:30 a. m. tomorrow from his late residence. Following requiem mass from St. Stephen's Catholic Church, Twenty-fifth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, at 9 a. m., interment will be in Holy Rood Cemetery.

Mr. Niland was 69 years old. For more than 40 years he conducted a plumbing business here. He was a member of St. Stephen's Church and at one time was president of its St. Vincent de Paul Society.

He also held membership in the Holy Name Society, Keane Council, Knights of Columbus; the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the Master Plumbers Association and the West End Citizens Association.

Surviving Mr. Niland are his widow, Mrs. Annie Niland; two sons, Dennis J. and Edwin T. Niland; two daughters, Elsie and Teresa Niland and three sisters, Mrs. William Turton, Mrs. John F. Craven and Mrs. Michael E. Buckley.

Rites to Be Today For D. J. Roberts

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today from the Tabler undertaking establishment, 928 M street northwest, for David James Roberts, of 614 Lexington place northeast, who died Friday at Atlantic City, N. J. Burial will be in Rock Creek Cemetery. Mr. Roberts was 78 years old.

Mr. Roberts, who for 35 years was employed at the Government Printing Office, was a member of the following Masonic orders, Myron M. Parker Lodge, Capital Chapter, Columbia Commandery, Almas Temple Masonic Veteran's Association.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Effie A. Roberts, a son, L. B. Roberts, and a daughter, Mrs. Burl R. Johnston.

Sergt. E. L. Lake Dies in Hospital

Ernest L. Lake, 67, a member of the local police force for 33 years, during which time he rode a bicycle and was a desk sergeant at the Third and Eighth Precincts, died Saturday at Emergency Hospital following an extended illness.

Mr. Lake was a member of the Maccabees and of the Woodmen of the World. Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Lucy A. Lake, two sons, Horace Lake and Herbert Lake, and three daughters, Mrs. Lynn Hench, Mrs. Albert Forrest and Mrs. T. M. Templeman, of Atlanta, Ga.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. tomorrow at the home, 3528 T street northwest. Burial will be at Hamilton, Va.

Widow of Dr. Hibben, Of Princeton, Is Dead

New York, June 18 (A.P.).—Mrs. Jenny Hibben, widow of Dr. John Grier Hibben, former president of Princeton University, died in the Neurological Institute at Medical Center today of injuries received in the same automobile accident in which her husband was fatally injured last May. She was 70 years old.

Her death was attributed to fractures of the skull and pelvis, and to pneumonia. She had not been told of her husband's death.

MRS. JULIA E. RYAN DIES.

Retired Navy Yard Worker's Wife Succumbs to Short Illness.

Mrs. Julia E. Ryan, of 741 Twelfth street southeast, wife of Michael J. Ryan, retired Navy Yard toolmaker, died yesterday at Providence Hospital following a short illness. She was 46 years old.

Mrs. Ryan was a member of the Sodality of St. Peter's Church. She is survived by her husband, two sons, James M. Ryan and John J. Ryan, and a daughter, Mary E. Ryan.

Funeral services have not been completed.

Fisherman Plucks Fish From Beak of Sea Gull

Taft, Oreg., June 18 (A.P.).—It's a fish story, but John Marple, of Cutler City, declares it is true. As he tells it:

While he was fishing in Siletz Bay he noticed two sea gulls fighting over a fish. One of them finally broke away with the fish in its beak. The gull flew directly over Marple's boat. Marple reached up—caught the fish by the tail. The gull screamed seaward and Marple examined his catch—a large blueback salmon.

Detroit Boy, Bumming Ride, Is Killed by Train

Fairfield, Calif., June 18 (A.P.).—Robert Ide Webster, 17, of Highland Park, Detroit, was killed near here today when he was run over by a freight train he and a companion, Gray Ries, 16, had been riding.

The youths had been employed to drive new motor cars from Detroit and were stranded on the Coast. They were beating their way back to Detroit by rail when Webster fell from a flat car as it was being switched in the railroad yards.

PARENTS BLAMED FOR YOUTHS' VIEW

Rev. Schnabel Hits Rush for Money and Cynicism of College Graduates.

"If what the colleges are turning out this year and will turn out during the next few years can't give us better economic, social and spiritual leadership than the past decade or two have produced, then may God pity the oncoming hosts of life that must face what we have faced during these past few years," said the Rev. George E. Schnabel, preaching yesterday evening at the Albright Memorial Evangelical Church.

"For Crying Out Loud" was the topic of the Rev. Mr. Schnabel's sermon. He said, in part:

"Tens of thousands of our finest youth stand at the threshold just now after years of strict application in the laboratory and classroom, ready to claim a place in the world of business. Theirs is a just claim. When this host of embryo lawyers, doctors and engineers, accountants, scientists and preachers started out life was a promise. Today, as the creaking hinges of academic life swing the doors of time behind them, they stand facing a cruel world's inquisition, jobless, helpless, bewildered, before a major economic upheaval, for which they are not to blame. I can see them now, in cap and gown, with outstretched arms, looking back over those years of preparation, forward into uncertainty; I can hear them shout as they behold the mess an older generation created—'For Crying Out Loud.'

Vernacular Is Expressive.

"This one bit of trite modern expressiveness tells a story of frustrated hopes, unfilled promises and bitter disappointments far better than a score of learned essays on the future of 'our college trained.' The world is in a mess and now those who are responsible hold the reins and bid youth to wait until they make a new world of the debris. It wouldn't take brains of the highest quality to recreate the mess an older generation has given us.

"Every selfish interest that beset our life during the decade just past has shouted out its defiance against decency garbed in the splendor and fitness of youth. One after another the barriers fell before this selfishness of greed disguised as pleasure, economic security and social position, until fine moral standards were swept aside as easily as a surplus dab of rouge on a beautiful girl's face.

"The economic wreck is terrible. We regret its resultant suffering, but what shall we say of the moral wreck. This last preceded the first. It is of this moral wreck that I would shout 'For crying out loud,' as loud as I can. If I could, I would shame every parent who has let down the bars of moral decency before our generation's youth. If I could I would call them back to a sense of their moral responsibility as parents.

Parental Neglect Assailed.

"If it were possible I would convince them that where youth has become indifferent to real moral values it is because, first, they, their parents, forgot God in their mad rush to own a home, accumulate wealth, and shake off the restraints of the Ten Commandments. Every week we deal with the moral wreckage that results from parental neglect of real spiritual values. Any parent who is indifferent to the high moral and spiritual claims of their children upon them is unfit for the God-given task of parenthood. As I see the utter and abysmal indifference of parents to these high claims of youth I can not restrain a loud, yet painful—'For crying out loud.'

"The soul of every child and every youth is the battlefield. Let us begin today to reclaim the field and once again surround this young life with those old-fashioned virtues that issued from a religion that trusted in the God of David. We need to remind ourselves just now in the words of Walter Lippmann—'That we are a generation that has an appointment with destiny.' In the ultimate destiny is the creature of character, character the creature of habit, habit the creature of acts and acts the creature of thoughts. The destiny of our generation is the result of the product of our spiritual thinking. A generation that defied God produced this unholy mess that we find ourselves in. A generation that rediscovers God for itself is what we pray for and hope for and strive for."

Divine Preparation Cited by Dr. Sizoo

Taking for his text, "A Highway Shall be There," Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, said yesterday in his sermon that the supreme truth of religion is that God has a way of anticipating our wants and that God is always building highways to our better tomorrow.

"The fundamental fact which lies behind all religion is this: God has a way of anticipating our problems," he said. "He is always building highways over forlorn stretches of life. When the ancient Hebrews trod their way out of the land of bondage, the waters obstructing their way were turned aside for their passage. When the disciples returned in their open boat with an empty net Jesus stood on the shores of Gallilee with bread and fish because he anticipated their hunger.

How often we are bewildered by problems that have no answers. We wonder what is behind it all, and yet who knows but that in our dilemma today, God is only building a highway across the desert to tomorrow."

Capital Preacher Talks At Methodist Ordination

Denton, Md., June 18 (A.P.).—The ministry was characterized as "a poor trade, but a high calling," by the Rev. R. Y. Nicholson, of the Rhode Island Avenue Church of Washington, who preached the ordination sermon at the Maryland annual conference of the Methodist Protestant Church here today, during which five were inducted into the ministry.

Dog Bites Net Policeman $300 in Damage Action

San Francisco, June 18 (A.P.).—Policeman John L. Dolan got $300 for a dog bite or two. A municipal jury awarded him judgment for that amount against the dog's owner—for mental and physical suffering and the loss of a pair of uniform trousers. He asked $3,000.

W. A. MOFFETT, JR., TO HUNT MATTERN

Son of Late Admiral Awaits Better Weather as Navy Orders Search.

Nome, Alaska, June 18 (A.P.).—Bad weather prevented two Navy fliers stationed in the Pribilof Islands, one of them Ensign William A. Moffett, jr., son of the late Rear Admiral Moffett, from taking off today to search for Jimmie Mattern, missing round-the-world flier.

A message from Capt. Harry Dact, in command of the old troopship Argonne, on which Moffett and his flying partner, Lieut. John Vest, are stationed, said:

"On account of fog and low clouds, planes unable to conduct search westward today."

Search Being Prepared.

The orders last night from Washington, which sent all naval vessels and airplanes in Alaskan waters on the search for the Texan, now unreported for four days, also found the tender Patoka stationed in the far North. Its scheduled departure for the South was immediately ordered delayed.

On the belief that Mattern might be down on some one of the islands of the Aleutian chain, which stretch half way across the North Pacific, both the Argonne and Patoka were being prepared, reports received here said, to steam westward if needed. Two planes on the Argonne have a cruising radius of between 400 and 500 miles.

Meanwhile, Pilot Art Woodley, noted Alaskan flier, returned to Seward today after having made a long scouting trip over western Alaska, hunting the missing airman. After reporting that he had sighted nothing, he repeated his previous belief that Mattern turned toward Asia and was down somewhere along the Asiatic coast.

Cutters Stand Ready.

Three Coast Guard cutters were also ready to aid the search, wireless reports here said, in the belief that Mattern, who took off from Khabarovsk, Siberia, at 2:30 p. m. (Eastern standard time) Wednesday might have come down safely on some one of the islands of the Aleutians, stretching half way across the Pacific.

The ice floes in the Bering Sea in this latitude would handicap the cutter Northland, now lying off Cape Romanzoff. Eight hundred miles to the South, however, at Unalaska, the Alert and Shoshone were ready to leave port at short notice, with no ice blocking their progress.

Meanwhile, pilots or eight to ten planes on regular flying schedules over interior and southern Alaska and private fliers have kept a sharp lookout for Mattern and will continue to do so.

Governor Issues Pro-Nazi Order

Weimer, Germany, June 18 (A.P.).—An order for intolerance against anything non-Nazi was issued today by Fritz Sauckel, Reich's statthalter or governor of the state of Thuringia, in an address before a congress of Thuringian Nazi leaders. Sauckel declared that Nazism "is the only political faith."

"I command you not to tolerate anything else," he said. "Discussion of things touching on the life and existence of our people must cease. Those daring to doubt the rightness of the Nazi principles ought to be branded as traitors."

Prince August Wilhelm, a Nazi leader and son of the former kaiser, heard the address by the statthalter, whose post was created by the recent Nazi law restricting rights of the various states. The statthalters appoint the state governments and are responsible only to the Hitler cabinet.

Cermak Daughter Denies She Married Salesman

Miami, Fla., June 18 (A.P.).—William W. Wood, Miami salesman, and Mrs. Helena Cermak Kenlay, daughter of the late mayor of Chicago, tonight denied reports published here today that they had been married.

HARVARD HEAD GIVES LAST CLASS SERMON

President Lowell, Who Retires Soon, Tells Graduates to See Things Aright.

Cambridge, Mass., June 18 (A.P.).—President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University today delivered his last baccalaureate sermon to a Harvard graduating class. He retires at the end of the present college year.

The retiring president urged his hearers to conduct themselves calmly in times of public distress, "to strive to see things in their true proportions, undistorted by prepossessions, and on the other hand by fear, by hallucination of the outcries of an impulsive multitude."

"We are told," he said, "that the conditions of the world have suddenly changed, and that the control of man over the forces of nature and his consequent progress in labor-saving inventions have made him so much more productive as to raise a doubt whether he can provide his wants.

Warns Against Beliefs.

"Do we not forget that it is these things that, by reducing the need of human muscular strength, have made possible a large output without the slavery deemed necessary for the industry of the ancient world? Do we not forget that the state of inventions is not very different from what it was four years ago when we were told that it had brought our country to an economic plane so high and so solid that grave industrial depressions would not occur again? * * *

History Series of Changes.

"History is the narration of a series of changes, often for the better, but not always so, and sometimes what appeared at the time grievous has proved in the end a step in the march of progress, sometimes not.

"When the things about us are shaken, when the familiar landmarks are displaced, and the supports we have leaned upon are no longer solid, one must hold on to oneself. Too often it is the first thing with which a man loses touch. Too often he lets go of himself to follow the swaying of the rest, and, when he should be a steadying influence, helps to rock the boat. Too often we cast our responsibility upon others, and think if we move with the crowd we can not be blamed, for the fault is theirs and not ours, and who is the crowd but ourselves and other timid folk of the same unstable caliber?"

Genuine Flu Cure Is Reported Found

London, June 18 (U.P.).—Effective treatment for influenza was reported today to have been found, following extensive experiments in the National Institute of Medical Research.

Officials remained silent, but it was understood they had succeeded in transmitting the virus to animals and then cured them. The tests were said to insure an effective preventative medicine, alhough isolation of the germ itself has not yet been achieved.

A successful cure could save Great Britain alone millions of pounds sterling. Insurance companies paid 1,500,000 pounds in January and February on policies held by persons who died of influenza. Deaths from influenza here were 8,462 in that brief period.

400 New Mexico Farm Laborers Strike Today

Roswell, N. M., June 18 (A.P.).—Four hundred farm laborers of a recently organized Agricultural Workers' Industrial Union in Chaves County have called a general strike, effective tomorrow, for the purpose of increasing farm labor wages.

C. B. Holmes, president of the organization, said cotton farmers are paying 35 cents an acre for chopping cotton and 5 cents per ton per man for baling hay, wages under which he said workers can not live. A minimum wage of 20 cents an hour is sought.

HUNGARIAN PREMIER PLANS TRADE BLOC

Goemboes Reveals Scheme to Stimulate Farming in Central Europe.

(Copyright, 1933, by United Press.)

Berlin, June 18.—A scheme for the formation of a powerful central European trade bloc designed to stimulate agriculture was revealed today by Premier Julius Goemboes of Hungary.

The soldier-premier, in an exclusive interview with the United Press, sounded a strong note of optimism and forecast the success of his trade accord plan involving Germany, Austria, Italy and Hungary.

His primary interest in his visit to Germnay, where he has been in frequent conference with Chancellor Adolf Hitler, he said, was a "salesman-premier," to get the other three nations to purchase Hungary's agricultural surplus.

Confers With Hitler.

Observers recognize that such an accord might well give impetus to economic revival in the Danubian countries, at present floundering in a morass of trade difficulties.

Premier Goemboes, arriving suddenly from Budapest by airplane, conferred with Hitler at once, and afterward appeared most optimistic at what he termed the satisfactory conclusion of his negotiations.

He received Karl A. Bickel, resident of the United Press and the United Press Berlin manager, in his luxurious suite in a hotel on fashionable Under den Linden. A bodyguard of picked Nazi storm troopers guarded his suite.

Crop Surplus Expected.

Despite constant telephonic interruptions, the premier sat at ease and affably explained in English his hopes for reviving Hungary's agriculture.

"We expect a banner year," the premier said, "with a good export surplus. My mission here is to seek to arrange a favorable market in Germany.

"If we can sell our agricultural surplus to Germany, Italy and Austria this year, then Hungary will be all right economically."

The premier, asked by Bickel whether he intended to go to the World Economic Conference in London, laughingly said:

"I already have three men there—I'm the man who stays behind. But, seriously, I would like some time to go on a hunting expedition in the United States. I am most fond of hunting, and have been told there is fine game there."

Accord Believed Reached.

He cordially shook hands and with a brief "Gruess Gott!" (greet God) as a parting salutation in German, strode from the room. Accompanied by his bodyguard, he departed in an official automobile in the direction of Wilhelmstrasse.

Goemboes and Hitler were understood to have reached a "significant agreement" on economic affairs, particularly measures for farm relief through trade accords, and both stressed the cordial relations existing between the two countries.

Premier Goemboes proceeded to Erfurt, where 60,000 Hitlerite Brown Shirts from all parts of Germany paraded before Chancellor Hitler and his guest. Hitler was given a tremendous ovation.

Industrial Board Sees Business Good

New York, June 18 (A.P.).—A steady improvement in business activity during May and the first half of June was reported today by the conference of statisticians in industry of the National Industrial Conference Board.

"Advances in production and distribution have continued in recent weeks, when seasonal recession is ordinarily evident," said the report. "Heavy construction is showing signs of getting under way."

The group noted improvement in automobile production, building and engineering construction, steel and iron output, electric power consumption, bituminous coal production and a new high for the year in textile production. Employment in manufacturing industry showed a 5 per cent rise between April and May, the report said.

Mrs. Nellie B. Lee Dies at Alexandria

Mrs. Nellie B. Lee, 80, of Alexandria, widow of the late Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, Confederate general in the Civil War, died early yesterday at her residence at 428 North Washington street, Alexandria.

She is survived by two sons, Col. Fitzhugh Lee, U. S. A., of Atlanta, Ga., and Col. George Mason Lee, retired, U. S. A., of Green Spring Valley, Md., and three daughters, Mrs. Louise Braun, of Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. John C. Montgomery, of New York, and Mrs. John C. Rhea, of Alexandria.

Funeral arrangements have not been made definitely, but relatives indicated that Mrs. Lee would be buried tomorrow morning at Richmond.

Gen. Lee was Governor of Virginia from 1886 to 1890 and was Consul General at Havana in 1893, being made military governor there at the close of the Spanish-American War. He died in 1905.

Winchester Plans Hearing on Budget

Winchester, Va., June 18.—A public hearing on the 1933 budget for the City of Winchester will be held here Tuesday night at which time taxpayers will have an opportunity to voice their thoughts on the current year's tax schedule, which is slated for a reduction of 20 cents under that of 1932.

The budget is based on a tax rate of $1.35 as compared with $1.55 in 1932. Estimated revenues and appropriations aggregate $250,547 as compared with $289,293 last year.

Councilmen J. Hankel Henry and Herman H. Hable made a vigorous but unsuccessful fight to have the 1933 tax rate for Winchester placed at $1.10.

Hotel Employes to Elect.

The Hotel and Restaurant Employes' Alliance, Local 781, will elect officers Wednesday at their headquarters at 1412 I street, northwest. Polls will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

THE OTHER day we were in a room at one of the Government departments where many people were at work. Suddenly a book fell to the floor with a loud "plop." Most of those within hearing jumped as if it had been a shot.

It only goes to show how nerves are on edge, not only in this, but all other branches of the Federal establishment at Washington. Never before in the history of the country has the spirit and morale of Government workers been at such low ebb.

All because of the uncertainty of how far the Democratic administration will go in reviving the "spoils system." If there is to be a general house-cleaning, as far as most Government workers are concerned, it would have been far better to have had it over and done with soon after Mr. Roosevelt took office. As it is now, the continued suspense is playing havoc with the personnel, not to mention the Government's business.

The state of mind of the conscientious and hard-working Federal employee—of which there are multitude, all reports to the contrary nothwithstanding!—it is not bettered by the many wild and silly rumors which are afloat. It goes without saying that no man or woman can do their work properly when beset by so much uncertainty and disheartening "corridor gossip."

Uncle Sam's service would appreciate, and be bettered, by a clarifying statement from the Chief Executive.—The Georgetown News.

DEATH has appraised what the living failed to estimate—the sterling worth of a fine character. A Federal employe—long efficient and unfailingly loyal to duty—who, in the flesh, followed the daily grind perseveringly, without the inspiring consolation of praise, has stepped out of life untimely and accidentally. The gray curtain shrouds a distictly, useful life.

For more than 12 years the eye of research had been trained on spot news; with painstaking care the intrinsic discoveries had been marshalled into limited reading space—that others might be posted, in summarized form, on national and economic current events.

Not once during that twelve-year period was the specialist recognized editorially; not once during the 144 months was craftsmanship initialed by name; not once during the more than 4,000 days did supervisors decree that the artist and the work should be identified in print. Now, it is too late. The chance to do the right thing, in the right way, and in the right time has lapsed. In a long-delayed admission, death compels a cryptic epitaph.

The philosopher, the thinker, the reader, and all who pass by may moralize—"Lots of good can be done in the world if one doesn't care who gets the credit."

Perhaps, some day, in the scheme of social justice now openly advocated, the jealousies of government administrators will yield to an unselfish program of action and the feelings of others will be neutralized at consideration value—the worker will get just as much credit for service as the service itself merits.

Publication of a story in the Federal Diary recently has brought favor to the subject discussed. Charles H. Keller, retired gardener, Agriculture, tells us that yesterday, Father's Day, he was given by his immediate folks a year's subscription to the Washington Post. This column is always glad to know that its real mission—bringing good to others—is being fulfilled.

FEDERAL EMPLOYES UNION No. 105,* Bureau of Engraving and Printing, with more than 200 present, held its June meeting with Miss Belle A. Trouland presiding.

Among those nominated as candidates for delegates and alternates to the national convention of the N. F. F. E. in Kansas City, September 4, Miss Belle Trouland, president; Miss Mignon Miller, vice president; Miss Gertrude M. McNally, corresponding secretary; Miss Maude Miller (*) and Miss Violet Turner were elected delegates, and Miss Minnie Stevens, guardian; Miss Anna Davison, Miss Margaret Garry, Miss Lou Kendrick and Miss Gertrude Shellhorn were elected alternates.

Delegates from Union No. 105 to the convention were instructed to prepare resolutions for introduction in that convention on the subjects of "Restoration of salary rates; providing annual leave, 30 days each year cumulative; 30 days sick leave each year cumulative; proper allocations of all positions occupied by women in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing; periodical increases based on seniority and efficiency; safeguarding the merit system; court of appeals for employes in the Federal civil service; dismissal wage; extra pay for overtime work; differential for night work; optional retirement, and adequate minimum wage," and to submit them to the District federation prior to July 15.

Leslie C. McNemar, associate editor, Federal News for the District Federation, explained that the publicity committee of the District Federation now in the process of formation is to be composed of one member from each local union in the District and an associate member from each major subdivision of each local and that the committee is to report through the associate editor late news.

Members expressed approval of plans sought to be accomplished by the organization of each of these committees by the District Federation. Miss Mary E. McCauly was appointed to represent the local on the publicity committee, and instructed to appoint the associate members from the several divisions of the local. Miss Trouland stated that she was not yet ready to announce the appointment of the representative to serve on the sports committee, but would do so in the next few days.

Luther Steward, president, N. F. F. E., spoke on the present trend on Capitol Hill. He requested members to use their efforts to keep their nerves from becoming too badly frayed by unfounded rumors about what is going to happen to this department and to that bureau.

Upon being asked the specific question as to whether the National officers are in favor of optional retirement after 30 years of serivec, Mr. Steward stated that in the face of the clearly announced policy of the National on that subject he would like to be informed whether the question was being put seriously. Miss Trouland having assured him that it was, he emphatically denied that the National officers had at any time ever stated or intimated that they were not in favor of optional retirement after 30 years' service and stated with equal emphasis that the National officers were unqualifiedly in favor of optional retirement after 30 years' service. A similar opportunity was extended to all present to ask Mr. Steward any questions which they had in mind relating to the policies of the National or to the present situation. No further questions were forthcoming.

HERE is a resume of legislation, enacted or proposed at the last session of Congress, as it effects Government workers:

1. The President granted power to determine the cost of living now as in contrast with 1928, with the provision that 15 per cent shall be the limit of reduction from basic pay.

2. The bill, "to maintain the credit of the United States," repealed all old economy act provisions, including the 8 1-3 per cent salary cut; excepted indefinite administrative furlough provision, and substituted authority for department heads to order furlough, but did not require the procedure, but did, however, give power to dismiss or furlough.

3. Provided involuntary retirement for all employes who have served 30 years, at an annuity of $1,200 per annum, less 3½ per cent. It is expected that the operation of this provision will take up the "slack." The Senate proposed, in open session, an optional plan of retirement. This was dropped in conference.

4. The Sirovich plan, providing a court of appeals to hear grievances of Federal employes, failed of passage. The bill, in all probability, will be called up at the next session of Congress. Hearings are planned to be held before the House Committee on Civil Service. Lamar Jeffers, chairman, is sympathetic toward this proposed legislation.

FRANCIS D. BARSTOW, War Department, retired, general chairman, the Federal Diary I. W. L. A.—Outdoorsman first annual salt water rodeo, Tilghman's, July 22, will leave tomorrow for the fishing grounds to "look over the lay of the land" and to make definite arrangements on details so that there will be no misunderstanding when the big day for fish comes.

Mr. Barstow expects to announce the personnel of his committee Thursday in the Federal Diary when registration will begin. Already a number of prizes have been collected. There also will be substantial cash awards, Mr. Barstow says.

The Federal Diary feels that Federal employes are especially fortunate in obtaining the services of Mr. Barstow in directing the affair. He is a veteran in such events.

The outing will include transportation, boat, bait, lodging and food. Expense of the event will be nominal.

LA RUE SEES WORLD IN NEED OF SERVICE

Takoma Park Pastor Takes Text From Sixth Chapter of Ephesians.

"The greatest work in the world is that which results in the making of great souls and if such work is not done the world will be undone, and that is its chief difficulty today," stated the Rev. William E. La Rue, pastor of the Takoma Park Baptist Church, preaching yesterday morning.

"The Service Motive" was the topic of the Rev. Mr. La Rue's sermon. He drew his text from the seventh verse of the sixth chapter of the Ephesians, "With good will doing service."

The Rev. Mr. La Rue said in part:

"The wisdom of the Scriptures shines out of a text like this. Whenever an act of benevolent service is rendered it does make a difference when we take account of the quality of spirit in which it is performed.

"The service motive needs to be developed and exercised in these times. When we read the Sermon on the Mount we discover that Jesus makes liberal use of the words 'give' and 'good.' He teaches there that God's motive in giving is to display His goodness.

Christ's Was Life of Service.

"Jesus came into a world much worse off than ours and His way of meeting its problems was to go about doing good. This motive dominated His whole life. He came not to be ministered unto, but to minister and to give His life in service.

"I have been much interested of late in reading various attempts to diagnose the times in which we live in baccalaureate sermons, magazine articles and addresses by notable men.

"From this source we get a fair reflection of the current thought of the time. The prevailing opinion seems to be that the world of today is in a bad way. To quote one of these writers:

"'Today confusion, perplexity, instability, disloyalty and indifference make humid the atmosphere of missionary endeavor. Moral standards are lowered. The line of demarkation between the church and the world is almost obliterated.

"'Men are substituting cleverness for goodness, smartness for sincerity, popularity for purity, money for manhood, profits for prophets, career for character. We have been breathing the air of scientific speculation and drinking the Marah waters of materialism, and imbibing the opiates of metaphysical uncertainty.'

Sees Moral Decline.

"And added to this one of our leading churchmen of this city recently declared that from 1918 to the present time there has been a steady decline in the morals of the Nation.

"It is quite generally believed that the foundation of the troubles in which the world finds itself is moral. In view of this, my suggestion is that it is high time to preach and advocate the service motive. Following this we are on the trail to a correct understanding of the philosophy of Jesus. Without this there can be no recovery to a better social and economic life. Imagine a world of people imbued with this motive if you can.

"It is not impossible to have a world of people with great souls, but it is evident that our present breakdown has come about because there is a dearth of great souls.

Scientific Achievements Cited.

"One of our philosophers has recently pointed out that the chief work of science has been the enlargement of man's faculties. By the microscope and the telescope he can look out and in and discover unknown worlds; by our system of communication he can project his voice and in turn hear messages from thousands of miles distant; by the radio he can shout and be heard around the globe; by the steamship and the various types of engines he can attain a speed that is not to be compared with men who were limited to the use of their feet.

"The trouble is that the world has not grown souls great enough to handle these newly discovered forces. These new powers which science has furnished are in the hands and subject to the influences of the old sins of greed, lust, selfish ambition and cruelty.

Service Motto Stressed.

"Every advance in invention may be used either constructively or destructively for good or ill according to the will of the user. When we give a man scientific knowledge or aid him in the development of any great talent we have not hereby necessarily made him a good man.

"Over against the world's social and economic needs let us employ the service motive. Let us all practice it. Let not the sun go down upon the experiences of any day without some unselfish and worthy actions being set to your account.

"This is the time to make the teachings of Christ real and practical in everyday life. You can not be ready for every good work unless you have adopted the idea of glad and willing service to all your fellow men as the dominating motive of your life. This is Jesus' way of life and if we follow it we will find one effective solution that will lift us out and above the present clouds of depression."

Pilot Sacrifices Life Landing Plane So Passenger Is Unhurt.

Kansas City, June 18 (A.P.).—Howard Cavanah, 22, a commercial pilot, sacrificed his own life here today to save a passenger, Miss Jewell Duncan, 16, in the crash of his airplane at the Kansas City airport.

Witnesses said the plane, a single cockpit two-seater, dropped with the couple from a height of 200 feet after the motor stalled.

Cavanah maneuvered the falling plane so that it struck the ground first on the left wing, the side on which he was seated. The wing crumpled with the impact. Cavanah died in an ambulance. Miss Duncan suffered only bruises and cuts on the legs.

ORPHAN BOYS' BAND PLAYS IN ALEXANDRIA

Jr. O. U. A. M. Group From Ohio Gives Concert Before Large House.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.,
Phone Alexandria 523.

The Boys Band of the Orphans Home of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, of Tiffin, Ohio, gave a sacred concert in the Richmond Theater, Alexandria, last night before a crowded house. The band was in charge of C. H. ("Dad") Kernan, superintendent of the home, and H. Rodegerdts, band leader, and consists of 29 pieces.

The program included the hymn "Coronation," Oliver Holdin; "I Love to Tell the Story," William G. Fischar; sacred overture, "Hallelujah," W. Lewis; reverie, "Twilight in the Mountains," Ernest Weber; cornet solo, "Holy City," Stephen Adams; "Ten Minutes With the Tiffin 'Rosebuds,' Wanda Davidson and Myrtle Burns; fantasia, "Creme de la Creme," T. M. Tobani; overture, "King Midas," R. Eilenberg; grand march, "University," E. F. Goldman, and hymn, "God Be With You," W. G. Tomer.

An address was delivered by Col. John H. Trimyer, State treasurer of the Order Fraternal Americans, who spoke on the principles of the order, and described the work being done by the Orphans Home. The concert was under the auspices of Fairfax District, No. 4, Order Fraternal Americans, and the committee in charge of arrangements consisted of Sam T. Park, chairman; James R. Mansfield, Frederick W. Ebhardt and J. T. Pulman.

The band is on its way to the national convention of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, which will be held in Richmond this week.

Cuban Professors Name Committee

Havana, June 18 (A.P.).—Professors of closed Havana University, long among President Machado's most vigorous opponents, last night elected a committee to represent them before United States Ambassador Sumner Welles, mediator in Cuba's political disputes.

The eleven schools of the university had met previously to name two delegates each to the central committee, which in turn would elect the representatives to deal with Welles. Although it had been announced only three would be chosen, one from each faculty, nine were selected.

Following previous agreement to accept Welles' mediation in political matters, the professors last night decided to draw up a memorandum setting forth their views for delivery to Welles. Later in the evening the delegates of the various university schools met with the student directory, the body which decides the policies of the university students.

Record Passenger Total Arrives at World's Fair

Chicago, June 18 (A.P.).—D. M. Bowman, passenger traffic manager, for the New York Central lines, said 2,884 persons came here today over four trains running in 15 sections from New York and Boston.

Bowman said the visitors mainly came to attend the fair, and that "the number of passengers broke all records of the New York Central for four trains for any fair or exposition."

War Mothers to Meet Today.

The Alexandria Chapter, American War Mothers, Mrs. Norman L. Williamson president, will meet at 10:30 a. m. today in the George Mason Hotel.

Ballston Klan to Hold Party.

The women of Ballston Klan, No. 6, will give a lawn party on the klan field, Wilson boulevard and Clements avenue, at Ballston tomorrow night. The Klan Band will play.

STREET NAME GROUP OUTLINES BENEFITS

Arlington Committee Says Present Confusion Would Be Eliminated.

ARLINGTON COUNTY
BUREAU OF THE POST,
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

To assure fair consideration of the street renaming program, developed by a committee headed by Monroe H. Stockett, when it comes before the county board at a special hearing set for Tuesday evening, June 27, the committee issued a statement yesterday to show the benefits to be derived by its adoption.

The plan, the committee said, is necessary for the proper development of the county and will be of great benefit to the residents, the fire department and especially to visitors. One of the outstanding benefits is that it will remove the present confusion which daily results from duplication of names of many of the streets.

The principal features of the plan follow:

The Lee boulevard, which runs east and west, divides the county into north Arlington and south Arlington.

The streets paralleling Lee boulevard on the north would be First avenue north, Second avenue north, &c.; those paralleling Lee boulevard on the south would be First avenue south, Second avenue south, &c.

Where comparatively short streets exist they would be known as "places"; for instance, if a short street comes between Third and Fourth avenues, it would be known as Third place north.

The streets running north and south would be as follows: Named avenues of one-syllable words in alphabetical order, followed by two-syllable words, then three-syllable words, X-Y being omitted.

Short streets running north and south would be known as "places," as, for instance, a short street exists in our plan between Dewey avenue and Essex avenue, and would be known as "Daniel place."

There are a few arterial highways which would not be changed.

The plan has the indorsement of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce and practically all civic organizations in the county.

D. D. Degree Goes To Dr. Heavener

Dr. U. S. A. Heavener, pastor of the Hyattsville M. E. Church, received the degree of D. D. from Lincoln Memorial University at the Sunday morning services. Dr. Ernest Callahan, vice chancellor of the university, delivered the sermon and made the presentation.

In addition to the degree conferred yesterday, he holds a Ph. B. from Taylor University, M. A. from American University and B. L. from the University of Chattanooga. Lincoln Memorial University is located at Cumberland Gap, Tenn. Dr. Heavener has been pastor of the Hyattsville church for five years.

The annual M. E. Sunday school picnic will be held Saturday in Rock Creek Park. Henry Shinn is in charge of the program. The party will leave the church at 10 a. m. in automobiles supplied by members.

Club Will Discuss Culture of Roses

The Falls Church Garden Club will hold its monthly meeting tomorrow night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Kalmbach, Great Falls street, East Falls Church.

The program committee has arranged for two talks, one on "The Origin and History of the Rose," to be discussed by the club secretary, Mrs. L. A. Jackson, and the other on "Culture of Roses," by C. M. Matheny.

President Miller announces that plans will be made at this meeting for future club activities, including compilation of a list of competent gardeners and garden helpers who may be available for employment by club members and citizens of the community. The meeting is open to the public.

Club Women Change Meeting.

The June meeting of the Woman's Club of Lyon Village will be held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. A. Ford, 145 North Oak street, and not at the home of Mrs. H. B. Bates, Morton street, as previously announced. Officers will be elected.

Presbyterian Women to Meet.

The Woman's Society of the Clarendon Presbyterian Church will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the church. Mrs. Frank Niles, of Washington, will give a talk on her travels in China.

Auto and Foot Police Patrol In Alexandria Commended

The combined motor and foot police patrol maintained by the Alexandria Police Department under the direction of Capt. John S. Arnold is the subject of complimentary mention by the Bureau of Public Administration of the League of Virginia Municipalities, in an article which places Alexandria at the head of a list of ten cities.

The article says: "A worthy burgher of Alexandria looks out his window and sees a foot patrolman walking the beat in front of his house. A few moments later he sees an Alexandria police department car, appropriately designated, come by his house. Somewhat later he sees a police car with two policemen in it pass his place. His sense of security is complete—and rightfully so."

In the system described, the driver of the car, in the residential and outlying districts drops off his companion, who patrols a block or two on foot, the car proceeding down a parallel street a block or so away. The motor then picks up the patrolman and the patrol rides for a few blocks, when the process is repeated.

The police cars are equipped with radio, and served by the Washington broadcasting station. Any urgent call received at Alexandria police headquarters is transmitted to Washington by telephone, immediately put on the air, and the police car in Alexandria receives the message and answers the call at once.

UNEQUAL PENSIONS.

One of the foremost complaints against the old system of paying benefits to war veterans was its discrimination against certain deserving groups. Congress had enacted the pensions and compensation laws in piecemeal fashion without much effort to equalize the benefits paid to different groups for similar service and disability. For this reason thousands of beneficiaries welcome the new set-up under which the President is authorized to fix pension rates within the broad limits laid down by Congress.

It is apparent, however, that inequalities still exist. For example, the widows of Civil War veterans are allowed $40 per month if they are over 70 years of age and $30 per month if they are under 70 years. But the widows of Indian War veterans are allowed only $30 per month without regard to age. Pensions are paid to both these groups in disregard of their private incomes, while benefits paid to widows of later wars are cut off if they have incomes of $1,000 per year or more from other sources. These, however, are minor discriminations.

The Army and Navy Journal recounts the case of the widow of a major general who served in the Spanish-American war, the Philippine Insurrection, the invasion of Mexico in 1916, and the World War. After this major general retired in 1922 he was unable to keep up his Government insurance. His widow, now over 70 years of age, has been receiving a pension of $30 per month from the Government, but under the new regulations this will be cut to $15.

This case is contrasted with that of the widow of a young man who was drafted to a labor regiment in the World War. Four days after he entered the service he died of a disease presumably contracted before he was drafted. But the young man was automatically insured, and a $30 pension was added to the insurance benefits paid to his widow. This young woman quit her job because her husband's four days of labor for Uncle Sam gives her an income of $87.50 per month.

The most cruel discrimination under the new system seems to be against the widows of officers who have spent their lives in the service. If an officer who has given 40 years of his life to the defense of his country, taking part in all the wars during that time, is accidentally killed, his widow is entitled to the meager sum of $15 per month. If she should have an income of $1,000 per year from frugal savings, she would receive nothing. Widows of deceased officers are complaining bitterly of this treatment, especially in view of the Government's liberality to Civilian Conservation Corps widows. A man who signs up for a temporary job in the woods does not encounter any of the risks of war, nor does he devote his life to the service of the Government. Yet if he should be killed at work his widow would receive $45 per month for life.

Why should temporary service in a peaceful occupation afford greater security to dependents than a lifetime in defense of the country? No doubt the Veterans Administration will take note of these cases and endeavor to iron out inequalities wherever they appear.

DEMOCRACY FOR CHINA.

After studying the Fascist experiments in Italy and Germany, Wang Ching-wei, premier of the Nanking regime, believes that this form of government is no better suited to China than is Communism. Mr. Wang stated after his return from Europe that although Fascism may have a measure of success in some western countries, it would fail from the outset if introduced into China. Military dictatorships are not new in China, and their failure has been apparent. This modern variation would, therefore, have little chance of success.

The Chinese people, according to the premier, are among the most democratic in the world, although their theoretical form of government was for centuries an absolute monarchy. The government of the people, he believes, will eventually be some form of democracy developed within the nation. There is much truth in the assertion that any alien form of government when introduced into China becomes debased. Kuomintang principles are still held to offer the best possible government for China during the period when minority rule is inevitable.

Mr. Wang's opinions are of especial importance, not only because of his position, but also because of the interesting evolution of his views. At one time he was a supporter of Communist ideas, leading the left wing of the Kuomintang and associating himself with the bolshevist advisers of the Canton government in 1925-26. He directed the successful Nationalist expedition to Hankow in 1927, but in December of the same year he announced that his experiences had convinced him that Communism had become a serious menace to the Chinese people. Since that time he has supported anti-Communist drives. His vivid personality and the candor with which he has advocated his views have given him a large following in China.

LAW ENFORCEMENT.

Defiance of law has seldom been more flagrantly manifested than it was at Kansas City Saturday. In what appears to have been a reckless attempt to rescue Frank Nash, murderer and bank robber, from Federal and municipal officers, a gang of desperadoes killed four officers and their prisoner. Federal agents had taken precautions against such an attack, knowing that Nash was a member of a desperate and powerful gang. But they were overwhelmed by machine gun fire.

Even though a Federal agent, Raymond J. Caffrey, of the Bureau of Investigation, was slain in this melee and another agent was seriously wounded, the Government will be handicapped in bringing his slayers to justice. It is not a Federal crime to kill an agent of the Government. If the felons who committed this crime are caught and convicted, it must be through the laws of Missouri. Uncle Sam doesn't even have the power to prosecute in his own courts the slayers of his servants within the States.

On more than one occasion Attorney General Cummings has announced his intention of waging war on gangsters and racketeers, so far as the power of the Federal Government extends. He points out, however, that the Government has jurisdiction over only a few crimes, and that the larger burden of preserving law and order rests upon the States. Mr. Cummings is trying to work out a plan for cooperation between the Government and the States whereby more effective action against racketeers can be taken. The Department of Justice has done some very effective work against gangsters who have evaded their income taxes and violated other Federal statutes. But this work has only supplemented the law enforcement activities of the States.

Gangsters, kidnapers, racketeers and many lesser felons are challenging law enforcement on a broad front. United efforts on the part of all law enforcement agencies are needed to afford protection to the people.

MEDICAL PROGRESS.

Achievements of the medical profession in its slow conquest against disease are revealed in the sessions of the American Medical Association in Milwaukee. Research specialists who have been struggling with strange human ailments as well as practical physicians and surgeons who are confronted with the common problems of health bring together the results of their experience. The entire healing profession is enlightened thereby.

One of the most interesting developments reported is Dr. Alphonse R. Dochez's findings with regard to the common cold. This malady has baffled physicians from the very beginnings of medical science. Investigators do not yet agree as to its cause, and no cure has ever been perfected. Two lines of investigation have been followed. One tends to indicate that colds are due to tiny micro-organisms known as filtrable viruses, which are invisible under the most powerful microscope. The other suggests that colds result from the action of various kinds of bacteria which are generally present in the respiratory tract.

Dr. Dochez has arrived at the conclusion that colds are due to the combined action of these agencies. His theory is that the viruses prepare the way as the "initiating agents." Disturbances in the respiratory tract due to their action are mild. But when certain bacteria invade the body in the wake of these viruses, he believes, severe colds or influenza are the result.

It seems to be useless to vaccinate against the bacterial organisms, which are the secondary invaders, but Dr. Dochez claims that it is comparatively easy to secure complete immunization against the viruses. Along this line, he thinks, the medical profession may be able to work out a remedy for the common cold and influenza.

Remarkable progress is also being made along other lines. One doctor reported an operation in which one complete side of the patient's brain was removed without apparent loss of mentality or change in personality. A serum which cut in half the death rate from one type of pneumonia was explained to the association by Drs. Gaylord Anderson and Roderick Heffron, of Boston. Since pneumonia is one of the foremost causes of death, the importance of this achievement can easily be realized.

Patients who suffer excruciating pain from incurable cancer or chronic heart disease may find relief through the work of Dr. Loyal Davis, of Northwestern University. Dr. Davis has discovered that pain in the internal organs is carried to the brain by a different route than is pain from the framework of the body. Pain in the inner organs may therefore be relieved by severing certain nerves in the affected area. One patient was relieved by clipping the nerves about his heart, apparently without impairing the action of that organ.

THE POWER TO TAX.

In an address before the Municipal Finance Officers' Association in Cincinnati last week Prof. S. E. Leland, of the University of Chicago, threw out the interesting suggestion that "we ought to scrap the 3,000 county governments and 48 State governments and change the latter from legislative governments to administrative areas." Doubtless he meant his suggestion to be considered academically, and solely from the taxation viewpoint. The scrapping of the States is an undertaking somewhat too important to be disposed of by tax and financial authorities. Prof. Leland made a strong point, however, when he cited the astonishing number of "governments" in this country possessing the tax power. Counting moth and mosquito districts, and including State, county, municipal, township, school and road districts, &c., he brought the number of "governments" up to a total of "between 250,000 and 500,000."

Simplification and co-ordination of the tax systems of Federal and State governments are now under study in response to a growing demand for relief. The perplexing number of small taxes, as well as the total amount of money paid, are a burden to the taxpayer. Titles to property are sometimes clouded by the unexpected appearance of unpaid bills for taxes levied by districts set up for special purposes. The power to tax, which in the last analysis should be possessed by the sovereign alone, is all too easily granted to transitory boards and commissions charged with relatively unimportant functions.

Prof. Leland advocated a coordinated revenue and taxation system for the United States. Perhaps this would be nearly as difficult of accomplishment as the scrapping of the States; but it is not an academic question. It is an ideal toward which the Government and the States can strive, and even if they do not reach the goal their progress will be in the right direction.

ARMY RETRENCHMENT.

The War Department announces that a cut of $50,000,000 will be made in expenditures for the next fiscal year. In reducing the total from $275,000,000 to $225,000,000 the department has been forced to curtail civilian employment at arsenals, depots and posts. No reduction in the number of officers or enlisted men is necessary. Their training activities, however, will be seriously reduced. Target practice, flying training, research and development studies and many field activities will be omitted. The projected extension of animal and motor programs will be abandoned.

The department announcement states cautiously that "within the limitation of funds every effort has been made to absorb the cuts so as to minimize the impairment of national defense as much as possible." The impairment of national defense thus acknowledged is necessarily of unknown extent. The public can not gain a clear idea of the weakening of army efficiency unless further information is furnished. It is apparent, however, that abandonment of training and target practice can not fail to have an adverse effect upon the regular forces.

The National Guard is to be maintained at its present strength, and will conduct its field and armory training as usual. The War Department seems to have concluded that since the National Guard is the nucleus of any emergency army that might be required, it should be kept in training. In this respect, at least, the elements of national defense are preserved.

If medical experts have isolated the germ of the common cold it ought to be easy to capture and chloroform him.

The meeting of minds in London is rudely disrupted when the delegates see the ten-gallon hat menace.

First of all the World Economic Conference might strive for a moratorium on speeches.

Scrap target practice if you must, Secretary Dern, but don't curtail the Army mule!

Before it finally got away Congress was nearly as jittery as the dollar.

HISTORIC BUILDINGS

From the New York Herald Tribune.

The story of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's appreciative visit to Gadsby Tavern in Alexandria, Va., on the occasion of its opening as a museum is a pleasant reminder that the work of preserving historic houses goes on. This old tavern, scene of Washington's last birthday party, has the guardianship of the Daughters of the Revolution, the Colonial Dames and the American Legion. Patriotic and antiquarian societies throughout the country are similarly active in saving buildings and relics that should be kept secure.

In harmony with this preservative purpose the American Institute of Architects has taken steps to compile a national list of buildings notable for architecture or historic importance, a census of the structures best worth handing down. It will be the first complete American tabulation of the kind. Returns of the survey, which is being conducted by Leicester B. Holland, chief of the Fine Arts Division of the Libraray of Congress, are to be grouped into a series of regional lists, later to be combined in a review of national scope. The details sought include the name and type of the building, its architect, date of erection, original owner, present owner and distinguished features, architectural and historical.

It is likely that such a survey will bring to light many buildings in danger of passing, for whose protection public sentiment will rally. The present feeling for old, historic buildings in the United States is much livelier than that of the last century. Such an enormity, for example, as the destruction of the Hancock mansion on Beacon Hill in Boston would not be tolerated today, nor would like catastrophes much less serious, yet still regrettable, be permitted without a fight. The list of the American Institute of Architects, valuable if only for the record, may also lead to some excellent rescues.

POST HASTE.

Uncle Sam now becomes the silent partner of industry, but will have his megaphone handy, just in case.

The way some nations are running around in circles at London it looks as though they were setting up monetary gyroscopes.

There has been so much criticism of private loans to South America that the R. F. C. proposes to set up a corporation to handle some new ones itself.

It's a wonderful moment in the life of every budding economist when he first realizes it really isn't overproduction that is to blame, but underconsumption and faulty distribution.

An R. F. C. loan to the North Carolina State College didn't look like very good business until it developed that it was to enlarge the seating capacity at the athletic field.

Incidentally, it might be remembered that money never gets cheap enough to put it in the pocket of the man who has nothing to exchange for it.

Europeans are a bit confused over the President's desire to have Congress adjourn and the economic conference convene so he could take a vacation.

Sooner or later somebody is going to hint to Secretary Wallace that it is economic waste to pay bounties for not harvesting crops already planted.

Considering the multitudinous ways in which the Treasury is going to pour out the emergency money, things will have to move or get buried in the deluge.

"Army air service crippled by drafts of officers for forestry camps." Isn't it going to be dangerous for our pets, teaching them to fly among the trees?

From a country that harps as much on security as France, we should have known enough to demand collateral.

A BANK OF LILACS.

I have a bank of lilacs near my door,
A bank that never fails when May returns;
Its lovely dividends grow more and more,
And more and more my gratitude it earns.
The humblest twig is freighted now with bloom
Of purple petals, beautiful to see,
Exquisite tapestry from nature's loom
Which every year the lilacs promise me.

Poor troubled men, perplexed and fretted much,
Build governments their peace to guarantee;
They spoil the things their blundering fingers touch,
Striving for goals they can but dimly see.
Beyond their power great promises they make,
And sorrow follows every failing plan,
But lilacs never falter here or break—
They always keep their promises to man.

Beside my door a bank of lilacs now
In needle point of purple stands arrayed.
Though cold the spring has seemed to us, somehow
The promised dividends are being paid.
The air is sweet with fragrance once again.
Now to the bloom comes back the hungry bee—
A glow of beauty lights my window pane—
My lilac bank has kept its pledge to me.

You Can't Say a Mountain Peak Doesn't Exist Because Man Hasn't Climbed It

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE Bible says: "There is nothing new under the sun."

People awed by the mechanical wonders of this age will answer: "That may have been true when it was written, but it isn't true now. The radio is new. The airplane is new. All of our modern conveniences are new."

But they are new only in the sense that a continent is new when man discovers it.

When some primeval forest was set ablaze by lightning, primitive man discovered that fire would consume the branches of a tree and provide heat for his comfort. And when he came upon a deer roasted in the flames, he discovered that cooking would improve the flavor of meat.

Doubtless then he said to his companions: "It is astonishing how much we know. There is little left for us to learn."

Each age since that time has added a little to man's store of knowledge. And each in turn, complacently viewing its store of wisdom and learning, has assured itself that little remained for man to achieve.

But in all this while the race has found nothing new and the little it has learned is but an infinitesimal fraction of the whole sum of truth.

When the primitive learned to build a fire, he did not find something new under the sun. He merely discovered a fact and adapted to his own uses a natural law, and both the fact and the law were as old as the sun itself.

When a servant of the church learned that cinchona bark would cure malaria, he produced nothing new. He merely made useful to man a fact that had existed always.

When the universe was formed and the first natural law was made, it was a fact that imprisoned steam would produce power, that a machine conforming to the law would fly, that sound could be sent around the earth, that insulin would counteract diabetes.

Man has merely found facts and harnessed laws and made words to describe his work. Nothing is new. Not one atom or one law has been added to the universe.

But there are millions of facts yet to be discovered. Young people need not despair of finding something to do. After centuries of experimentation, men are still discovering new possibilities in iron ore.

Every plant and insect and metal and gas has secrets yet to be learned by man. We haven't even learned the uses of our own glands.

There were new worlds in plenty for Alexander to conquer; the thing that caused his boredom was his own lack of vision.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Public Works on Pay Basis.

Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

President Roosevelt is reported as favoring tolls for all future waterway projects undertaken by the Government. He believes such enterprises should be self-liquidating, making clear that he does not refer to channel improvements and maintenance of rivers and harbors.

The national transportation committee, in its recent report, lays down the general principle that every existing or projected waterway improvement should be tested by application of the principle of self-support and that any project which can not meet the test "should be abandoned without hesitation as an unwarranted waste of public money." They advised against ratification of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty if it could not meet this test of self-support.

Prospects at London.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

As the delegates of 65 nations begin their momentous parley at London, it is plain that great obstacles stand in the way of success. But it is clear also that the governments have come to realize they can not risk total failure, for the cost would be too great. With the complete breakdown of the world economy as the only alternative of deadlock at London, the delegates are determined to get some tangible results.

Garner and Radio.

Kansas City Star.

Vice President Garner refuses an offer of $1,000 a week, or $52,000 a year, for radio addresses, explaining that he does not think it proper for a man in his position to discuss Government or public affairs—that is, to discuss them at so much per word or per minute, thus making the whole business a commercial proposition. On other conditions, the country doubtless would like to hear Mr. Garner discuss public questions. The Vice President's decision in this case is wholly discreet.

Getting Back to Gold.

Montreal Star.

More and more it is becoming evident that the world can not carry on much longer in the present state of currency chaos. There will have to be a general return to an international standard, and that standard is practically sure to be the gold standard. It may be a "reconstructed" gold standard; it may have all sorts of safeguards against abuse and provisions to make it work better, but in essence it will be the same old standard that the world has known. The mere suggestion of an international race to depreciate currency should be sufficient to make all sensible men bend their efforts to securing the speedy resumption of the gold standard internationally.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

UNCLE SAM'S PROSPECTS.

The Oxygen Tank or First Aid to Industry Bill is now a law and if Uncle Sam doesn't recover it won't be because of any lack of pills, ointments, elixers, gargles, tablets and tonics. He will either get better rapidly or wind up under a stone inscribed:

Here he sleeps
The sleep that's long;
The medicine
Was far too strong.

* * * *

Congress left nothing undone that would seriously tend to get the patient up and out in the fresh air again. If he fails to do as well as expected, it will be due to overdosing

* * * *

He has been acting so good for the past two months that it is barely possible all he ever needed was a change of pajamas, and alcohol rub and a little cheerfulness in the sickroom.

* * * *

Already many people think the old boy's failure to get better long ago may have been due to the fact that up to March 4 they kept all the shutters closed and wouldn't let anybody except professional mourners visit the bedside.

* * * *

From the minute Dr. Roosevelt lifted the shades, gave the patient his best newsreel smile and began ordering electric vibrators, sun lamps, good-looking nurses and beer with every meal, Uncle Sam began showing his old-time interest in life, and for the past few weeks there has been a very real fear that he might regain his health before they could try all the new medicines on him.

* * * *

Even now he looks so strong that somebody may have to hold him while the nurses make him take his tonics regularly and in the prescribed doses.

* * * *

The most important thing to do in getting Uncle Sam on his feet is to keep him from reading the details of the new industrial recovery bill. If he discovers all the things the doctors are planning to try on him, he will go back to bed in self-defense.

* * * *

He is to be given so much help that in the long run it may make him anemic.

* * * *

Uncle Sam has always been accustomed to fighting his own way back to health without flowers. How he will react to being lifted, atomized, fanned, massaged and petted back to health remains to be seen.

* * * *

On his journey to recovery he will find himself all wrapped up in accident and health insurance and encounter a First Aid station on every corner.

* * * *

All the old Don't lists are to come down and the patient will be allowed to do anything he likes just as long as it makes him feel better. He can even leap through the plate glass windows of the Anti-Trust laws if he finds it gives him a new grip on life.

* * * *

Well, anyhow, here's to a rapid recovery, Uncle Sam! And if you want our advice, pour some of those pink pills into the sink when the doctors aren't looking.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Grasshopper Pest Damages Crops in the Northwest—Poison Bait Used.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The grasshopper menace again has made its appearance in many sections of Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota. Much first-hand knowledge gained in fighting the pests during the last two years is greatly aiding in their eradication. The war waged upon the hoppers by the farmers has developed to the point where science and skill play an important part. It has been discovered that it is not safe to rely upon natural causes to control the pests, but the application of poison bait has proved successful in abating grasshopper ravages.

This year the swarm was late in hatching, but there are definite signs that some crops have already been damaged. From all indications, however, damage will not be as serious this year as it was last year. If this year's crops can be saved from destruction and damage the number of grasshoppers will be less next season.

PROF. SMITH TALKS ON RELIGIOUS MUSIC

Traces Use of Instruments and Singing in Early Christian Church.

Christianity as a singing religion was emphasized by H. Augustine Smith, professor of the fine arts in religion at Boston University, in a sermon yesterday morning at the National City Christian Church. Prof. Smith conducted a series of conferences on the fine arts and their use in worship at the National City Church on Saturday and yesterday.

The subject chosen by Mr. Smith for his Sunday morning address was "The Music of the Bible and the Singing Church." He said, in part:

"The Christian Church has inherited from the Jew a singing tradition. The Bible is filled with music, if only one will look for it. The superscription to the Psalms indicates that they were sung to old folk tunes like 'The Dove in Far Off Lands' and 'Lilies,' tunes that have perished, but were dear to the people of Asaph's day. Certain Psalms were sung by boys' voices, to the accompaniment of flutes. Nearly all the Psalms were antiphonal, sung by cantor, with the response from the choir, or one choir singing to another.

Trumpet Is Traditional.

"There were 288 singers in the Temple Choir, all robed in white. There were 4,000 members of the orchestra, some playing cymbals, high sounding and shrill, others deep sounding like a gong, others playing long silver trumpets like Aida trumpets, calling congregations to worship. This is still a tradition in many places. Instead of bells and carillons and chimes ringing the people into church, the trumpets blow them in, as at Bethlehem, Pa., and other Moravian centers.

"The kinner was the most beloved of musical instruments, mentioned 37 times in the Old Testament, played in masterly fashion by David, who was a doctor in more ways than one, and exerted both therapeutic and prophylactic influence on Saul's murderous heart. The kinner hung on the willows at Babylon when the Babylonians urged the Jews to sing some of their famous songs, and they could not because of homesickness.

"Selah may be interpreted as an instrumental interlude or symphony. When the priest had aroused Israel to fight its enemy, had stirred them to battle with all his powers, he then turned to the orchestra and said, 'Play battle, play my people into battle,' and the orchestra thundered forth militant strains. When the priest called his people to repentance because of their sins, and had done his utmost to bring them to their knees in the presence of God Almighty, he then turned to the orchestra and said, 'Play searching, throbbing music—bring my people to repent.'

Singing in Early Church.

"In the early church there was singing, for the New Testament opens with three solos and a chorus, the latter being 'Glory to God in the Highest and on Earth Peace, Good Will to Men.' Paul had his troubles, not only with the women of the early church, but with the singers and their man-made hymns. They got excited and sang without thought of words and statements and beliefs. He said: 'Sing with spirit, sing with understanding.'

"Let me stop right here and say we in America are singing more often with spirit than with understanding, with shoe leather rather than with sensitive souls. There is altogether too much high powered salesmanship in worship today. It isn't worship, it is parading of personality—a song leader who burns up with personality, a choir that struts when it sings, a leader of worship whose neckties and mannerisms are the most talked of items in the congregation.

"The Lord deliver us from salesmanship in the Temple. May he chase the money changers from the Temple, yes the sensationalists both in choir and pulpit who smother God in a mighty envelope or whirling gyrations of a cheer leader, a jolly fellow of Rotary song tendencies. If the Christian Church is going to run an ecclesiastical circus, let it say so, and myself and millions of others will step out and find somewhere shrines of beauty, of quiet, of exaltation, of communion with the Infinite. We need today not pep, but poise, not joy songsters, but exalted priests in the Temple of Song and Worship."

Talks to Musicians.

Prof. Smith was introduced to the congregation by Dr. H. H. Harmon, pastor of the church, as one who had made an outstanding contribution to the enrichment of worship in the churches through his work in choral direction and training, hymn editing, religious drama and pageantry.

The vested chorus choir, under the direction of W. E. Braithwaite, minister of music, sang the praise anthem, "Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord, God Almighty," by Stewart, and Helen M. Turley, contralto soloist, sang Parkhurst's "The Master Touched My Heartstrings."

Prof. Smith conducted a conference for directors of music, organists and singers at 4:30 p. m., discussing the theme, "The Renaissance of Church Music." At 6:30 he conducted a tour of his famous "Twilight Temple of Religious Art," and at the evening worship hour presented a festival of music and pictures, in which stereopticon slides were used with synchronized hymns, organ numbers, solos and the spoken word.

Scientists Pursuing Study Of New Particles in Atom

At Least Two More Bodies, Believed Involved in Structure, Being Sought, Dr. Arthur Compton Reveals on Eve of Scientific Meeting.

Chicago, June 18 (A.P.).—Scientists are on the track of at least two new particles inside the atom, it was revealed today on the eve of the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Outlying problems of the atom's structure, which will be discussed this week before the association's meeting here by world experts, Dr. Arthur H. Compton, of the University of Chicago, explained that finding these and possibly other particles inside the atom is now one of the important goals of scientists.

An important aid in the new studies of atoms, Dr. Compton said, will be the deuton, a particle just coming into use as a new "projectile" for smashing atoms. He said it has greater penetrating power than any particles previously used except cosmic rays. Deutons are the centers, or nuclei, of the heavier of the two kinds of hydrogen atoms. They provide a powerful weapon for splitting the centers of atoms of other substances, a step toward the goal of liberating atomic energy on a vast scale and transmuting elements of one kind into another.

The two new particles inside atoms whose existence is suspected are heavy particles with a negative electric charge and possibly also magnetic particles, Dr. Compton said. There are already four kinds of particles that apparently exist in some atoms: The proton, a heavy positively charged particle; the electron, a lightweight particle of negative charge; the neutron, which has no charge, and the positron, which has a positive charge, but is light in weight like an electron.

How these four particles are arranged in the centers of atoms still is largely a mystery, the solution of which it is believed, may open up vast new possibilities in science. Leading authorities on atom smashing will gather this week at the association meeting to report latest results of their research on this subject.

Dr. Compton explained that the atom is fairly definitely known to consist of a center or nucelus, with a positive electric charge, composed of one or more of the four different kinds of particles now known. The nucleus is surrounded by an "atmosphere" of electrons with negative charges. The number of electrons around the nucleus determines whether the atom is an atom of gold, lead, oxygen or any of the ninety-two elements.

The electrons are thought of as spinning around the nucleus, like planets around the sun. They do not move always in the same orbits, as the planets do, however, but are more likely to move in some orbits than in others. Because the lectrons do not always move in the same paths, atoms have no definite "boundaries," Dr. Compton explained. Though atoms are infinitely small, there is a vast relative distance between their centers and the electrons whirling around the outside.

Among scientists who will describe latest advances in knowledge of the atom at this week's session, will be: Dr. Robert A. Millikan, of California Institute of Technology, famous for his studies of cosmic rays; Dr. Niels Bohr, of Copenhagen, Denmark, a pioneer in discovering that electrons rotate around the centers of atoms; Dr. F. W. Aston, of Cambridge University, England, who helped develop knowledge of the chemical forces between atoms, and Dr. E. O. Lawrence, of the University of California, who will tell of recent progress in atom smashing.

NEGRO GRADUATES HOLD VESPER RITES

Miner Teachers Collegians Hear Howard University Professor.

Baccalaureate vespers services of the Miner Teachers College were held yesterday in the auditorium of the Garnet-Patterson Junior High School, the principal address being made to graduates by Dr. Benjamin G. Brawley, professor of English at Howard University. The invocation and benediction were said by the Rev. R. W. Brooks, pastor of the Lincoln Temple Congregational Church.

Dr. Brawley, in discussing a guiding philosophy of modern life, warned the graduates of certain fallacies of the machine age, Communism, humanism and paganism. "Communism," he said, "not only destroys the home and the sacredness of the fireside, but it also crushes personality, and does not give opportunity for development of individual talent.

"Humanism fails when it seeks to give man a meal and a job, unless it strengthens and develops his character. Paganism fails when it worships and overemphasizes the beauties of life, for the finest things in life are the simplest, and their meaning can be understood only through sacrifice."

The occasion was the first baccalaureate address to a four-year class at the college. The academic procession, including Dr. F. I. A. Bennett and Dr. J. H. Johnson, members of the Board of Education, and Garnet C. Wilkinson, assistant superintendent of schools, formed on Vermont avenue and marched to the auditorium. Musical numbers were furnished by the college glee club, led by Marie James.

Ice-Choked Base Halts Italian Hop

Orbetello, Italy, June 18 (A.P.).—A delay in preparations for the arrival on the Labrador coast of the Italian seaplane squadron which is to make an aerial cruise to Chicago will hold up the departure of the fleet until at least the middle of this week.

Meanwhile, unfavorable weather continued in the Alpine region on the route of the first leg of the journey from here to Amsterdam, Holland.

It was learned an icebreaker left St. Johns, Newfoundland, yesterday to aid a supply ship in crossing the ice-choked Belle Isle Straits, in order to reach Cartwright, Labrador, one of the scheduled stops on the aerial cruise. The icebreaker will be unable to reach the supply ship until Tuesday.

Magazine Says Steel Industry Shows Gain

Cleveland, June 18 (A.P.).—The magazine Steel said operations in the industry last week advanced 1 point to 49 per cent of capacity, and forecasts that production this week would be at 50 per cent.

Tin plate activities were placed at between 90 and 95 per cent.

ACTION POSTPONED ON SUGAR TARIFFS

Marketing Plan for Industry to Divide Trade to Be Studied Soon.

(Associated Press.)

The Roosevelt administration has postponed action on sugar tariffs pending a full study of proposals for the establishment of a trade marketing agreement covering the industry, which will begin formally within a few days.

It was disclosed last night that upon the suggestion of the White House, the Tariff Commission has decided to delay presentation of its report covering more than a year's investigation of sugar duties and containing recommendations for changes.

Within ten days representatives of the sugar industry, including domestic cane and beet growers and manufacturers, and those representing Hawaii, the Philippines, Puerto Rico and Cuba, will meet with Secretary Wallace to begin formal consideration of an agreement under which it is proposed that quotas would be fixed for each of them. Each would be assured a definite portion of the American market.

Meeting to Be Called.

A formal call for this meeting is scheduled to be issued today or tomorrow by Wallace and George N. Peek, chief administrator of the farm adjustment act.

Under provision of this law it is possible to draft agreements involving production of agricultural commodities not only in this country but in foreign nations.

Because the working out of an agreement may change entirely the problem presented by the sugar industry, particularly overproduction and low prices, the tariff decision by the administration will remain in the background.

The task of working out the agreement is in the hands of Dr. John Lee Coulter, a member of the Tariff Commission, who has been asked by Wallace to serve as temporary sugar administrator.

Confers With Interests.

Wallace in the past two weeks has conducted a series of conferences with all of the major interests holding a stake in the American sugar supply, including representatives of Cuban importers.

It is understood that many of the fundamentals for an agreement were worked out during those conferences.

The present duty on raw sugar is 2.5 cents a pound.

Cuba operates under the tariff reciprocity treaty of 1903 by which some of its goods enter this country at 20 per cent below the regular duties. A tariff of 2 cents a pound is paid on its raw sugars.

Cuban exporters have complained that this is too high because of the depression prices of sugar in recent years and the increase in competition provided by Hawaii, the Philippines and Puerto Rico, where production has greatly expanded in the last fifteen years. Sugars from those places enter duty free.

Negotiations for the trade agreement, it was said, contemplate the employment of a licensing system under which American refineries would have permits to turn out a given quantity of sugar for the American market each year.

HUGE BUILDING GAIN SPURS AID EFFORTS

129 Per Cent Jump in U. S. Cheers Johnson; He and Key Industries Confer.

(Associated Press.)

Figures showing a huge upturn in expenditures for building construction during May yesterday spurred Federal efforts to provide new business stimulation within a few days through application of the national recovery act.

While the organization of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial administrator, worked over the Sabbath, the Labor Department announced that indicated building outlays in May ran 128.6 per cent above April on a basis of reports from 761 cities having a population of 10,000 or over.

Gen. Johnson indicated his pleasure over the report, particularly the department's statement that the increase over April was more than five times greater than that shown in comparing these two months in 1932.

Labor officials said this was the first time in four years that indicated expenditures for residential buildings were greater in May than in April.

In May, 1930, there was a drop of 6.1 per cent under April for all operations; in 1931, a drop of 19.5; in 1932, a gain of 24.0, and this year, the 128.6 increase.

All indications were that the offices of Gen. Johnson and that of Col. Donald H. Sawyer, administrator of public works, would be by today the busiest places in the Capital.

Working unofficially until now, aided by an all-volunteer staff and lodged in temporary quarters outside of which swarms of job hunters milled, the two administrators expected to create their official organizations, starting today.

Inquiries have been pouring into the public works division from city, county and State officials seeking the direct path to the Government aid for their construction projects. Dozens of delegations are expected to seek words with Gen. Johnson and Mr. Sawyer before the week is out.

Public Hearings Planned Soon.

Public hearings are to be initiated within a few days, it was said, to determine upon the projects which will be set under way immediately with the return of President Roosevelt from his vacation trip.

Gen. Johnson is known to have been in consultation with the key men of the ten major industries of the country and it was indicated that little time would elapse before he would have before him for formal approval the first of the trade agreements designed to raise wages, curtail working hours and stabilize production.

Pending the creation of the official organization, however, which will include announcement by Gen. Johnson of his staff of coordinators for various industries and advisory boards for labor and industry, all direct information about the progress thus far was being carefully withheld.

Meanwhile, announcements from two industries showed the manner in which business leaders are swinging into line to cooperate with Gen. Johnson.

Definite Results Already.

Nelson B. Gaskill, president of the Lead Pencil Institute, said that all manufacturers in the industry, with the exception of one small unit, will immediately raise the hourly base rate for piece work to all labor below the grades of foremen, assistant foremen and office supervisors.

For all labor included within this increase, working hours will be reduced to a maximum of 8 hours per day, with a maximum of 40 hours per week averaged over a period of six months. The actual wage increase was placed at about 10 per cent.

Mr. Gaskill said this was the industry's response in conformity with the industrial recovery act through a code of fair competition which is now being worked out.

At White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., the provisions of the legislation were described as the topic of conversation among executives and managers of the fertilizer industry who gathered for the annual convention of the National Fertilizer Association.

Venerable Auto Is Replaced.

Kansas City, June 18 (A.P.).—Gov. Guy B. Park's venerable motor car, in which he had driven more than 100,000 miles, finally has been placed in limbo along with the "one-hoss shay." The machine, which was used by Park in his campaign for the governorship of Missouri last fall, was traded in here for a new coupe.

Letters and Suicide Note Show Girl Loved Swindler

Denver, June 18 (A.P.).—Donald H. Meyer, assistant district attorney, said today love letters and a suicide note written by a Paducah (Ky.) girl to an internationally known swindler recently convicted in London had revealed a romance between the pair.

The girl was Eva Lillian Watkins, who took poison here January 17. The man is Samuel Allen, alias Samuel Maurice Adesska, convicted May 23 in London of a $72,000 swindle and sentenced to three years penal servitude.

Meyer said the couple met while Miss Watkins was visiting in Denver and Allen was winning the confidence of Denver business and fraternal leaders, who asserted he took from them a considerable sum of cash. Scotland Yard was seeking him.

Whether the girl was aware of Allen's true identity, the prosecutor said, probably never will be known.

Her last letter, written in a downtown hotel, reads:

"Sam: By the time you receive this letter I will be dead. Sam, I want you to know I love you more than any man I've ever known. Try to be good. Love, Lillian."

Allen had just managed a fraternal circus here when the girl wrote the note and ended her life. J. C. Feinberg, a business man, complained Allen had swindled him of $1,000. Meyer detained him and it was learned he was wanted in England.

Meyer said Allen admitted he had three wives.

30,000 Attend Funeral.

Tel Aviv, Palestine, June 18 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—More than 30,000 persons joined in funeral services held here today for Dr. Chaim Arlosoroff, young Zionist labor leader and head of the political department of the Jewish Agency in Palestine, who was shot and killed by two men Friday evening.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

BECAUSE of the copyright war between the broadcasting stations and the composers, radio listeners are to hear more frequent broadcasts of "Mme. Butterfly," "Tosca," "La Boheme," and other Puccini operas, as well as the masterpieces of other great composers whose works have been kept off the air by the past refusal of G. Ricordi & Co., of Milan, owners of these copyrights, to grant licenses for broadcasting purposes. According to the announcement made here yesterday by Oswald F. Schuette, president of the Radio Program Foundation, a contract for air licenses for this catalogue, totaling more than 123,000 compositions, has been made with the Ricordi firm. The foundation, which was created a month ago as a nonprofit cooperative organization of the members of the National Association of Broadcasters, will issue sublicenses to the individual stations.

The announcement that Ricordi music is now available for broadcasting is declared by the broadcasters as making the Radio Program Foundation an important factor in the musical world. It is, at the same time, they assert, a decisive victory for them in their copyright conflict with the American Society of Composers.

"The Ricordi catalogue has always been regarded as one of the greatest musical catalogues in the world," Mr. Schuette said. "During the 125 years of its existence, the Ricordi firm has acquired works of such composers as Beethoven, Bizet, Flotow, Gluck, Gounod, Mascagni, Massonet, Meyerbeer, Mozart, Rossini, Rubinstein, Verdi and Wagner.

"By the threat of an avalanche of infringement proceedings, the American Society has exacted an arbitrary fee from all broadcasting stations, requiring them to pay a fixed percentage of their gross receipts, regardless of the amount or the source of the music used. This exaction prevented stations from dealing freely with independent copyright owners. Negotiations by the Radio Program Foundation with other composers and publishers are pending."

THE Choir of St. Patrick's Church will present over Station WRC tonight at 8:30, the ninth and last program in the series of broadcasts by representative Washington choirs.

This choir of 35 voices is under direction of Miss Jennie Glennan, who is also the organist of the church. The soloists will be Mrs. Norwood Cassidy, soprano; Miss Clelia Fioravanti, contralto; E. Harry Myers, tenor; James Nolan, bass.

The Parody Man, who refuses to sing a song as it was written, will make his bow before the mike this evening (6:15, WJZ network, WRC maybe).

The Parody Man is Harry Fink, vaudeville and musical comedy headliner, who has provoked laughs across the footlights for more than a decade. He first attracted the attention of Tin Pan Alley with "The Curse of an Aching Heart" or "You Made Me What I Am Today."

The first of the summer concerts by Edwin Franko Goldman and his band, in New York, will be carried over the WEAF network (but not WRC) at 8:30 p. m. today.

Horace Liveright, book publisher, will tell in "I've Seen Them All" of many of the eccentricities of your favorite author when he faces the WJSV microphone during the broadcast of "America's Grub Street" at 7:45 p. m. today.

THE famous old play, "Rip Van Winkle," will be revived in a radio verison by the Radio Guild this afternoon at 3 o'clock over WMAL.

Bob Beneon, the world's youngest high diver, noted for his plunge of 110 feet into 7 feet of water, will be interviewed over WRC at 7 p. m. today. The discussion will be on "High Diving and Life Guards."

Secretary of Labor Perkins and Dr. Glenn Frank will be heard at the University of Wisconsin commencement. (WMAL—11:30 a. m.)

The United Chorus of the American Union of Swedish Singers is to sing native Swedish melodies over WJSV at 8 p. m. Picked up from the grounds of the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago, the chorus of 600 voices will be heard as the climax of the Swedish Day celebration at the fair.

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE WALLACE and George N. Peek, manufacturer, will be on deck at WJSV at 10:15 o'clock tonight in connection with the farm situation.

The Old Irish Philosopher, mighty like "Mr. Dooley," will pay his respects to the departing Congress over WMAL at 9 p. m.

The Philosopher is Tommy Brahany, Washingtonian, former newspaper correspondent, whose Irish stories are the life of the party wherever he is.

"The Adventures of Tarzan" will be heard, in a recording, in Washington over WJSV beginning this afternoon at 5:15 p. m. All sound effects used on the transcription are real—sound effects men having worked for months in zoos throughout the country to obtain the various jungle sounds necessary to the production.

"An Evening in Paris," will present a series of summer programs of light dance music over WJSV at 8:30 p. m., on Monday evenings, starting tonight.

"RASPUTIN," whose story has been told in literature, the motion-pictures and now in popular song, will be further portrayed by the Travellers Quartet when they feature a novelty number based on his career during their program with Dolph Martin's Orchestra over WJSV at 6:30 p. m.

A New Yorker AT LARGE

By MARK BARRON.

New York—Ambling through the night:

A subtly perfumed note in a woman's handwriting arrives. . . . It's an invitation from Hannah Williams to join her party when she makes her debut at a fashionable rural club. . . . "Please be there," she urges. . . . Barbara Stanwyck, Frank Fay and several others are there, too. . . . We wait and wait, but Hannah doesn't put in an appearance.

Perhaps romance had something to do with it. . . . There have been constant rumors that Hannah and Jack Dempsey soon will trip up to the altar together. . . . But when that happens, Dempsey wants her to give up her stage career.

New York Waits.

"I should like to go back to Asia," Blasco Ibanez once told Paul Morand, "in order to write the novel of Shanghai." . . . And one wonders when some one will write the real novel of New York. . . . There have been hundreds of novels written about this adventurous metropolis, but I don't think any of them ever caught the real spirit, the real atmosphere, of it.

Washington Irving, if he were living today, could do it. . . . So could O. Henry. . . . Michael Arlen and Maurice Dekobra might do it. . . . Paul Morand and Ford Madox Ford probably are fitted for the task. . . . Odd, isn't it?—that those four men I think best understand New York are all foreigners. . . . Arlen is an Armenian, Ford an Englishman, Dekobra and Morand are Frenchmen. . . . But New York really is a foreign city.

All Things to All Men.

Manhattan is a composite of almost every city you have ever known. . . . Noel Coward once told me, "New York is the only city I have ever seen where I can live for long and not be overcome by nostalgia for London. The air, the streets, the people—everything about it reminds me of London."

Morand himself says that New York has somehting "definitely French" about it. . . . With the exception of a few obscure French colonial posts in the tropics, it is the one place he has found that has French atmosphere.

The point is well illustrated by Emil Ludwig in his drama of the Versailles peace conference. . . . Orlando is represented as saying, "Fiume has 800,000 Italians living there. That territory must go to Italy." Woodrow Wilson is represented as replying humorously, "New York has a million Italians. Do you want that, too?"

NATS BEAT BROWNS IN 1ST, 14-1, BUT DROP 2D, 3-2

Myer Pounds Two Homers And Bluege One; Chances Die Unused in Final Game

Crowder Gives 6 Hits in First, Comrades Registering 15.

St. Louis Outhit, But Hadley Fans Nine to Take Last.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

SPORTSMANS PARK, St. Louis, Mo., June 18.—The quaint old Washington custom of splitting double-headers exerted its magic spell over the Nats today and their winning streak is no more.

The Washington Ball Club Alumni Association, which forms quite a colony with the last-place Browns, held a little get-together in the second game and turned in a 3-2 victory for St. Louis after the Nats had pounded out a 14-to-1 triumph in the opening performance behind the six-hit pitching of Al Crowder.

It was in the books. Five times this year the Nats have played double-headers. And five times they have earned no better than an even break.

Their even break today cost them a full-blow opportunity to gain a full game on the Yankees, who, the score board had revealed, had just lost the second game of a double-header at Chicago. So the Nats remained stationary, still one and one-half games behind the lead.

Hadley Fans Nine Nats.

The Nats met up with three of their old club fellows in the second game. Bump Hadley was bumped for eleven hits, but he struck out nine anl left ten to perish on base. Sammy West, once a member of the Washington varsity, smacked a home run in the first inning to put the Browns in the lead. But in the final analysis it was Carl Reynolds who beat 'em.

Reynolds had figured in one of the three precious runs with a clean single off Al Thomas in the first inning, but in the eighth he bobbed up with the play that saved the game. The tying run was on third base when Reynolds took Sewell's liner in left field and threw a perfect strike over the plate to nip Kuhel at home for a double play.

Buddy Myer's second homer of the day was mixed up in the eleven hits off Hadley.

Myer Hits Homer On First Pitch.

Myer sounded the keynote in the opening encounter when he smacked Blah-holder's first pitch atop the right-field pavilion roof for a home run. The Nats had two runs for their first-inning efforts when Heinie Manush pounded a triple to center and scored on Schulte's infield demise.

The Nats' bludgeons were still belching basehits in the second inning, and they boosted the lead to 4 to 0 when Bluege singled, Sewell doubled and Manush singled. It was 5 to 0 in the sixth when Kuhel pounded a double off Scharein's shins and scored on Sewell's fly. At this point the Browns took steps to avert a shut out, scoring their only run of the game in West's double to right and Burns' single.

Manager Killefer finally took Blahholder out of the ball game with two out in the ninth after the Nats had scored four runs in the eighth and five more in the ninth.

Ossie Bluege's fourth home run of the season was the pivotal blow of the eighth. Three runs scored on the wallop.

Nine Nats went to bat in the ninth. Kuhel walked and errors by Scharein and Garms filled the bases. Kuhel scored one run with a long fly.

Braves Defeated Twice by Pirates

Boston, June 18 (A.P.).—The Braves opened a home stay by dropping a double-header to the Pirates today, 5 to 3 and 4 to 3. The second game was called at the end of the eighth to comply with the Sunday law.

Ed Brandt was greeted by a 5-run barrage in the first inning of the opener and was relieved by Leo Mangum, who held the Pirates scoreless the remainder of the game. Wally Berger hit his twelfth homer in the sixth.

Boston was leading 3 to 2, at the start of the eighth inning of the second game. Huck Betts weakened, however, and allowed two runs, on a triple by Paul Waner, Traynor's single and doubles by Vaughan nad Thevenow.

Indians Shut Out Boston Twice

Win 7 to 0, and 4 to 0, as 18,000 Fans Look On.

Tenth Victory, Fifth Shutout for Pitcher Hildebrand.

CLEVELAND, June 18 (A.P.). The Cleveland Indians pounced on the Boston Red Sox and delivered a double shutout, 7 to 0, in the first game, and 4 to 0 in the second.

Oral Hildebrand pitched his tenth victory and fifth shutout of the season in the first game, holding the Red Sox batters to three singles. Only one opponent, Gooch, reached second base. Lloyd Brown started for Boston and was replaced in the last of the third by Bob Kline.

Eighteen thousand fans saw the contests.

WISE MONEY GOING ON PRIMO

Broadway Predicts a Baer vs. Carnera Title Bout.

By JACK CUDDY.

NEW YORK, June 18 (U.P.)—Broadway believes that Jack Dempsey's new deal for the heavyweight boxing situation will result in a September title bout between Primo Carnera and Maxie Baer.

The new deal worked out like this: Last year, Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, induced Dempsey to buck Madison Square Garden as a big-time promoter because of Schmeling's break with the Garden. Dempsey's decision to enter the promoting field resulted in Schmeling meeting Maxie Baer instead of entering a return bout with Champion Jack Sharkey.

With Schmeling matched against Baer, Madison Square Garden was forced to seek a challenger for Sharkey by an elimination tournament from which Carnera emerged on top, after the death of Ernie Schaaf.

Schmeling Defeat Upsets Plans.

Unfortunately for Jacobs, Schmeling was stopped in the tenth round by Baer, whom Jacobs considered a palooka. This unexpected victory for the Livermore mauler boosted him into the limelight as a great drawing card.

Now, the layers of "wise money" are leaning more and more toward a Carnera victory over Sharkey in their title brawl at the Garden's outdoor stadium a week from Thursday night.

If Carnera does beat Sharkey, and this writer believes he will, it will pave the way for a championship bout between the Italian giant and the big, hard-hitting Californian, one of the best title "naturals" in years—a fight certain to attract a huge gate.

Dodgers Are Outhit, But Beat Phils, 3 to 1

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 18 (A.P.).—Although outhit, the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Phillies by 3 to 1 today and regained possession of sixth place in the National League standing. The rival pitchers—Jim Elliott and Ray Benge—went the route for their respective clubs.

Lefty Bryan Captures Indiana Tennis Crown

New Albany, Ind., June 18 (A.P.).—Lefty Bryan, of Chattanooga, today won the Indiana State tennis crown by defeating John McDiarmid, of Fort Worth, Tex., in the finals of the annual tournament here. The scores were 6—2, 3—6, 7—5, 6—0. Bryan was seeded No. 1 in the tournament and McDiarmid No. 2.

The mixed doubles title was won by Daniel Barr, of Dallas, Tex., and Catherine Wolf, of Elkhart, Ind., who defeated Earl Bossong and Betty Nichols, both of Cincinnati, 6—1, 6—3.

Finals in other events were played yesterday.

GIANTS DOWN CUBS, 2 TO 0, IN DUEL

Warneke Gives Four Hits But Is Beaten By Parmelee.

NEW YORK, June 18 (A.P.).—The Giants turned back the first Western threat to their hold on first place in the National League today by defeating the Chicago Cubs, 2 to 0, in a brilliant mound duel between Leroy Parmelee and Lon Warneke.

Parmelee, although found for eight hits, managed to keep them sufficiently scattered. The Cubs had men on bases in every inning except the sixth, and the eighth against his pitching, but only once could they get a runner as far as third when the young flinger bore down.

Tigers Defeat A's In Double-Header

Detroit, June 18 (A.P.).—Detroit took both ends of a double-header from Philadelphia here today, scoring two runs in the ninth to win the first, 3 to 2, and making good use of thirteen hits and six Athletic errors to take the nightcap, 11 to 7.

Jimmy Foxx got his fifteenth homer of the season in the ninth inning of the opener to put the A's ahead, then dropped a pop fly in the Tiger half to let in the winning run.

Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe went the route for the Tigers in the second game, yielding thirteen hits but bearing down in the pinches and striking out ten men.

The attendance was 24,000, largest of the season at Navin Field.

U. S. Golfer One of Four Choices

Dunlap Highly Rated to Capture British Amateur Crown.

Five Other American Entrants in Event Starting Today.

HOYLAKE, England, June 18 (A.P.).—Out of a near record field of 269, British golfing critics tonight selected an American, George Dunlap; a Canadian, C. Ross Somerville; a Scotsman, Jack McLean, and an Englishman, Cyril Tolley, to fight it out for the British amateur championship, opening tomorrow over the Royal Liverpool Club's layout.

Somerville's play and personality have impressed critical Britsh golfers; Tolley's checkered links career has entered a new phase of brilliant play, and Dunlap's Walker Cup record and his pre-tournament practice makes him one of the favorites.

McLean Chief Hope Of Scots.

It is upon McLean, however, that most of the speculation has centered. Unknown internationally, Jack leads a band of hopeful Scots determined that the title shall rest north of the Tweed for the first time since Bob Harris won in 1925.

With the defending champion, John De Forest, playing erratically this season, McLean is the old country's best hope against Dunlap. Somerville, who holds the United States amateur crown, and Tolley, who has played most of his golf the past two years in America.

Authough Dunlap is the chief hope, the United States also will be represented by Joshua Crane, of Brookline, Mass., and William Mandel, New York acrobatic comedian, as well as by three Americans who live in England—Douglas Grant, of California, and Robert and Charles Sweeney, of New York.

Australians Beat Japanese Netmen

Auteuil, France, June 18 (U.P.).—An all-British final in European zone Davis Cup play seemed virtually certain when Australia eliminated Japan here today in the semifinal, after a three-match sweep, while at Eastbourne, England, Great Britain needed only one more match to eliminate Czechoslovakia when play is resumed tomorrow after the Sunday holiday.

Jack Crawford and Adrian Quist, of Australia, today turned back Jiro Satoh and Ryoeuka Nunoi, of Japan, 7—5, 7—9, 3—6, 6—3, 6—3, in the doubles.

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

St. Louis, Mo., June 18.

The Nats won the first game today with 13 runs to spare. Too bad some of 'em were not retroactive in the second game, which they lost, 3 to 2. In that second game, the Nats missed more opportunities than a peeping Tom in a nudist colony.

Buddie Myer, ordinarily a sober young fellow, went on a home run tear this afternoon. He had only two homers to his credit before the double-header today, but by the time it ended he had doubled his total.

The Nats made 15 hits and 14 runs off George Blah-holder in the first game before Manager Killefer mercifully got him out of there. His move was in the nature of an insult to Alvin Crowder, who had just made the fifteenth hit for Blah-holder. Crowder's hit convinced Killefer that his big pitcher had nothing on the ball this afternoon.

The Nats' only consolation in their division of the two games with the Browns is the fact that the Yankees also split at Chicago, But the Indians climbed to within two and one-half games of the Nats by taking two, although there is some balm in the fact that the A's dropped two to the Tigers and slumped to five games back of the Nats.

Heinie Manush didn't delay hitting safely in his twenty-first consecutive game. He slammed Blahholder's first pitch to center for a triple. And he didn't delay in his twenty-second straight game, pounding Hadley's first pitch to him for a single to center in the final battle.

Too bad the Nats was making their hits to order in the second game. Manush had three straight hits in his first three times at bat, but in the ninth with the tying run on base, he drove into a double play.

Dave Harris got his fill of right-handed pitching today. He didn't make a hit all afternoon. He struck out with two men on in the first inning of the second game, hit into a force play in the third inning, and popped to Hadley when he tried to bunt in the fifth.

The Nats missed Goslin's big bat, which he is now using as a crutch. The Goose suffered a recurrence of an old leg injury and appeared today as only a pinch hitter. When he was called out on a question-

GODWIN 2-1 CHOICE OVER NICHOLS AT TWIN CITY TONIGHT

Ex-Champs To Clash in Feature

Light-Heavies Fight for Go at Maxie Rosenbloom.

Four Other Bouts on Card as Laurel Arena Opens.

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON.

BOB GODWIN will be a 2-1 favorite over George Nichols tonight when they answer the bell for the first of their 10-round bout, feature of the opening card at Twin City Arena, near Laurel. But there will be plenty of Nichols supporters in the audience not only willing but anxious to risk their dough on the Buffalo southpaw.

The fight is of major importance to the contenders, both of whom are angling for a bout with Champion Maxie Rosenbloom. The new York playboy took away the title from Godwin soon after the Georgian won it from Joe Knight. Knight, in turn, had decisively beaten Nichols, who came into possession of the crown via an elimination tournament.

Both Handicapped in Title Bouts.

Brittle hands and cuts over the eyes handicapped Nichols in defending the honors against Knight. His blows were necessarily light taps that failed to bother the Southerner, who pecked away at his opponent's bad eyes to win in a walk.

Godwin fought Rosenbloom under similar circumstances. Maxie worked on Godwin's eyes until cuts suffered in training bled profusely, causing the referee to award the decision to the present titleholder on a technical K.O.

Barring unforeseen accidents tonight's battle looms as a real attraction. Both principals are in tip-top shape and with a Rosebloom bout in sight prepared to go the limit.

Ray Bowen tangles with George Harmen in the six-round semifinal. A very business-like young man in the ring, Bowen is slightly favored over the hard-punching Harmon.

Other preliminaries include Harry Kersey vs. Carey Wright; Doug Swetnam vs. Sammy Lucas, all six-round arguments, and Bill Bullock vs. Tad Lewis, four rounds.

A remodeled layout will greet the customers tonight with ye olde tyme suds and pretzels much in evidence. The ring has been moved closer to the lower-priced seats on the south side of the arena so that all will have a close-up view of the proceedings.

Tickets can be obtained at Goldie Ahearn's haberdashery and Atlas Sport Shop. Buses will leave the Annapolis Hotel at 7 o'clock, carrying patrons to and from the arena for 50 cents.

AROUND THE RING SELECTIONS—Godwin to beat Nichols; Bowen to beat Harmon, Wright over Kersey, Swetnam ahead of Lucas, and Bullock to take Lewis.

NATS DIVIDE TWO WITH BROWNS

Take First, 14-1, But Drop Second, 3-2, to Hadley.

Bluege scored two with a single to center, Sewell scored Bluege with a double to center, and Crowder scored Sewell with a single to center. Exit Mr. Blah-holder.

In the first inning of the second game, Sammy West smacked Al Thomas for a home run into the left-field stands, and then Carl Reynolds rifled a single to right and went to third when Dave Harris kicked the ball. Campbell's fly scored him.

A pair of singles by Manush and Cronin, and the latter's stolen base, had gone to waste in the Nats' first, when Hadley struck out Harris and Schulte, and in the second he struck out Berg and Thomas with Bluege on base.

Buddy Myer closed the gap to 2-1 when he led off the third with his second homer of the day onto the right-field roof, but Hadley left three other Nats to perish on base when he fanned Kuhel after being in a hole, and with the bases still full and 3-0 on Bluege, finally forced him to pop out.

A fifth inning with lots of possibilities netted the Nats only one run after Harris failed to lay down a good bunt and Manush was forced out at third. The Nats got their lone run on Schulte's single that scored Cronin from second, to tie the score at 2-2.

There were further possibilities in the sixth, but the Nats went runless. Bruce Campbell untied it a moment later with a smashing homer over the right field stands to give the Browns a 3-2 lead.

All other Washington misfortunes paled in comparison to the sad result of the eighth. Kuhel led off with a double to left and the tying run was on third after Bluege's sacrifice. Luke Sewell lined one to Carl Reynolds and Kuhel dashed for home only to fall a victim to Reynolds' perfect throw, completing a double play.

They wrote the obituary of the Nats in the ninth when Manush hit into a double play after Myer's single with one out.

Cards-Reds Split; Dean Wins, Loses

Cincinnati, June 18 (A.P.).—Dizzy Dean hurled the St. Louis Cardinals to victory in a one-sided contest with the Cincinnati Reds today, 13 to 1, and then was marked up as the losing pitcher in the second game of a double-header, which the Reds took by a score of 6 to 5.

Dean had an easy time in the first game, when the Cards fell on three Red pitchers for 18 hits. He pitched only the eighth inning of the second game, during which Cincinnati pushed over the winning run.

LANHAM TEAMS BOW.

Lanham unlimited and junior baseball teams both were defeated yesterday at Lanham, the former bowing to the Wash B. Williams All-Stars, 7 to 4, and the latter to the Mount Rainier Seniors by 15 to 6.

Pitcher Smith of the Williams team hit a homer in the seventh inning with the bases full, to give his team the victory. Bill Hickerson and Chester Mills pitched for the Lanham unlimiteds.

BATTLING the BRITISH

This is another of a series of personality sketches on members of the United States Ryder Cup golf team.)

By PAUL MICKELSON.

CHICAGO, June 18 (A.P.).—When Olin Dutra, the towering Spanish senor from Santa Monica, Calif., first took up golf seriously as a caddy, he decided to develop a swing.

His club was 5 miles away, so he picked up the biggest golf stick he could find—he says it was like a wagon tongue—and swung it every few steps all the way, coming and going.

American golf professionals were convinced Dutra was waving a magic wand last summer as he stepped out of the ranks of the average golfers to blaze a par-breaking trail seldom, if ever, equalled.

Too Hot to Handle.

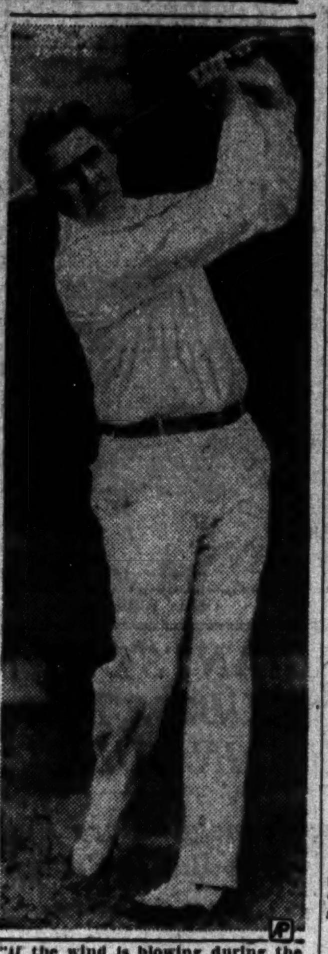
Opening his championship rush in New York, he clubbed out the amazing record of 516 holes in 39 shots under par as he captured the Metropolitan, North Shore, National Professional and Southern California open championships, and the medal of the San Francisco match play open.

He slumped after that dizzy pace, lost a special "world's championship" match to Gene Sarazen, 11 and 10, and then came back to land among the big money winners of the winter tour.

Dutra not only is one of the physical giants of golf, but one of its most conscientious trainers. Before any tournament you can see the big senor testing his skill with every club for hours at a stretch.

If the big wind blows up from across Ireland during the Ryder Cup matches, Dutra's British foe might as well join the gallery. He's one of the best wind players in the business. With long tee shots boring into the gales of Keller last year, he was right at home during his romp to the P. G. A. crown.

"The only criticism any one could make of Dutra's game is that he has a habit of playing his opponent too much instead of par," one experienced observer remarked after Olin had taken a licking from Sarazen in their special match.



"If the wind is blowing during the Ryder Cup matches, Olin Dutra's opponent might as well join the gallery," say admirers of the big California Spaniard.

He finished in a tie for seventh place in the National Open with 295 strokes.

Goslin Reinjures Leg; Out of St. Louis Series

Special to The Washington Post.

St. Louis, Mo., June 18.—The Nats, in the thick of the flag race, received an unexpected setback today when Goose Goslin was missing from the line-up for the double-header with the Browns.

Goslin's big bludgeon, which had rapped out fourteen hits in his last nineteen times at bat and played a prominent role in the six straight victories of the Nats, was kept inactive by the recurrence of a leg injury sustained in Washington earlier in the season. Goslin was in pain today, although making his appearance as a pinch hitter. He is not expected to play in the final game of the series here tomorrow, but is determined to return to the line-up for the opener in Chicago on Wednesday. Trainer Mike Martin also expressed the belief that Goslin would be available for the Chicago series.

MILLIONAIRE WINS RACE CLASSIC

Cops $23,500 Grand Steeplechase at the Auteuil Course.

AUTEUIL, France, June 18 (A.P.).—Jules Fribourg's Millionaire won the fifty-sixth running of the grand steeplechase over a 6,500-meter course today to capture the major share of a purse of 500,000 francs (about $23,500 at current exchange).

Millionaire won by four lengths from Alexandre Aumont's El Hadjar and paid 49 francs 50 centimes for 5 in the betting. Ernest Ballero's Agitato, the favorite, was third, two lengths behind El Hadjar. Four lengths farther back in fourth place was Mrs. Constance Coolidge's Yarlas.

The Browns took on a better appearance in the second game when Melillo and Storti returned to the infield for the first time in two weeks.

The grand-stand managers, all 2,000 of them who turned out for the Sunday double-header, were giving the St. Louis hitters their orders in the first inning of the second game. "Hit it to Harris!" they shouted. Dave had just kicked Reynolds' single for two extra bases, and dropped Storti's fly after getting it in his mitt.

Goslin is not expected to return to the line-up tomorrow, but neither will Harris if the Browns turn up their right-handed pitcher in the box. Sam Rice will get the call.

Manager Cronin will feed the Browns some southpaw pitching in the person of Walter Stewart tomorrow in the last of the series. With Hadley and Blah-holder used up, any choice of Killefer's will be a bad one.

The Nats' first four hits of the opening game were comprised of a homer, triple, double and single. Luke Sewell supplied the double and hit two more before the panic was over.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: LINCOLN FIELDS, JUNE 18.

Heard a pretty fair one regarding Watch Her, the filly that ran away for four miles, jumped the fence and after being returned to the Belmont course by a traffic policeman, proceeded to lead her field from start to finish. It is said that a racing paper had the following notation behind her name: "May need racing." And I understand that bookies were laying 100-1 that she wouldn't win after she was led back to the barrier. If you must do a little wagering tomorrow, all you need is dough're me and these. BILL.

FIRST RACE—WIRT G. BOWMAN is the logical choice in the opener. Showed some fine closing speed the last time out and will appreciate the added distance. MADELON and ADSUM are prepared to battle it out for the place.

SECOND RACE—TWISTED THREADS earns his keep in this kind of races. Gets in with only steadying weight, and I'm looking no further for the winner. ESKIMO is one to respect. DR. PARRISH for the show end.

THIRD RACE—MASKED PRINCE will draw a world of play in this sprint and seems to warrant the backing unless there is something a lot better than shown in the field. CURASSIER and LEGALITY to fill out the money picture.

FOURTH RACE—BATTY ran a splendid race the other day and gave indications of doing even better. Carries only 102 pounds. The consistent LASALLE is the one to beat. SAD KNIGHT'S last was promising. May be third.

FIFTH RACE—CELTIC PRINCE is evidently sharp again. I remember a race he should have won in Maryland last fall that would make this field look silly. Needs only a ride. SULTRY and CAIUS are the most dangerous of the others.

SIXTH RACE—Looks like the Audley Farm might pick up a purse with CODETTA. This one showed to advantage the other day. PANTALOONS is well liked by the stable and may be close. NIGHT JASMINE is in good shape and looks like a good show proposition.

SEVENTH RACE—ANNIMESSIC is improved over last season and may provide an upset in this race. BY GRACIOUS appears to be the favorite. SANDWRACK won for me the last time, but carries top weight and moves up several notches in class.

EIGHTH RACE—RED CASINO has turned in a winning effort for me, and I'm going back. Looks like a good price. BABEE and ROYAL TREASURE for the rest.

Considine and Moore Win in Chiseler Play

George Considine and Reuben Moore advanced another step toward the finals of the Chiselers Club tournament yesterday when Considine defeated Carol Huls, and Moore beat Bennett Swenson and Mariano Erana.

In doubles play yesterday Elwood Hoffecker and Charlie Dreschler defeated Jack Murray and Baker, and Gene Hermann and Charlie Tompkins defeated Red Steinhauser and Al Martin.

Today's doubles pairings follow:

11 a. m., Nelson and Flynn vs. Hermann and Tompkins; 2 p. m., Burns and Abram vs. Avery and Avery; 3 p. m., Lee and Partner vs. Osborne and Ritzenberg; 5 p. m., Blanchard and Partner vs. Johnson and Arana.

All matches before 5 at Monument courts, after 5 at Henry.

Capital Cricket Team Drops 2 to Plainfield

Washington Cricket Club dropped two games to the Plainfield (N. J.) cricketers at Langley Park yesterday. The scores were 114 to 44 and 59 to 54.

W. Orton's batting for the winners featured the game. He went through both frays without losing his bat, scoring 58 runs. T. Priestley bowled well for the visitors, while Ingledew's work was best for the locals.

Coleman and O'Shocker Friends Outside Ring

A rassle version of "Abie's Irish Rose" will be presented on the mat at Griffith Stadium Thursday night when Abie Coleman, Jewish idol, bangs away with that red-haired, freckled-neck Irisher, Pat O'Shocker.

Coleman, highly potent despite his abbreviated build, confesses that smiling Pat is one of his best friends.

But, Abie says, there will be no tomfoolery surrounding this tie-up.

In the cofeature, Dick Shikat meets Paul Jones.

Natators Vie Tonight at Glen Echo

More Than 30 Stars Will Compete for Honors.

A FIELD of more than 30 natators will vie tonight at Crystal Pool, Glen Echo, in the first outdoor swimming meet of the season. The event has been sanctioned by the District A. A. U.

Only one championship will be decided in each of the men's and women's division, high board diving, although several races are scheduled in both classes.

Onalene Lawrence, Marie Duval, Lois Bates and Leonora Taube will compete for the women's crown, but a half dozen entrants seek the men's championship. John Broaddus, Bob Knight, Knox Moncure and Norman Smith are the outstanding contestants.

Three events, in addition to the diving are listed in each division. Shoreham, Ambassador Clubs, Washington Canoe Club and Y. M. C. A. have entered teams, and swimmers from George Washington University and several high schools will compete.

The entries:

DOR-A WINS FOURTH IN ROW

Woltz Team Is Beaten, 15 to 6

Tighten Grip on Lead in Capital City Unlimited Race.

Stantons, Millers and Barbers Also Win Their Games.

Colonials dropped out.

THE league-leading Dor-A Team chalked up its fourth consecutive victory to strengthen its grip on first place in the Capital City League yesterday. Woltz Photographers were the victims, losing by the score of 15 to 6.

Stantons continued in second place by handing the Griffith-Consumers a 7-to-5 setback, while the Millers held on to third place with a well-earned 1-to-0 triumph over St. Joseph's, and Certified Barbers gained undisputed possession of fourth place by thrashing the Federal A. C., 13 to 5.

Bob Snyder, with three hits in as many trips to the plate, was the hero of the Stanton's triumph, Harry Milburn's airtight pitching was responsible for the Millers' win over St. Joseph's, while Hawk's hitting featured the Burruto Boys' win.

Another slugger, Wyatt, who got four out of five, starred for Dor-A.

Congressional Golf Field Is Swelled to Record 457

By DAVE HERMAN.

THE field in the Congressional Country Club invitation golf championship, slated to occupy the spotlight tomorrow, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, was skyrocketed to 457 yesterday with the receiving of 36 additional entries, several of whom are outstanding players.

A number of out-of-town golfers were among the post entries. They are Talbott Speer and W. D. Waxter, jr., Baltimore Country Club stars; Al Schauman, of Rodgers Forge, and Ben Buick, of Boston Country Club.

There will be plenty of practicing on the long and rigid course today.

Here are the pairings and starting times of the late entrants, as announced by Chairman Bill McEvoy:

TOMORROW.

8:25, C. V. Darby (Manor); 8:55, Mike Lynch (unattached); 11:30, Mel Bennett (Congressional), Howard Eallis (Indian Spring) and Frank J. Kelly (Congressional); 11:35, Merle Thorpe, jr. (Burning Tree); 12:21, Dr. John Shugrue (Congressional) and Paul Heston (Columbia); 12:30, Ray Garrity (Manor) and Lee Donnelly (Manor); 2:25, T. Talbott Speer (Baltimore C. C.) and W. B. Waxter (Baltimore C. C.); 3:30, W. H. Wendell (Washington G. and C. C.) and Al Schuman (Rodgers Forge).

WEDNESDAY.

7:15, C. C. Heath (Manor) and T. W. Stoddard (Manor); 7:55, Ben Buick (Boston C. C.); 8:00, George Sullivan (unattached); 8:05, Andrew Oliveri (unattached); 8:10, Henry L. Neemyer (Kenwood); 8:15, R. A. Koontz (Manor); 8:15, F. V. Drawn (Kenwood); 8:20, H. F. Dunn (Kenwood); 8:25, J. J. Cullinane (Manor); 8:30, Al T. Johnson (Manor); 8:40, Carrol Dunning (unattached); 8:45, Dr. L. E. Gray (Manor); 8:50, J. L. Downey (unattached); 8:55, E. J. Mahan (unattached); 9:00, Dr. C. A. Hixon (Washington); 9:05, R. M. Barnett (Congressional); 9:10, C. R. Sammon (Congressional).

Fifty-six women golfers will begin the grind this morning in the annual District championship at Kenwood, with Mrs. J. Marvin Haynes, of Columbia, installed as the prime favorite. The medal round will consist of 18 holes.

Mrs. Ora Emge, Beaver Dam; Miss Florence Scott, Indian Spring, and Mrs. Leo Walper, Kenwood, will be the first to tee off at 8.

A new champion will be crowned, since Mrs. Hugh Nicholson is not a contestant.

Bob Barnett, Chevy Chase pro, teamed with Al Houghton, Kenwood maestro, yesterday at Beaver Dam to turn back Cliff Spencer, of the home club, and his brother, Glenn, Maryland Country Club pro, in a special match, 4 and 3.

Both Barrett and Houghton were in top form, each scoring a 72, one above par, and coming dangerously close to tying Cliff Spencer's unofficial course mark of 70.

Gilbert Hahn will meet Herman Shapiro and Melvin Kraft will face Lou Harris next Sunday in the semifinals of the handicap match play tournament at Woodmont Country Club.

Hahn yesterday defeated Al Steinem, 2 and 1; Shapiro sprang the grand surprise by eliminating Dr. Dewey Gottleib, 5 and 4; Kraft put out Bill Illch, 2 and 1, while Harris beat Henry Breslau, 6 and 5.

In the consolation flight, Sam Kaufman beat Bob Baum, 1 up; Maurice Eiseman beat Morris Goldstein, 1 up; Jack Shulman beat Arthur Stephens, 1 up. Fulton Brylawski and Ralph Goldsmith postponed their match.

High handicaps help when a golfer surprises himself with a good round in a sweepstakes.

Dr. Charles Bassaches had a 38 rating yesterday at Woodmont, and shot an even 100 for a 62 net and first prize. Joseph Mazo had 107, a 48 handicap for a 65 and second prize. Stanley Glaser, with 89—21—68 and Leopold Freudberg, with 86—18—68, tied for third prize.

E. A. Ross, with 92—15—77, was awarded first prize in the blind bogey tournament conducted by Tony Sylvester at Bannockburn yesterday.

C. W. Schaefer and F. P. Smith defeated J. G. Remey and H. K. Beck and M. L. Keogh and Jack Turner, jr., defeated Harry Grier and R. C. Gibson, 2 and 1, to enter the finals of the annual two-man golf championship at Manor yesterday.

Royce Hough teamed with Virginia Pope, District junior champion, yesterday at Kenwood, to score an 84 and win low gross honors in the mixed Scotch foursome. Mr. and Mrs. Maury Fitzgerald, with a 66 net, tied for first low net with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Brown.

Craig McKee, transplanted Iowan, eliminated Tom Belshe, former club champion, by 1 up in an exciting semifinal match in the Tribal Bowl tournament yesterday at Indian Spring, and will battle Earl McAleer, left-handed sharpshooter, for the championship next Sunday. McAleer conquered M. Parker Nolan, 2 and 1.

Mrs. J. F. Gross and Harold N. Graves, jr., with an 84, won top honors in the mixed Scotch foursome at Indian Spring yesterday. Low net prize went to Miss Margaret Barnard and C. M. Whitman, who posted a 93—18—75.

Other winners:

Second low net—Mrs. J. W. Harvey, jr., and J. C. Taylor, 96—20—76. Tied for third low net—Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Wagner, 90—12—78; Mrs. R. C. Runbar and H. N. Graves, sr., 97—19—78; Mrs. W. A. Romer and C. H. Walker, 104—26—78, and Miss Martina Henderson and W. A. Romer, 104—26—78.

John R. Miller, District champion of champions, posted a 74-4—70 to tie D. E. Mattison, who had 82-12—70 for first flight honors in the handicap tournament at Beaver Dam yesterday.

Results in the other flights:

SECOND FLIGHT—D. R. Hutchinson, 83—15—68, tied E. L. Degner, 82—14—68.

THIRD FLIGHT—N. J. Waldron, 89—2—67, winner; Dr. Levine, 90—21—69, and E. S. Brashears, 94—25—69, tied for second.

FOURTH FLIGHT—R. Zuber, 102—27—75, tied A. C. Sullivan, 101—26—75.

UPSETS predominated in the midget division of the Capital City League yesterday. Montrose interrupted the winning streak of the Versis A. C. nine with a 5-to-3 triumph, and Washington Maid counted its first victory of the campaign, a 5-to-3 decision over Savoy. Corbett A. C. turned in another unexpected victory, a 6-to-5 win over the powerful Eastern A. C.

Canstonguay's three-hit hurling featured the Corbett's victory, although the bats of Carrol and Jacobs helped considerably. Stockslager pitched Montrose to its triumph, with Love leading the attack. Another hurler, Morris, was the star of the Washington Maid's victory.

Junior Chase Clinched by Goodacres

First Half's Honors Won by Defeating Dixie Products.

STANDING OF THE TEAMS.

Rinaldi	1	3	.250
Oxon Hill	1	3	.250

GOODACRE'S clinched the first half honors in the junior division of the Capital City League yesterday by defeating Dixie Products, 3-0, while their only contender for the title, Clarendon, was losing, 5-1, to Georgia Avenue Business Men. Oxon Hill forfeited to Rinaldi in the only other game scheduled.

Bill Bresnahan's double in the first inning, which scored two men, presented Goodacre's with a lead it never relinquished. Bieber held the Dixies to only five well-scattered hits. Roddy Bell hurled well for the losers, allowing seven safeties, but his support was very poor.

F five-run rally in the tenth inning, after Clarendon had tied the score with three runs in the eighth, accounted for the Georgia avenue team's victory. Reds Talburtt, who twirled the best part of the game for the winners, was obliged to leave during the fray, and the Virginians took advantage of his absence to knot the count.

Front Royal All-Stars Lose to Dixie Pigs, 5-1

Special to The Washington Post.

Front Royal, Va., June 18.—Failure to connect off Bob Lyon in the pinches here this afternoon cost the All-Stars a 5-to-1 defeat at the hands of the Dixie Pigs, of Washington, D. C. The visitors drove Weaver to the showers in the first frame. The lone Star tally came from Goodwin's circuit clout in the fourth.

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

715

THE BIDDING OF A GRAND SLAM.

MR. PAUL I. HOXWORTH, of Columbus, who is a member of the junior medical class of Ohio State University, writes me that in the class of which he is a member there are a number of men greatly interested in Contract Bridge who are enthusiastic followers of the Culbertson System. In fact, they have arranged a series of matches and the competition is very keen. The prospective ministerers to the physical ills of mankind are, of course, keen analysts—trained to draw accurate inferences from facts and from symptoms. One of the recent hands played in these competitions was the following:

South, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

North:
♠ K Q 9 8
♡ K
♣ A K J 9

West:
♠ J 10 6 2
◇ J 9
♣ Q 7 6 3 2

East:
♠ 7 5 4
♡ 10 6 5
◇ Q 7 5 4 2
♣ 10 5

South:
♠ A 3
♡ A Q J 9 8 4 2
◇ 10 6

The bidding was:

South	West	North	East
1♡	Pass	3♣	Pass
4♡	Pass	5◇	Pass
5♠	Pass	7♡	Pass
Pass	Pass

Mr. Hoxworth asks me to comment upon the bidding, observing that there is no question that the correct bid is a Grand Slam but that he is somewhat doubtful as to whether it was reached in the most logical way. In my judgment the correct bidding of the hand is as follows:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
1♡	Pass	2♠(1)	Pass
3♡(2)	Pass	4◇(3)	Pass
4♡(4)	Pass	4NT(5)	Pass
5NT(6)	Pass	7NT(7)	Pass
Pass	Pass

1—North's hand, containing 5 honor-tricks with the plus value of the heart King, the suit bid by his partner, is, of course, an obvious Forcing Takeout.

2—Showing rebid strength in hearts.

3—Further unfolding the distribution of the hand.

4—South has no other bid and the seven-card suit certainly justifies a second rebid.

5—Showing two Aces and the King of a bid suit. As a matter of fact, North has many surplus values.

6—The conventional response.

7—The decision to play this hand in notrump rather than hearts may, at first view, appear unreasonable. However, it is highly logical. South, after all, may not hold seven hearts, and thus if the hand is played at hearts, a trump loser may develop. At notrump, however, North, with the knowledge that South holds the spade Ace, has a number of plays for the Grand Slam which might not develop at a suit bid. Obviously North's hand, containing only a singleton heart, has no ruffing values if played at a trump suit. The decision to play in notriump also safeguards the hand against any possibility of the ruff of the Opening lead.

Of course, as the cards are actually distributed, it is entirely immaterial whether the hand is played in hearts or notrump; a Grand Slam, as Mr. Hoxworth pointed out, is made without a peek or a finesse. But this Grand Slam can not be safely reached without the use of Forcing Takeouts and the Four-Five Notrump Convention.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

If you were South and distrusted your partner, and if he opened the bidding with one diamond, how would you respond to that bid, and what should be the final contract?

North, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

North:
♡ Q 10 7 5 2
◇ A K Q J 7 3

South:
♠ A K Q 7 4 3
♡ A K 8 4 3

The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

THE MEANDERER

Sees Magic in Simple, Inexpensive Artwork Device; Visits Old Doll-and-China-Mending Shop.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Some of the prettiest rugs for summer cottages will be made this summer with a 50-cent device to be attached to the sewing machine. Rugs made on this device closely resemble hand-hooked rugs or the hand-made ovals so frequently used in colonial interiors in Washington and its vicinity. The cost of making the rugs with the machine is much less than that of the hand method, and the time consumed is far less. Many a rug can be made for less than 75 cents. The sewing machine attachment used for rug making is also useful in making any number of other articles for the home, or for making garments. Chair covers, footstools, table mats, pillow tops, bags, slippers, collars and cuffs, toy animals and afghans are possibilities. The attachment is simple to apply and easy to use. Those who visit the sewing machine shop where the Meanderer saw this tricky machine artwork being done, may be interested, too, in the remarkably low prices on sewing machines—lower, for some types of machine, than have ever previously been quoted.

Richly decorated china plates that were presented to the late President Woodrow Wilson by "Le Roi et la Reine des Belges" had some tragic breakage in their career, and in their shattered state were taken up three flights of worn steps near Ninth and G streets to a china and doll mending shop where for more than 25 years broken treasures have been made whole again to be further cherished by their owners. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson herself brought the broken plates and expressed her delight with their skillful mending by the deft fingers of the proprietor of the shop, a white-haired woman nearly 60 years old. Unless one turns the plates upside down to see how they were mended, the cracks in the plates and the rivets that were used to make them whole again are not discernible. One of the restored Belgian plates had been broken into seven pieces.

The late Miss Mary Lee, daughter of Gen. Robert E. Lee, frequented the shop. When she persuaded herself to part with many beautiful china treasures from the Lee home—including cups and saucers that had been in the family of Gen. Washington—she waited for a Democratic administration — that of President Wilson—to come into power before sharing the delicate possessions with the Nation. So it is that some of the china so neatly mended in this shop is now among that most highly prized at the White House. Plates of renowned Cincinnati china, a Lowestoft ware inscribed with the names of the thirteen original States, were among the dishes that were mended and placed in White House cupboards. Beautiful Minton china belonging to the wife of a grandson of the famous Union general has been neighbor to other famous china on the workshelves of this G street shop.

At least 80 years ago some little girl must have treasured a certain doll with a large, painted china head far more than many little girls of today treasure their dolls. For the head is breakable, of course, and only with care has it survived and passed through many pairs of loving hands. The proprietor of the mending shop is attaching it to an old cloth doll body that has been waiting in the shop for just the right head to rest on its shoulders. Doll lovers should see, in the same shop, a genuine French doll—a "Jumeau baby," as the proprietor lovingly calls it—that is being restored for the tiny hands of a baby in Alexandria. Jumeau dolls are said to be the finest French sort. The French doll has real hair, a beautiful face, a bisque body, and high-topped, buttoned French boots of real leather. It is reminiscent of the days when dolls were elaborately fragile. The mender of the dolls has surrendered to modernism enough, it seems regrettable to state, to attire this lady-like creature in shapeless play rompers.

Today Means

By MARY BLAKE

"GEMINI."

IF June 19 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:20 a. m. to 10:30 a. m., from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m. and from 8 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 12 noon to 1:15 p. m. and from 10:15 p. m. to 11:30 p. m.

The child born on this June 19 will be a spirited little one, quick to "fly off the handle" when an injustice is done him. Both the boys and girls will be athletically inclined and you will find them taking a leading part in all physical activities at school and in the neighborhood. They are good sports and get along well with other people.

If June 19 is the date of your birth you probably have a good business head. You will make money at most anything you turn to in a business way, for you are quick to spot a public demand and equally quick to find the supply to meet it. It is possible that you are of an inventive turn of mind.

Born on June 19, it is possible that you are not in the best of health. If this is the case, the chances are nine out of ten that you pamper and pet yourself too much. You fear drafts, certain foods, and you fear sickness; consequently you are ever on the lookout for, and often find, some petty ailment to fuss about. Loyalty, honesty, sincerity, kindness are among your good qualities. Your outlook on life and people is wholesome and well-meaning; your thoughts of yourself might be more healthy.

Successful people born on June 19:
Joseph E. Sheffield, merchant.
William Henry Webb, shipbuilder.
Charles L. Brace, philanthropist.

FIVE GERMAN STUDY AWARDS ANNOUNCED

Oberlaender Trust Allows Americans to Pursue Research Work.

Philadelphia, June 18 (A.P.).—The Oberlaender Trust of the Carl Schurz Memorial Foundation today announced five recipients of grants and awards who will sail this summer for studies in Germany.

Harvey E. Newbranch, editor of the Omaha World-Herald, will spend two months in Germany, the announcement said. He plans to pay particular attention to agricultural conditions, as well as to social, economic and political questions.

Dr. Thomas H. Dickinson, formerly professor of dramatic literature at the University of Wisconsin and recently active as writer and editor of books on the theater, will devote more than a year to collecting material for a volume on the theater in Germany since 1892.

Dr. W. W. Peter, lecturer on public health and formerly a director of the Health Service, Cleanliness Institute, New York, will devote six months to studying the public health movement in Germany.

Miss Elizabeth Burchenal, chairman of the United States Section, International Commission on Folk Arts, of the League of Nations, plans to make a collection of German folk dances and music.

Prof. Horace L. Friess, Columbia University, will spend six weeks abroad to complete a book on modern German philosophy.

The trust, created by the late Gustav Oberlaender, of Reading, Pa., seeks to enable Americans active in public work to be of greater service by making the benefits of progress in Germany and Austria available to the American people.

ChicagoBuilding Permits Increase 18.4 Per Cent

Chicago, June 18 (A.P.).—The division of statistics and research of the State department of labor today said that building permits in Illinois during May increased 18.4 per cent in the number of projects and 12.5 per cent in estimated valuation, compared with April. There were 1,353 permits, with a valuation of about $1,012,309. It was the first month since October that the estimated valuations passed $1,000,000.

A MIRACLE of modern housemoving was performed in Toledo recently when an entire business block was moved as a single unit—all without disconnecting or interrupting the electric, gas or water facilities in any of the buildings.

The block includes fourteen business houses built of brick and stone. The entire section was moved back 15 feet to permit the widening of a street. All of the firms located in the fourteen buildings continued "business as usual" even as the block was moved. It took twelve hours for the entire operation, and there was no more vibration during the actual moving than would result from the passing of a heavy truck on the street.

Before the actual moving, which was under the direction of E. W. LaPlante, several weeks of preparation were necessary. Excavations were made under the buildings and a level concrete base was laid as a track for the rollers. Then the walls of the buildings were bridged with steel rails and the entire block was loaded on rollers and pushed back 15 feet.

Taking 12 hours for the 15-foot movement, the buildings traveled a rate equal approximately to that of the tip of the minute hand on a clock that is five inches across the face.

Colors give added realism to strange things and happenings illustrated by John Hix on a full page in The Sunday Post.

PATROLMAN KILLED IN HEAD-ON CRASH NEAR DARNESTOWN

Nine Persons Are Injured in Series of Accidents en Route to Hospital.

Patrolman Webb Hersperger, 30 years old, of the Montgomery County police, was killed instantly yesterday when his motorcycle crashed head-on into an automobile while he was on his way to Rockville headquarters.

The policeman was headed toward Rockville, on the Poolsville road, between Darnestown and Quince Orchard, and crashed into an automobile operated by an acquaintance, William B. Floyd, 32 years old, of Rockville.

Hersperger was catapulted over the handlebars and thrown through the windshield of Floyd's car. The driver of the automobile received cuts about the face and arms. He was treated at Sandy Spring Hospital.

Taken to Hospital.

Floyd was then taken to the Rockville substation where he is being held on a charge of manslaughter and reckless driving.

Hersperger lived at Poolesville. He is survived by his wife and an infant son, Webb, jr. His father and two sisters also survive him.

One thing led to another early yesterday, and the result was that nine persons arrived at Georgetown Hospital to be treated for injuries received in a rapid series of automobile accidents.

It all began near Falls Church, Va., when the car of Emmett Anderson, Alexandria, Va., ran from the road and overturned. Crawling from the wreckage, he hailed a passing machine driven by Thomas Fillingame, 3102 M street northwest, and asked to be taken to the hospital.

Hits Another Car.

Starting to the hospital with the injured man, Fillingame picked up an Arlington County, Va., motorcycle policeman, who led the way. They had not gone far, however, when Fillingame's car careened into another automobile on the Lee highway, driven by Miss Marie Higdon, of Clarendon, Va.

Fillingame, his wife, Bessie, and their two children, Alma, 13, and Robert, 16, and a friend, Miss Margaret Wilson, were added to the casualty list, along with Miss Higdon, and her sister, Helen Higdon.

About this time a machine driven by Louis Bodner, of Ashburn, Va., hove into sight. He put all the injured in his car and again the hospital trip was begun.

All went well—until the ambulance car reached Thirty-fourth street and Prospect avenue northwest. Another machine suddenly appeared. The two collided. When police arrived the first machine had disappeared. Bodner was found to be hurt. Finally all reached the hospital.

Anderson, the first injured, suffered a fractured skull. Bodner was admitted to the hospital with a possible spinal fracture. The others suffered severe lacerations and bruises.

Activity Awards At Picnic Planned

Prizes for meritorious service will be awarded choir and sanctuary boys of the Immaculate Conception Church at the annual outing of the church at Seaside Park, Chesapeake Beach, Wednesday.

A complete program of games and athletic contests has been arranged for the boys by Brother Lewis, who is in charge of the outing. The athletic contests will include foot races, potato races, three-legged contests and swimming in the Seaside pool.

The Lutheran Ministers Association of Maryland is holding a picnic at the beach today, and tomorrow the Baptist Home for Children, of Bethesda, will be the guests of the park. Members of the Second Baptist Church and St. Paul's Episcopal Church, of Prince Frederick, will visit Seaside Park on Thursday.

Woman Is Overcome By Gas in Apartment

Mrs. Beatrice Morti, 31, of 1017 K street northwest, was found unconscious by R. W. Glenn, of 1025 Eighth street, and May Woods, of 1317 K street, when they entered her apartment through a window via a fire escape yesterday morning.

Mrs. Morti, overcome by gas escaping from three burners in a kitchen range, was taken to Emergency hospital, where her condition is said to be undetermined.

Apartment Rifled of Valuables.

Miss Elizabeth Stewart yesterday reported to police that intruders forced entrance to her apartment in the Clifton Terrace Apartments, Thirteenth and Clifton streets northwest, and escaped with $9 in cash and valuable papers.

4-H DELEGATES PAY RESPECTS AT TOMB

Farm Youths, Camped Here, Place Wreaths Honoring Unknown Soldier.

Homage of the farm youth of the Nation yesterday was paid at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier when approximately 150 delegates to the national 4-H Club encampment here visited the sepulcher in Arlington National Cemetery.

Wreaths were laid upon the tomb by Allen Holmes, a youth from New Hampshire, symbolizing the respect of the farm youth of the Eastern half of the Nation, and by Miss Jeanette Mikkelson, a Washington State girl, for the Western half of the country.

The 4-H delegates then heard an inspiratory address in the amphitheater adjacent to the tomb, delivered by Dr. C. B. Smith, of the office of cooperative extension work of the Department of Agriculture.

Earlier the group had visited the Agriculture Department Experimental Farm at Arlington and absorbed valuable lessons from the work being done there by governmental scientists. In the morning the 4-H delegates attended various church services. A small group went to Alexandria for services at historic Christ Church.

Last night the campers heard an address by the Rev. C. C. Rasmussen, pastor of the Luther Place Memorial Church. Dr. Rasmussen took as his subject "The Richer Way," and outlined to the youth the greater possibilities in life to be attained from things spiritual, as opposed to the material aspect.

Today will be the fifth day of the encampment which ends Wednesday. Included in the morning's activities are tours of the Natural History Museum and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, climaxed by a tour of the White House.

United Jewish Workers To Hold Final Meeting

The last meeting of volunteer workers in the united Jewish campaign will be held tonight at the Jewish Community Center. Final reports on funds collected during the last few weeks will be read.

Although the drive officially closed June 1, drive Chairmen Isidore Hershfield and Edmund I. Kaufmann have been continuing their efforts to augment the $11,000 on hand at that time. The money raised will be devoted to the relief of Eastern European and German Jews and for Palestine reconstruction.

City Bathing Pool Will Open Today

The Municipal Pool at Seventeenth and B streets northwest will open today at 10 a. m. for the season. Max Rote, George Washington University and District champion swimmer, has been appointed chief guard.

The pool will be operated six days a week from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. until June 30, when the hours will be extended from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Girls' days have been set for Monday, Wednesday and Friday, while boys have Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Mixed swimming will be permitted every day from 4 to 6 p. m.

Affirmative Wins Philippine Debate

The affirmative was declared winner in a debate last night by the Visayan Circle, Inc., at the Y. M. C. A., on the question of whether the Philippine independence act should be accepted by the Filipino people.

Members of the affirmative were Frederic Cluz and N. Iccarangal, while E. Bolonan and N. P. Donesa represented the negative. Emanuel Argel, secretary of the circle, was chairman.

The debate featured a program in commemoration of the birthday anniversary of Dr. Jose Rizal, Filipino hero.

A lawn fete, under auspices of Capital Lodge, No. 3, Shepherds of Bethlehem, will open tonight at 7:30 on grounds at Tenth and Franklin streets northeast. A committee, headed by Mrs. Emma V. Delaney, will be in charge of the affair, which will continue through June 24.

NOLAN MOTOR BUYS BANK STOCK BLOCK

Less Than $100,000 Yet to Be Subscribed Before New Institution Opens.

The Nolan Motor Co. has subscribed to $5,000 worth of the new Hamilton National Bank stock in order to assist in the release of $10,000,000, which will flow into commercial channels of the metropolitan area when the new bank is opened.

Less than $100,000 worth of new stock has yet to be subscribed before the new institution may open its doors. Hopeful that the new bank will begin operations in early July, the general subscription committee for the proposed bank will begin an intensive campaign this week to secure the remainder of the necessary $1,250,000 stock purchase.

When the required amount has been subscribed the bank will be opened and 50 per cent of the deposits of the seven restricted banks which will compose the new institution will be released. The amounts of the deposits which would then flow into local trade channels would amount to $10,000,000.

Unidentified Man Breaks Girl's Jaw

Struck in the face and knocked down at the doorway of her home by one of three unidentified men who attempted to force entrance early yesterday, Miss Olive Simmers, 29, of 1226 Seventeenth street northwest, suffered a compound fracture of the jaw.

Miss Simmers told police she answered a knock at her door shortly before 6 a. m. Three men confronted her, she said, and when she opened the door they tried to push past her and into the house.

Crying for help, Miss Simmers told police she attempted to struggle, but one of the men grabbed her, held her at arm's length and struck her in the mouth. As she slumped to the floor, the trio fled to a waiting automobile and sped away. Neighbors discovered Miss Simmers lying semiconscious and hurried her to Emergency Hospital. Physicians said the blow fractured her lower jaw in two places.

Child Run Down by Car May Have Leg Fracture

Struck and knocked down by an automobile as she attempted to cross at Fourteenth and Quincy streets northwest, Harriet Schwartz, 4 years old, of 1327 Quincy street northwest, suffered a possible fracture of the left leg yesterday afternoon. She was treated by a private physician.

Police said the machine which struck the child was driven by Edward P. McGinn, 24, of 3218 Park place northwest. He was not held.

Price of Gasoline Goes Up Half Cent

Gasoline prices generally took a one-half cent rise last night. All of the major distributors ordered the boost.

The rise, taking effect at midnight last night, effected a 1 cent increase in gasoline prices in three days.

On Saturday the national recovery law signed by the President became effective. To finance this legislation there was provided a one-half cent increase in the gasoline tax. The one-half cent rise last night is general over the country, it was learned.

DRY ADVOCATES GET BLAME FOR REPEAL VICTORY SENTIMENT

Prohibitionists Have Admitted Defeat, Prof. Longacre Tells Adventists.

Dry advocates were held largely responsible for the decisive swing to repeal of the eighteenth amendment at a temperance rally yesterday at Takoma Park.

Speaking before a large audience at a meeting of the Potomac Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists, Prof. C. S. Longacre, secretary of the American Temperance Society charged the drys with "laying down on their job as defeatists."

"If they would arouse themselves out of their lethargy and make a canvass of their communities and inform the public of the real facts concerning the benefits of prohibition they could do marvelous work," Prof. Longacre said.

Although politics and patronage dominate the prohibition question, it can only be settled on a basis of peoples' rights, the militant dry declared.

Says Tax Inadequate.

"The issue will never be settled until it is settled on the basis of the protection of men, women and children in the enjoyment of their fundamental rights and the welfare and safety of society," he said.

Speaking of the possible revenue derived from a liquor tax, Prof. Longacre prophesied it will take five times the amount of its revenue to compensate the havoc it will return.

Prof. Longacre attacked the high rate of beer tax, declaring it provides opportunity for speakeasies to operate unmolested.

He blamed the return of beer for "increased drunkenness" throughout the country. "Whether we have prohibition or not, liquor violations are increasing, as evidenced by the fact that in one California county alone arrests for drunkenness have increased over 400 per cent in the last 40 days."

Warns Americans of Results.

"Let Americans take warning from the sad experience of the nations which sacrificed principle for the sake of gold derived through liquor lust. A nation that capitalizes lust for the sake of revenue is bound to fall."

The prohibition address was followed by a talk by Fred C. Gilbert, one of the field secretaries of the general conference of the Seventh-day Adventists. His subject was "The Bible's Forecast of the Future."

"With Jehovah there is no measuring of time, no counting of yesterdays and computing of tomorrows," he said.

"If man wants correct information he must go to God, who is the original source, and there he will find it," Mr. Gilbert told his audience.

The conference will be held afternoons and evenings throughout the week. It will be concluded Sunday night.

Child Injured in Fall Is Reported Recovering

The condition of Cecil Mason, 2-year-old son of Mrs. Emma M. Mason, of 233 Sixth street southwest, seriously injured Saturday when he fell from a second story window at his home was reported improved last night at Children's Hospital.

The boy received a broken leg, a fractured hip and possible internal injuries when a window screen gave way, tumbling him to the soft ground.

GLEN ECHO PARK

That Washingtonians spend their week-ends where there is most variety for the money is evidenced by the crowds attending Glenn Echo Park over Saturday and Sunday, where mid-June activity is at its height.

The Crystal Pool is one of the prime favorites right now, and catered to thousands of water lovers over Saturday and Sunday. No less popular is the beautiful ballroom. Saturday night's crowds were in a highly good humor, and seemed to enjoy the music of MacWilliams and his orchestra more than ever before.

Yesterday was notable for the large attendance of family picnic parties, the groves and shady nooks being well filled with those who joined in the fun and frolic made possible all over the 40-acre amusement resort by the numerous thrillers, such as the roller coaster, airplane swings, dodgem rides, midway, &c.

SOUTHWEST ANNUAL FROLIC ENTERTAINERS

The annual dance and frolic, sponsored by the Southwest Citizens Association, was attended by more than 200 residents of the Southwest section in the Neighborhood House, 470 N street southwest, Friday night. Entertainment was supplied by local talent. Jean Bishop (center), local radio singer, with William Leisher, accompanist, featured the program.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

THE experience of a large number of screen players who have achieved eminence since the coming of sound may demonstrate the efficacy of regulated endeavor, but the case of Elissa Landi, now visible in "I Loved You Wednesday," at Loew's Fox, in particular directs attention again to the fact that celluloid stardom is still more or less a matter of accident.

ELISSA LANDI.

In the old silent days it was notorious that a star could happen over night. With the coming of sound, however, it was believed that the requirements of stardom had become so clarified, and involved so many more capabilities than had ever formerly been considered necessary, that the appraisal of potential stellar material reduced itself almost automatically to a matter of mathematical certainty. Subsequent events have proved that not at all to have been the case.

The case of Miss Landi offers a convenient example and there are many more. Only in her last two pictures has Miss Landi made any appreciable impression upon the consciousness of the mass of picturegoers. In "The Warrior's Husband," and "I Loved You Wednesday" she has betrayed a warmth, an ebullience and a normal and natural humanness that had never previously revealed themselves.

Someone evidently perceived that Miss Landi, for all of her aristocratic lineage, literary attainments and social glamor, need not eternally be quite so aloof and Icelandic as she had always appeared to be in her performances before the cameras. Whoever it was, thawed her out and started her going places, cinematically speaking.

The same thing, in slightly different form, happened even to our own Helen Hayes. A few years ago when she visited the West Coast in a stage play, not a single studio paid her the slightest heed. Purely on speculation, months later, she was cast for the steller role in "The Sin of Madelon Claudet," but that picture in its original form, when it was known as "Broken Lullaby," was so faulty that it was almost wholly remade before it was released. By one of those odd quirks, it caught on so emphatically that it won Miss Hayes the Academy award for the best screen acting of its season and launched her securely on her way to her present place on the heights.

And take Lee Tracy—or don't take him, however you feel about it. At any rate, Tracy made two pictures some time back that never caused a ripple. But when Jimmy Cagney decided to have his salary battle with Warner Brothers and took himself off the lot and Lee was rushed into the Cagney part in "Blessed Event," which was about to go into production, his future was unequivocally made by the lucky break.

Sylvia Sidney is another who failed to click in the first mad rush of the talkies. Then she was recalled to Hollywood just in time to be dropped into Clara Bow's prospective role in "City Streets" and that was the turning point.

Miriam Hopkins, likewise, was in one dismal flop before Ernest Lubitsch insisted upon having her for "The Smiling Lieutenant," with Maurice Chevalier and Claudette Colbert. And she has been up there ever since.

The motion picture, thus, remains one of the most romantic and exciting of the arts. Many a star, apparently, has nothing to thank but his lucky star that he is one!

Who will be next?

Col. William Harryman Rapley, owner of the National and dean of the theater in Washington, having rounded up the last detail pertaining to the closing of the Capital's only active legitimate playhouse for the summer months, today is folding his tent, like the Arab, preparatory to stealing silently away to his summer home at Lake Spofford, New Hampshire.

More of Washington's amusement than a great many people realize is bound up in the career of Harry Rapley. Not so many years ago he was a majority owner of the "Senators," as the "Nationals" were then known in the American League. He also was the owner of the old Academy of Music property—and still is—more familiarly known to the present generation as The Strand, at the corner of Ninth and D streets. In the old days, the Academy was the home of the ten-twenty-thirty brand of drama on which Al Woods, Owen Davis, Theodore Kremer, Harry Clay Blaney, Rose Melville and a host of others were nourished and grew fat.

Like the astute showman that he is, Col. Rapley, upon pulling a Congress on us and departing these placid Potomac shores for cooler ones to the north, confided that he had only one thing to confide and that was that, come late September or early October, the National would reopen and, in perpetuation of its custom through the generations from his father's time to the present, would present the best in plays and musical offerings next season.

It has never been the practice of William Harryman Rapley, owner of the National and dean of the theater in Washington, to announce in early summer a long list of definite titles to be presented beginning late in the fall. There are too many slips 'twixt the cup and the lip, and how well he knows it!

The Capital is well aware, nevertheless, that when the time comes Harry Rapley will be on hand to purvey for its entertainment and enjoyment the best that is to be had in the way of theatrical diversion, whether it originates in this country or abroad.

In the meantime, it wishes him and Mrs. Rapley a happy and restful summer, free from anxiety, oppressive heat, poison ivy and mosquitoes!

Katharine Cornell, pretty generally recognized as America's first woman of the theater, over the week-end announced that her plans for next season are threefold, according to detailed advice from her erudite stentor, Mr. Ray Henderson, who seems, from his postmark, to have flitted from the Harris Theater in Chicago back to the Belasco Theater in New York.

Miss Cornell, then, will make her first appearance in a Shakespearean role; she will take her first step toward establishing a repertory company—after the fashion of Mrs. Fiske's Manhattan Company, that developed such sterling artists as Bruce McRea, Fuller Mellish, George Arliss and numerous others—and she will make a coast-to-coast tour, primarily to visit cities in which she has never heretofore been seen.

"Romeo and Juliet" has been selected by Miss Cornell for her debut in Shakespeare. This tragedy, the first Shakespearean play in which its star ever will have appeared, will be staged with great simplicity, stress being placed upon the play rather than upon the paraphernalia.

The repertory idea will embrace three plays of the first rank—"Romeo and Juliet," George Bernard Shaw's "Candida" and Rudolf Besier's "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." Miss Cornell has never been seen as Candida outside of New York. Shaw has held this drama for her use in America.

According to present plans, she will open her season late in November, on tour, and then travel to the Pacific Coast, visiting a number of one-night stands. She will not be seen again in New York until next spring.

Guthrie McClintic, who has staged all of the plays in which Miss Cornell has appeared since "The Green Hat," will direct his wife's repertory program.

Orangelo Ratto, manager of Loew's Palace Theater, "Angie" to you, left Washington last Friday afternoon, high-powered coupe, piano accordion and all, for a well-earned vacation. During his absence "Bill" Fisher, manager of the Columbia, is sharing managerial duties at the Palace with Assistant Manager Barlup—a pleasant time being had by all.

Although the contest was conducted in conjunction with the premiere week of "College Humor" at the Palace, the selection of Bing Crosby's vocal double will be left to the discriminating judgment of the audience attending the last performance at Loew's Fox Theater tomorrow night.

Ted Church, of WJSV; Eddie Corcoran, of Paramount, and Lou Brown, of the Loew forces, the judges of the contest, narrowed the choice down to three aspirants from among whom the public will be permitted to pick the winner of a $25 cash prize and a chance for time on the air over WJSV.

The choice rests among Bill Brady, of Sligo Park Hills, Md.; Bill Cuff, of 607 New Jersey avenue northwest, and Lou Cates, of Alexandria, Va.

Richard Halliburton, who appears in and supplies the running comment for "India Speaks," current at RKO-Keith's, being in town, attended the first performance Friday morning and was greatly annoyed because an explanatory title failed to appear on the Washington print of the picture to the effect that certain sequences had been filmed in Hollywood. Why carry coals to Newcastle?

Harking back no farther than yesterday, Mr. Lowell was right, "Then, if ever, come perfect days!"

Wednesday, in case you had forgotten, will be the longest one of the year, although today, being the day before pay day, seems the longest!

MILK PRICE INQUIRY PARLEY IS SET TODAY BY CHAIRMAN KING

Agriculture Aids to Attend Meeting; McCarran May Be on Committee.

The method of procedure in the pending inquiry into milk prices in the District will be discussed at a conference this afternoon called by Senator William H. King, chairman of the Senate District Committee, which will be attended by representatives of the Department of Agriculture.

The successor to Senator Royal S. Copeland, of New York, who resigned from the subcommittee which will conduct the investigation because of the press of business, will probably be named today. It was indicated last night that Senator McCarran (Democrat), of Nevada, will be the new member of the committee.

Senator King, who sponsored the Senate resolution which authorized the investigation, is anxious to have in attendance at the conference Charles J. Brand, coadministrator of the agriculture adjustment act. Ellwood H. Seal, special counsel to the subcommittee, will also attend.

The conference today will be devoted to a discussion of the factors which enter into the inquiry, together with a mobilization of the information received relative to the inquiry. The conference will decide what tangents of the milk question will be pursued.

The aim of the inquiry is to determine whether local retail prices for milk and other dairy products are exorbitant and whether there is a monopoly in control of Washington milk distribution.

Robbers Get Beer and Meat.

Henry M. Kunald, proprietor of a meat market at 7742 Georgia avenue northwest, told police that his establishment was broken into some time early yesterday and four cases of beer and a quantity of meat was stolen. The loss was valued at $28, he said.
